MOTION - Adjournment

Mr. Ashford moved to adjourn until Tuesday, March 3, 1992. The motion lost with 3 ayes, 24 nays, 16 present and not voting, and 6 excused and not voting.

GENERAL FILE

LEGISLATIVE BILL 1120. The Schellpeper pending amendment, AM3171, to the Ashford pending amendment, FA279, was renewed.

Mr. Withem requested a division of the question on the Schellpeper amendment.

The Chair sustained the division of the question.

The first Schellpeper amendment, to the Ashford pending amendment, is as follows:

FA286

(Amendments to AM3109)

1. Strike section 206 and insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 184. That section 77-2708, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

77-2708. (1)(a) The sales and use taxes imposed by the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 shall be due and payable to the Tax Commissioner monthly on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month next succeeding each monthly period unless otherwise provided pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967.

(b)(i) On or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following each monthly period or such other period as the Tax Commissioner may require, a return for such period, along with all taxes due, shall be filed with the Tax Commissioner in such form and content as the Tax Commissioner may prescribe and containing such information as the Tax Commissioner deems necessary for the proper administration of the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967. The Tax Commissioner, if he or she deems it necessary in order to insure payment to or facilitate the collection by the state of the amount of sales or use taxes due, may require returns and payment of the amount of such taxes for periods other than monthly periods in the case of a particular seller, retailer, or purchaser, as the case may be. The Tax Commissioner shall by rule and regulation require reports and tax payments from sellers, retailers, or purchasers depending on their yearly tax liability. Annual returns shall be required if such sellers', retailers', or purchasers' yearly tax liability is less than nine hundred dollars, quarterly returns shall be required if their yearly tax liability is nine hundred dollars or more and less than twelve hundred dollars, and monthly returns shall be required if their yearly tax liability is twelve hundred dollars or more. The Tax Commissioner shall have the discretion to allow an annual return for seasonal retailers, even when their yearly tax liability exceeds the amounts listed in this subdivision.

The Tax Commissioner may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to allow annual, semiannual, or quarterly returns for any retailer making monthly remittances or payments of sales and use taxes by electronic funds transfer. Such rules and regulations may establish a method of determining the amount of the payment that will result in substantially all of the tax liability being paid each quarter. At least once each year, the difference between the amount paid and the amount due shall be reconciled. If the difference is more than ten percent of the amount paid, a penalty of fifty percent of the unpaid amount shall be imposed.

(ii) For purposes of the sales tax, a return shall be filed by every retailer liable for collection from a purchaser and payment to the state of the tax, except that a combined sales tax return may be filed for all licensed locations which are subject to common ownership. For the purposes of this subdivision, common ownership shall mean the same person or persons own eighty percent or more of each licensed location. For purposes of the use tax, a return shall be filed by every retailer engaged in business in this state and by every person who has purchased personal property, the storage, use, or other consumption of which is subject to the use tax, but who has not paid the use tax due to a retailer required to collect the tax.

(iii) Returns shall be signed by the person required to file the return or by his or her duly authorized agent but need not be verified by oath.

(iv) A taxpayer who keeps his or her regular books and records on a cash basis, an accrual basis, or any generally recognized accounting basis which correctly reflects the operation of the business may file the sales and use tax returns required by the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 on the same accounting basis that is used for the regular books and records, except that on credit, conditional, and installment sales the retailer who keeps his or her books on an accrual basis may report such sales on the cash basis and pay the tax upon the collections made during each month. If a taxpayer transfers, sells, assigns, or otherwise disposes of an account receivable, he or she shall be deemed to have received the full balance of the consideration for the original sale and shall be liable for the remittance of the sales tax on the balance of the total sale price not previously reported, except that such transfer, sale, assignment, or other disposition of an account receivable by a retailer to a subsidiary shall not be deemed to require the retailer to pay the sales tax on the credit sale represented by the account transferred prior to the time the customer makes payment on such account. If the subsidiary does not obtain a Nebraska sales tax permit, the taxpayer shall obtain a surety bond in favor of the State of Nebraska to insure payment of the tax and any interest and penalty imposed thereon under this section in an amount not less than two times the amount of tax payable on outstanding accounts receivable held by the subsidiary as of the end of the prior calendar year. Failure to obtain either a sales tax permit or a surety bond in accordance with this section shall result in the payment on the next required filing date of all sales taxes not previously remitted. When the retailer has adopted one basis or the other of reporting credit, conditional, or installment sales and paying the tax thereon, he or she will not be permitted to change from that basis without first having notified the Tax Commissioner.

(c) The taxpayer required to file the return shall deliver or mail any required return together with a remittance of the net amount of the tax due to the office of the Tax Commissioner on or before the required filing date. Failure to file the return, filing after the required filing date, failure to remit the net amount of the tax due, or remitting the net amount of the tax due after the required filing date shall be cause for a penalty of forfeiture of the collection fee allowed pursuant to subdivision (d) of this subsection or five dollars, whichever is greater.

(d) The taxpayer shall deduct and withhold, from the taxes otherwise due from him or her on his or her tax return, ~~three percent of the first five thousand dollars remitted each month and one percent of all amounts in excess of five thousand dollars remitted each month to reimburse himself or herself for the cost of collecting the tax, except that for each month from October 1, 1991, to September 30, 1992, the taxpayer shall deduct and withhold, from the taxes otherwise due~~

~~from him or her on his or her tax return,~~ one and one-half percent of the first one thousand dollars remitted each month and one-half percent of all amounts in excess of one thousand dollars remitted each month to reimburse himself or herself for the cost of collecting the tax. Taxpayers filing a combined return as allowed by subdivision (1)(b)(ii) of this subsection shall compute such collection fees on the basis of the receipts and liability of each licensed location.

(2)(a) If the Tax Commissioner determines that any sales or use tax amount, penalty, or interest has been paid more than once, has been erroneously or illegally collected or computed, or was paid on a purchase made before May 29, 1987, which purchase qualified for a refund under section 77-27,186 at the time of purchase, the Tax Commissioner shall set forth that fact in his or her records and the excess amount collected or paid may be credited on any sales, use, or income tax amounts then due and payable from the person under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967. Any balance may be refunded to the person by whom it was paid or his or her successors, administrators, or executors.

(b) No refund shall be allowed unless a claim therefor is filed with the Tax Commissioner by the person who made the overpayment or his or her attorney, assignee, executor, or administrator within three years from the required filing date following the close of the period for which the overpayment was made, within six months after any determination becomes final under section 77-2709, or within six months from the date of overpayment with respect to such determinations, whichever of these three periods expires the later, unless the credit relates to a period for which a waiver has been given. Failure to file a claim within the time prescribed in this subsection shall constitute a waiver of any demand against the state on account of overpayment.

(c) Every claim shall be in writing on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner and shall state the specific amount and grounds upon which the claim is founded. No refund shall be made in any amount less than two dollars.

(d) The Tax Commissioner shall allow or disallow a claim within one hundred eighty days after it has been filed. If the Tax Commissioner has neither allowed nor disallowed a claim within such one hundred eighty days, the claim shall be deemed to have been allowed.

(e) Within thirty days after disallowing any claim in whole or in part, the Tax Commissioner shall serve notice of his or her action on the claimant in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination.

(f) Within thirty days after the mailing of the notice of the Tax Commissioner's action upon a claim filed pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, the action of the Tax Commissioner shall be final unless the taxpayer seeks review of the Tax Commissioner's determination as provided in section 77-27,127.

(g) Upon the allowance of a credit or refund of any sum erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, of any penalty collected without authority, or of any sum which was excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount of such credit or refund at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, from the date such sum was paid or from the date the return was required to be filed, whichever date is later, to the date of the allowance of the refund or, in the case of a credit, to the due date of the amount against which the credit is allowed, but in the case of a voluntary and unrequested payment in excess of actual tax liability or a refund under section 77-27,186, no interest shall be allowed when such excess is refunded or credited.

(h) No suit or proceeding shall be maintained in any court for the recovery of any amount alleged to have been erroneously or illegally determined or collected unless a claim for refund or credit has been duly filed.

(i) The Tax Commissioner may recover any refund or part thereof which is erroneously made and any credit or part thereof which is erroneously allowed in an action brought within one year from the date of refund or credit in the name of the state in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which the taxpayer involved is located.

(j) The action shall be tried in the county in which the taxpayer involved is a resident unless the court orders a change of place of trial.

(k) The Attorney General shall prosecute the action provided for in subdivision (i) of this subsection, and the provisions of state law and the rules of civil procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proof, trials, and appeals shall be applicable to the proceedings.

(l) Credit shall be allowed to the retailer, contractor, or repairperson for sales or use taxes paid pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 on: (i) Sales represented by that portion of an account determined to be worthless and actually charged off for federal income tax purposes. If such accounts are thereafter collected by the retailer, contractor, or repairperson, a tax shall be paid upon the amount so collected; or (ii) the portion of the purchase price remaining unpaid at the time of a repossession made under the terms of a conditional sales contract.

Sec. 207. Sections 107 to 109, 113 to 115, 117, 121, 129 to 133, 135 to 175, 193, and 209 of this act shall become operative on January 1, 1993. Sections 1, 6 to 13, 17, 18, 20 to 33, 35 to 106, 110 to 112, 116, 118 to 120, 122 to 128, 185, 197, 198, 203, 204, and 210 of this act shall become operative on January 1, 1992. Sections 176 to 184 and 212 of this act shall become operative October 1, 1992. The other sections of this act shall become operative on their effective date.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINIONS

Opinion No. 92033

DATE:	February 28, 1992
SUBJECT:	Exemption from Property Tax of Household Goods and Intangible Property.
REQUESTED BY:	Senator George Coordsen Nebraska State Legislature
WRITTEN BY:	Don Stenberg, Attorney General L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion as to whether, if LR 219CA is not placed before the voters and passed by the electorate, personal property in the nature of household goods and intangible property must be subjected to property tax. For the reasons outlined below, we believe that, irrespective of whether LR 219CA is adopted, such personal property may remain exempt from property taxation under existing constitutional provisions.

In 1964, article VIII, § 1, of the Nebraska Constitution, was amended to include the following language: "Taxes, uniform as to class of property or the ownership or use thereof may be levied by valuation or otherwise upon classes of intangible property as the Legislature may determine. . . ." (Emphasis added).

In a previous opinion, this office concluded that the history surrounding the adoption of this amendment demonstrated that the Legislature "could. . . adopt an income tax and then repeal the present statutes which provide for an ad valorem tax on intangibles." Report of Attorney General 1967-68, Opinion No. 13, 21-22. The Legislature, of course, adopted the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, providing for an income tax, and, consistent with our opinion, repealed the statutory provisions establishing an ad valorem tax on intangibles. See 1967 Neb. Laws, LB 144. LR 219CA does not propose to alter this particular provision of article VIII, § 1, and we see no reason to deviate from our prior opinion regarding the validity of the Legislature's action consistent with the 1964 amendment.

Furthermore, we point out that the recent Nebraska Supreme Court decisions addressing the constitutionality of the present framework relating to property taxation, including MAPCO Ammonia Pipeline, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equal., 238 Neb. 565, 471 N.W.2d 734 (1991) {"MAPCO"}, have focused on the "uniformity clause" of Neb. Const. art. VIII, § 1, which provides that "{t}axes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property. . . ." (Emphasis added). Thus, to the extent your question is prompted by concern as to the implications of the court's recent decisions addressing the uniformity clause of article VIII, § 1, with respect to the taxation of intangibles, this portion of the Constitution is clearly inapplicable, as it pertains only to the taxation of tangible property.

With respect to your second question, pertaining to the validity of the exemption of household goods, Neb. Const. art. VIII, § 2, presently provides: "Household goods and personal effects, as defined by law, may be exempted from taxation in whole or in part, as may be provided by general law, . . ." LR 219CA, as proposed, would generally retain this same constitutional language.

Based on our reading of the court's recent decisions addressing the validity of personal property tax exemptions, we do not believe that the exemption of household goods from property taxation is impermissible under current Nebraska constitutional provisions. In MAPCO, the court noted that "household goods and certain property owned by non-profit religious, charitable, horticultural or cemetery organizations is exempt from taxation." 238 Neb. at 584, 471 N.W.2d at 746. The court further stated that "{t}he validity of these exemptions has not been challenged in this court and, to our knowledge, has not been challenged in federal court." Id. The court continued by noting that specific exemptions for agricultural income-producing machinery and equipment, business inventories, and agricultural products and inventories, exempted under § 77-202(6)-(9), had been found to violate § 306(1)(d) of the federal 4-R Act as resulting in discriminatory taxation of railroad rolling stock in Trailer Train Co. v. Leuenberger, 885 F.2d 415 (8th Cir. 1988), cert. denied sub nom Boehm v. Trailer Train Co., 490 U.S. 1066 (1989), and concluded by holding "the property tax exemptions enumerated in § 77-202(6)-(9). . . unconstitutional under Neb. Const. art. VIII, § 1, in that they prevent the levy of taxes 'by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises.'" 238 Neb. at 584-85, 471 N.W.2d at 746-47.

To the extent the court's holding that the exemptions of personal property under § 77-202(6)-(9) were unconstitutional under state law was based on the incompatibility of such exemptions with the taxation of railroad personal property under § 306 of the 4-R Act, no similar concern exists relative to the exemption of "household goods," as the relevant comparison class for purposes of assessing discriminatory property taxation under the 4-R Act is limited to "commercial and industrial property." The definition of "commercial and industrial property" under § 306(3)(c) pertains only to certain real or personal property "devoted to a commercial or industrial use. . . ." Household goods, of course, would not fall within this definition of "commercial and industrial property."

As noted, the court in MAPCO made reference to the exemption of "household goods" (as well as exemptions for property of religious, charitable, or educational institutions) as not having been challenged in "federal court." It is evident this statement referred to federal court challenges to Nebraska's system of taxing personal property under the 4-R Act. As the exemption of "household goods" (as well as exemptions for the property of religious, charitable, or educational institutions) is irrelevant under the 4-R Act, there is no basis to conclude that the decision in MAPCO calls into question the constitutionality of the exemption of household goods under current Nebraska constitutional provisions. See also Natural Gas Pipeline Co. v. State Bd. of Equal., 237 Neb. 357, 374, 466 N.W.2d 461, 472 (1991) (White and Fahrnbruch, J. J., concurring) (noting reasonableness of classification and exemption of property "whose tax proceeds would not justify the costs of collection," including "household goods.").

In sum, it is our opinion that, irrespective of the adoption of LR 219CA, both household goods and intangibles may remain exempt from property taxation under current Nebraska constitutional provisions.

Very truly yours,

Opinion No. 92034

DATE: February 28, 1992

SUBJECT: LB 946; Does that bill changing the effective date of legislative redistricting conflict with Article III, Section 7 or Article III, Section 8 of the Nebraska Constitution?

REQUESTED BY: Senator George Coordsen
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

Neb.Rev.Stat §50-1152 (1991 Supp.) provides that the legislative redistricting statutes passed in 1991 "shall become operative on January 6, 1993," except that members from the newly created odd-numbered legislative districts will be nominated and elected in 1992. LB 946 would amend the initial portion of Section 50-1152 to read as follows:

> Sections 50-1101 to 50-1152 shall become operative on the effective date of this act, except that members of the Legislature from the odd-numbered districts mentioned in sections 50-1101 to 50-1152 shall be nominated at the primary election in 1992 and elected at the general election in November 1992 for the term commencing January 6, 1993.

In addition, LB 946 would add the following new language to Section 50-1152:

> The members of the Legislature elected or appointed prior to the effective date of this act shall represent the newly established districts for the balance of their terms, with each member representing the same numbered district as prior to the effective date of this act.

You have now posed several questions concerning the interaction of this proposed statutory language with various provisions of the Nebraska Constitution. Our responses to your inquiries are set out below.

The provisions of our state Constitution at issue are Article III, Section 7, and Article III, Section 8. Article III, Section 7 provides, in pertinent part:

> When the Legislature is redistricted, the members elected prior to the redistricting shall continue in office, and the law providing for such redistricting shall where necessary specify the newly established district which they shall represent for the balance of their term.

The pertinent portion of Article III, Section 8 provides:

> No person shall be eligible to the office of member of the Legislature unless on the date of the general election at which he is elected or on the date of his appointment he ...has resided within the district from which he is elected for the term of one year next before his election....And no person elected as aforesaid shall hold his office after he shall have removed from such district.

It appears that the impetus for LB 946 was, in part, a perceived conflict between the operative date of redistricting under Section 50-1152 and the residency requirements of Article III, Section 8. That is, Article III, Section 8 requires a person to reside within a legislative district for one year prior to the date of his or her election to the Legislature. On the other hand, under Section 50-1152, the operative date for the formation of new legislative districts is January 6, 1993. In those instances where the redistricting plan forms new legislative districts from territory that was part of old districts (new legislative Districts 21 and 39), it could be argued that no one would be a resident of the new district for a year at the time of the election in 1992, since the district does not come into being until 1993. Therefore, the initial portion of LB 946 apparently proposes to amend Section 50-1152 so that it could be considered operative retroactive to its effective date--90 days after its passage, or September 5, 1991. In that way, individuals could be considered as residents of the new legislative districts for one year prior to the general election in 1992. You have asked us whether LB 946 even needs to be enacted, or whether the current language of Section 50-1152 is sufficient. We assume that, by that question, you are asking if there is a conflict between Article III, Section 8 and the current operative date of Section 50-1152 which would require a statutory change.

The answer to your question concerning the necessity for the change in operative dates contemplated by LB 946 obviously turns on the meaning of the language in Article III, Section 8 concerning residency. There do not appear to be any Nebraska cases which give guidance as to the construction of the residency language in Article III, Section 8. Moreover, the particular constitutional language at issue has remained unchanged as a part of our state Constitution since at least 1875. See Constitution of the State of Nebraska, November 1, 1875, Article III, Sec. 5. As a result, there is little information available from either the state Constitutional Convention in 1920 or any subsequent constitutional amendments. Therefore, we must determine the meaning of the plain language of the constitutional provision itself, with the assistance of appropriate rules of constitutional construction.

In considering the meaning of constitutional provisions in Nebraska, it is proper to consider the evil and mischief attempted to be remedied, the objects sought to be accomplished, and the scope of the remedy sought to be applied, and to give such provisions an interpretation which best appears calculated to effectuate the constitutional purpose. E.K. Buck Retail Stores v. Harkert, 157 Neb. 867, 62 N.W.2d 288 (1954). In addition, constitutional provisions should receive a liberal and general, rather than strict, construction and application. State ex rel. Thompson v. Neble, 82 Neb. 267, 117 N.W. 723 (1908).

With these rules of constitutional construction in mind, we turn to the language of Article III, Section 8 which is at issue. Presumably, the reason for requiring an individual to reside in his or her legislative district for one year prior to his or her election to the Legislature is to accomplish increased familiarity with the district--its geography, its economy, and its citizens and their concerns. We see no reason why this purpose could not be accomplished by reading Article III, Section 8 as requiring that individuals who wish to run for the Legislature in new districts immediately after redistricting may do so if they have resided in territory which will become the new district for one year prior to the general election. Such residence would appear to satisfy the purposes of the constitutional provision. Conversely, reading Article III, Section 8 to require immediate implementation of the redistricting plan in order to satisfy residency requirements appears to us to be an unduly strict reading of the constitutional provision under the circumstances. We therefore do not believe, in reference to your question concerning the "need" for LB 946, that the current implementation provisions of Section 50-1152 conflict with Article III, Section 8.

You have also asked whether the residency requirements of Article III, Section 8 would prohibit a legislator who is currently representing either District 21 or District 39 from serving in the Legislature if LB 946 is enacted. In a related question, you have requested our views as to whether such legislators must establish their residence in the new Districts 21 and 39 to complete their terms through January, 1993, in the event implementation of redistricting is accelerated under LB 946.

As noted above, Article III, Section 8 of the Nebraska Constitution requires a member of the Legislature to reside in his or her legislative district, and a legislator may not "...hold his office after he shall have removed from such district." On the other hand, it is clear under the applicable language of Article III, Section 7 that members of the Legislature elected prior to redistricting continue in office after redistricting for the balance of their term, and, Article III, Section 7 allows the Legislature to designate, if necessary, what newly established district a legislator will represent after redistricting. In the present instance, the new Districts 21 and 39 created by the 1991 redistricting bill are some distance geographically from their predecessor districts, and the Senators who represent those districts currently will not reside in the new districts. Yet, LB 946 would both accelerate the creation of the new districts, and also require that they by represented by the current representatives of those districts who do not reside there. We assume that this situation led to your second set of questions.

Again, there is no case law from Nebraska that sheds light on this tension between constitutional provisions. However, unlike Article III, Section 8, which has remained unchanged since at least 1875, Article III, Section 7 was added to our state constitution in 1966. The legislative history of the bill which ultimately became the portion of Article III, Section 7 in question offers some assistance in answering your question.

The portion of Article III, Section 7 at issue dealing with redistricting and the placement of hold-over Senators into new districts was added to our state Constitution as a result of a constitutional amendment proposed by LB 923, which was passed by the Nebraska Legislature in 1965. That constitutional amendment was approved by the voters in November, 1966. During the floor debate on LB 923, several comments by senators indicated that the intent of the constitutional language in question was to allow the Legislature the right to assign legislators to particular districts if necessary as a result of redistricting, even if that assignment resulted in Senators representing districts in which they did not reside. For example, one exchange went as follows:

> Senator Pedersen: All right, then the second question is, on the committee amendment you say in (sic) the law providing for such redistricting shall when necessary specify the newly established district which they shall represent for the balance of the term. The people can actually be voting for certain senators in certain districts and the legislature by this can subsequently thereto specify another part of the state that this senator who continues over actually will be representing. Is that the way you understand it?
> Senator Warner: This would be my understanding.

Floor Debate on LB 923, Seventy Fifth Nebraska Legislature, at 2937 (1965) (emphasis added). See Floor Debate on LB 923, Seventy Fifth Nebraska Legislature, at 2939 (1965).

Obviously, comments by Senators concerning the purpose of a constitutional amendment proposed by the Legislature and approved by the people are not dispositive. Nevertheless, in the absence of any caselaw which interprets the language in question, those comments are useful in giving insight as to the motivation for the amendment.

From the language cited above, it is clear that the amendment added to Article III, Section 7 in 1966 was intended, at least by the Legislature, to give it the option of assigning legislators to districts in which they do not reside in the event that such assignments become necessary as a result of redistricting. A constitutional amendment becomes an integral part of the instrument, and must be harmonized, if possible, with all the other provisions of the instrument. Luikart v. Higgins, 130 Neb. 395, 264 N.W. 903 (1936). Therefore, the 1966 amendment to Article III, Section 7 must be considered an integral part of the Nebraska Constitution, and must be harmonized with the remainder including the residency requirements of Article III, Section 8. As a result, we believe that the residency requirements of Article III, Section 8 do not apply in the specific instance of a legislator who is assigned to a particular district as a result of redistricting, even if that legislator is not a resident of the newly assigned district. Should LB 946 be passed and redistricting be accelerated, no constitutional violation would occur with respect to the representation of Districts 21 and 39 by Senators who do not reside there. Similarly, we do not believe that the Senators currently representing Districts 21 and 39 would need to establish their residences in those new districts should LB 946 be passed and redistricting implemented.

Finally, you ask if there are "any problems" with the final portion of LB 946 which amends Section 50-1152 so that members of the Legislature elected or appointed prior to the effective date of the redistricting act shall continue to represent their previous numbered district for the remainder of their term. This question is, again, in the context of Article III, Sections 7 and 8.

To the extent we understand your question, we do not believe there are "any problems" with this language. In great part, it simply mirrors the appropriate language of Article III, Section 7, and is authorized by that Section. We do not see how that is improper.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

The first Warner et al. amendment, to the Warner et al. pending amendment, AM3048, is as follows:

FA289

(Amendments to AM3048)

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 100. That section 77-1233.04, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-1233.04. (1) The county assessor shall change the reported valuation of any item of personal property listed on the return of any taxpayer to conform the valuation to ~~actual~~ taxable value. The assessor shall make a change to the valuation of any item of personal property for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein.

(2) The county assessor shall list any item of personal property omitted from or not returned on a personal property return of any taxpayer and value the property at its ~~actual~~ taxable value. The assessor shall list and value omitted or not returned property for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein. Property so listed and valued shall be taxed at the same rate as would have been imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the state in which the property should have been returned for taxation. To the tax shall be added a penalty of fifty percent of the tax due. Interest shall be assessed upon both the tax and the penalty at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, from the date the tax would have been delinquent until paid.

(3) For purposes of this section, the county assessor shall send notice, by first-class mail to the last-known address of the taxpayer, on a form prescribed by the Tax Commissioner, advising the taxpayer of the action taken, the penalty, and the rate of interest, if any. The notice shall also state the taxpayer's appeal rights and the appeal procedures.

(4) The county assessor may with the approval of the county board of equalization waive all or part of the penalty assessed and any interest thereon. The entire penalty and interest shall be waived if the omission or failure to return any item of personal property was for the reason that ~~the property was not required to be reported in previous years or~~ the property was timely reported in the wrong taxing district.

(5) For purposes of this section, the taxpayer may appeal the action of the county assessor, either as to the valuation of property or the penalties imposed, to the county board of equalization within thirty days of the date the notice was mailed by the county assessor. The taxpayer shall preserve his or her appeal by filing an appeal with the county clerk in the same manner as prescribed in section 77-1502. The action of the county assessor shall become final unless an appeal is filed within the time prescribed.

(6) Upon ten days' notice to the taxpayer, the county board of equalization shall set a date for hearing the appeal of the taxpayer. The county board of equalization shall make its determination on the appeal within thirty days after the date of hearing. The county clerk shall, within seven days of the determination of the county board, send notice to the taxpayer and the county assessor, on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner, of the action of the county board. Appeal de novo may be taken from the decision of the county board of equalization to the district court of the county in which the assessment is made in the manner prescribed in sections 77-1510 and 77-1511.

(7) Taxes and penalties assessed for the current year, if not delinquent, shall be certified to the county treasurer and collected as if the property had been properly reported for taxation, except that separate tax statements may be mailed. Taxes and penalties assessed for the current year, if delinquent, and taxes and penalties assessed for prior years shall be certified to the county treasurer, and the tax, penalties, and interest thereon shall be due and collectible immediately upon certification. Collection procedures shall be started immediately regardless of the provisions of any other statute to the contrary.

Sec. 101. That section 77-1233.05, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-1233.05. If a return is voluntarily filed or omitted property is voluntarily reported after the final date for returning such property has passed for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein, the property shall be taxed at the same rate as imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the State of Nebraska in which the property should have been returned for taxation. To the tax shall be added a penalty of ten percent of the amount of tax due on tangible personal property. Interest at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, shall be assessed upon such penalty from the date of delinquency of the tax until paid. The county assessor with the approval of the county board of equalization may waive all or part of the penalty and the interest on the penalty. If the omission or failure to return or report property was caused by the fact that ~~such property had not been required to be reported in previous years or that~~ such property was timely reported in the wrong taxing district, the entire penalty and the interest on the penalty shall be waived. Appeals may be taken under the same conditions and in the same manner as provided in section 77-1233.04. A return shall be deemed to be voluntarily filed or omitted property shall be deemed to have been voluntarily reported if the action is done without notice from any taxing official or if the taxpayer prior to such notice notified the county assessor in writing that such return would be filed late and the return was subsequently filed within thirty days. Returns voluntarily filed or omitted property voluntarily reported as provided in this section shall not be subjected to any other penalty. This section shall not be so construed as to prohibit any taxing official from the proper discovery, assessment, taxation, and penalization of and for any property not listed or returned, regardless of when or in what manner the return was filed.

(Amendments to AM3048)

Sec. 178. That section 77-2701, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, as amended by section 3, Legislative Bill 871, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-2701. Sections 77-2701 to 77-27,135 and sections 4 to 24 and 26 to 59 of this act and section 179 of this act shall be known and may be cited as the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967.

Sec. 179. (1) Any purchaser of depreciable agricultural machinery and equipment purchased on or after January 1, 1992, for use in commercial agriculture may apply for a refund of eighty percent of the state sales or use taxes and all of the local option sales and use taxes paid on the machinery or equipment.

(2) The purchaser shall file a claim with the Tax Commissioner pursuant to section 77-2708, and in addition to the information required by such section, the claimant shall provide a copy of the schedule of personal property filed with the county assessor and specifically identify the machinery and equipment on which the refund is requested. The information provided with a tax refund claim allowed under this section may be disclosed to any other tax official of this state.

(3) If the purchaser fails to list the depreciable agricultural machinery or equipment on a schedule of personal property filed on or before the due date with the county assessor for the January first after the date of purchase, the purchaser shall have waived his or her claim to a refund of any of the sales tax paid on the machinery and equipment.

(4) The Tax Commissioner may recover any refund paid as an underpayment of the sales tax if a refund was allowed and the machinery and equipment was not properly listed.

Sec. 178. That section 77-2701, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, as amended by section 3, Legislative Bill 871, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

(2)(a) If the Tax Commissioner determines that any sales or use tax amount, penalty, or interest has been paid more than once, has been erroneously or illegally collected or computed, ~~or~~ was paid on a purchase made before May 29, 1987, which purchase qualified for a refund under section 77-27,186 at the time of purchase, or was paid on agricultural machinery or equipment which qualifies for a refund under section 179 of this act, the Tax Commissioner shall set forth that fact in his or her records and the excess amount collected or paid may be credited on any sales, use, or income tax amounts then due and payable from the person under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967. Any balance may be refunded to the person by whom it was paid or his or her successors, administrators, or executors.

(b) No refund shall be allowed unless a claim therefor is filed with the Tax Commissioner by the person who made the overpayment or his or her attorney, assignee, executor, or administrator within three years from the required filing date following the close of the period for which the overpayment was made, within six months after any determination becomes final under section 77-2709, or within six months from the date of overpayment with respect to such determinations, whichever of these three periods expires the later, unless the credit relates to a period for which a waiver has been given. Failure to file a claim within the time prescribed in this subsection shall constitute a waiver of any demand against the state on account of overpayment.

(c) Every claim shall be in writing on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner and shall state the specific amount and grounds upon which the claim is founded. No refund shall be made in any amount less than two dollars.

(d) The Tax Commissioner shall allow or disallow a claim within one hundred eighty days after it has been filed. If the Tax Commissioner has neither allowed nor disallowed a claim within such one hundred eighty days, the claim shall be deemed to have been allowed.

(e) Within thirty days after disallowing any claim in whole or in part, the Tax Commissioner shall serve notice of his or her action on the claimant in the manner prescribed for service of notice of a deficiency determination.

(f) Within thirty days after the mailing of the notice of the Tax Commissioner's action upon a claim filed pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, the action of the Tax Commissioner shall be final unless the taxpayer seeks review of the Tax Commissioner's determination as provided in section 77-27,127.

(g) Upon the allowance of a credit or refund of any sum erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, of any penalty collected without authority, or of any sum which was excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected, interest shall be allowed and paid on the amount of such credit or refund at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, from the date such sum was paid or from the date the return was required to be filed, whichever date is later, to the date of the allowance of the refund or, in the case of a credit, to the due date of the amount against which the credit is allowed, but in the case of a voluntary and unrequested payment in excess of actual tax liability or a refund under section 77-27,186 or section 179 of this act, no interest shall be allowed when such excess is refunded or credited.

(h) No suit or proceeding shall be maintained in any court for the recovery of any amount alleged to have been erroneously or illegally determined or collected unless a claim for refund or credit has been duly filed.

(i) The Tax Commissioner may recover any refund or part thereof which is erroneously made and any credit or part thereof which is erroneously allowed in an action brought within one year from the date of refund or credit in the name of the state in a court of competent jurisdiction in the county in which the taxpayer involved is located.

(j) The action shall be tried in the county in which the taxpayer involved is a resident unless the court orders a change of place of trial.

(k) The Attorney General shall prosecute the action provided for in subdivision (i) of this subsection, and the provisions of state law and the rules of civil procedure relating to service of summons, pleadings, proof, trials, and appeals shall be applicable to the proceedings.

(l) Credit shall be allowed to the retailer, contractor, or repairperson for sales or use taxes paid pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 on: (i) Sales represented by that portion of an account determined to be worthless and actually charged off for federal income tax purposes. If such accounts are thereafter collected by the retailer, contractor, or repairperson, a tax shall be paid upon the amount so collected; or (ii) the portion of the purchase price remaining unpaid at the time of a repossession made under the terms of a conditional sales contract.

(2) Subject to the requirements in subsections (1) and (4) of this section, the qualification of a health care provider shall be either on an occurrence or claims-made basis and shall be the same as the insurance coverage provided by the insured's policy.

(3) The director shall have authority to permit qualification of health care providers who have retired or ceased doing business if such health care providers have primary insurance coverage under subsection (1) of this section.

(4) A health care provider who is not qualified under the act at the time of the alleged occurrence giving rise to a claim shall not, for purposes of that claim, qualify under the act notwithstanding subsequent filing of proof of financial responsibility and payment of a required surcharge.

(5) Qualification of a health care provider under the Nebraska Hospital-Medical Liability Act shall continue only as long as the health care provider meets the requirements for qualification. A health care provider who has once qualified under the Nebraska Hospital-Medical Liability Act and who fails to renew or continue his or her qualification in the manner provided by law and by the rules and regulations of the Department of Insurance shall cease to be qualified under such act.

~~(b) The charge~~ except that the surcharge shall not exceed the amount necessary to maintain the fund in the amount stated in section 44-2830.

(3) Such surcharge and any primary insurance premiums due under sections 44-2837 to 44-2839 shall be due and payable within thirty days after the health care provider has qualified in Nebraska pursuant to section 44-2824 and shall be payable annually thereafter in such amounts as may be determined by the director insofar as the surcharge is concerned and by the risk manager insofar as primary liability coverage is concerned.

(4) The net premiums payable for primary insurance provided by the risk manager pursuant to sections 44-2837 to 44-2839 shall be deposited in the fund at least annually by the risk manager.

(5) If the annual premium surcharge or premiums for primary insurance under sections 44-2837 to 44-2839 are not paid within the time specified in subsection (3) of this section, the qualification of the health care provider under section 44-2824 shall be suspended until the annual premiums are paid. Such suspension shall not be effective as to patients claiming against the health care provider unless, at least thirty days before the effective date of the suspension, a written notice giving the date upon which the suspension becomes effective has been provided by the director to the health care provider.

(6) The Director of Insurance, as administrator of the fund, shall be responsible for legal defense of the fund. The director, using money from the fund as deemed necessary, appropriate, or desirable, may purchase the services of persons, firms, and corporations to aid in protecting the fund against claims. GENERAL FILE

LEGISLATIVE BILL 1063. The third Warner et al. amendment, to the Warner et al. pending amendment, AM3048, is as follows:
FA291

(Amendments to AM3048)

Sec. 180. That section 77-2703, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, as amended by section 25, Legislative Bill 871, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-2703. (1) There is hereby imposed a tax at the rate provided in section 77-2701.02 upon the gross receipts from all sales of tangible personal property sold at retail in this state, the gross receipts of every person engaged as a public utility, as a community antenna television service operator or any person involved in the connecting and installing of the services defined in subdivision (2)(a), (b), or (d) of section 8 of this act, or as a retailer of intellectual or entertainment properties referred to in subsection (3) of section 8 of this act, the gross receipts from the sale of admissions in this state, and the gross receipts from the sale of warranties, guarantees, service agreements, or maintenance agreements when the items covered are subject to tax under this section. When there is a sale, the tax shall be imposed at the rate in effect at the time the gross receipts are realized under the accounting basis used by the retailer to maintain his or her books and records.

(a) The tax imposed by this section shall be collected by the retailer from the consumer. It shall constitute a part of the purchase price and until collected shall be a debt from the consumer to the retailer and shall be recoverable at law in the same manner as other debts. The tax required to be collected by the retailer from the consumer constitutes a debt owed by the retailer to this state.

(b) It is unlawful for any retailer to advertise, hold out, or state to the public or to any customer, directly or indirectly, that the tax or part thereof will be assumed or absorbed by the retailer, that it will not be added to the selling, renting, or leasing price of the property sold, rented, or leased, or that, if added, it or any part thereof will be refunded. The provisions of this subdivision shall not apply to a public utility.

(c) The tax required to be collected by the retailer from the purchaser, unless otherwise provided by statute or by rule and regulation of the Tax Commissioner, shall be displayed separately from the list price, the price advertised in the premises, the marked price, or other price on the sales check or other proof of sales, rentals, or leases.

(d) For the purpose of more efficiently securing the payment, collection, and accounting for the sales tax and for the convenience of the retailer in collecting the sales tax, it shall be the duty of the Tax Commissioner to adopt and promulgate appropriate rules and regulations prescribing a schedule or schedules of the amounts to be collected from the consumer or user to effectuate the computation and collection of the tax imposed by the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967. Such schedule or schedules shall provide that the tax shall be collected from the consumer or user uniformly on sales according to brackets based on sales prices of the item or items, except that the Tax Commissioner may authorize computation and collection of the tax uniformly on a straight percentage basis in lieu of brackets in situations involving machine or computer billing.

(e) The use of tokens or stamps for the purpose of collecting or enforcing the collection of the taxes imposed in the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 or for any other purpose in connection with such taxes is prohibited.

(f) For the purpose of the proper administration of the provisions of the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 and to prevent evasion of the retail sales tax, it shall be presumed that all gross receipts are subject to the tax until the contrary is established. The burden of proving that a sale of tangible personal property is not a sale at retail is upon the person who makes the sale unless he or she takes, in good faith, from the purchaser a resale certificate to the effect that the property is purchased for the purpose of reselling, leasing, or renting it or takes, in good faith, an exemption certificate pursuant to subsection (7) of section 77-2705. Receipt of a resale certificate or exemption certificate, taken in good faith, shall be conclusive proof for the seller that the sale was made for resale or was exempt.

(g) Whenever any retailer makes delivery of any tangible personal property in this state on or after June 1, 1967, it shall be conclusively presumed that such property was sold at retail on or after June 1, 1967, unless the delivery thereof is made pursuant to a contract executed in writing for a fixed price before June 1, 1967, with at least twenty-five percent of the total price paid prior to June 1, 1967, and such delivery is made prior to August 31, 1967.

(h) In the rental or lease of automobiles, trucks, trailers, semitrailers, and truck-tractors as defined in section 60-301, for periods of thirty days or more, the lessor may elect not to collect and remit the sales tax on the gross receipts and instead pay a sales tax on the cost of such vehicle. If such election is made, it shall be made pursuant to the following conditions:

(i) Notice of the desire to make such election shall be filed with the Tax Commissioner and shall not become effective until the Tax Commissioner is satisfied that the taxpayer has complied with all conditions of this subsection and all rules and regulations of the Tax Commissioner;

(ii) Such election when made shall continue in force and effect for a period of not less than two years and thereafter until such time as the lessor elects to terminate the election;

(iii) When such election is made, it shall apply to all vehicles of the lessor rented or leased for periods of thirty days or more except vehicles to be leased to common or contract carriers who provide to the lessor a valid common or contract carrier exemption certificate. If the lessor rents or leases other vehicles for periods of less than thirty days, such lessor shall maintain his or her books and records and his or her accounting procedure as the Tax Commissioner prescribes; and

(iv) The Tax Commissioner by rule and regulation shall prescribe the contents and form of the notice of election, a procedure for the determination of the tax base of vehicles which are under an existing lease at the time such election becomes effective, the method and manner for terminating such election, and such other rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper administration of this subdivision.

(i) If a sales or use tax has been paid on the purchase, storage, use, or other consumption of tangible personal property used in the performance of a construction contract, which contract is with the project owner, is for a fixed price, and has been executed prior to June 1, 1967, and which tangible personal property is incorporated into the project and transferred to the owner of the structure constructed upon the completion of the contract, the person having paid such sales or use tax shall be entitled to a refund of the amount of taxes so paid. The Tax Commissioner shall by rule and regulation provide the manner and means of applying for such refund and shall require the furnishing of such proof as may reasonably be required to establish the fact that such property was used in the completion of a contract as defined in this subdivision and that any sales or use tax has in fact been paid on such tangible personal property.

(j) The tax imposed by this section on the sales of motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers as defined in section 60-301 shall be the liability of the purchaser and, with the exception of motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers registered pursuant to section 60-305.09, the tax shall be collected by the county treasurer at the time the purchaser makes application for the registration of the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer for operation upon the highways of this state. The tax imposed by this section on motor vehicles, trailers, and semitrailers registered pursuant to section 60-305.09 shall be collected by the Department of Motor Vehicles at the time the purchaser makes application for the registration of the motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer for operation upon the highways of this state. At the time of the sale of any motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer, the seller shall (i) state on the sales invoice the dollar amount of the tax imposed under this section and (ii) furnish to the purchaser a certified statement of the transaction, in such form as the Tax Commissioner prescribes, setting forth as a minimum the total sales price, the allowance for any trade-in, and the difference between the two. The sales tax due shall be computed on the difference between the total sales price and the allowance for any trade-in as disclosed by such certified statement. A copy of such certified statement shall also be furnished to the Tax Commissioner. Any seller who fails or refuses to furnish such certified statement shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred dollars. If the seller fails to state on the sales invoice the dollar amount of the tax due, the purchaser shall have the right and authority to rescind any agreement for purchase and to declare the purchase null and void. If the purchaser retains such motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer in this state and does not register it for operation on the highways of this state within thirty days of the purchase thereof, the tax imposed by this section shall immediately thereafter be paid by the purchaser to the county treasurer or the Department of Motor Vehicles. The county treasurer or Department of Motor Vehicles shall report and remit the tax so collected to the Tax Commissioner at such times as the Tax Commissioner may require by rule and regulation.

The county treasurer shall deduct and withhold for the use of the county general fund the collection fee permitted to be deducted by any retailer collecting the sales tax. The Department of Motor Vehicles shall deduct, withhold, and deposit in the Interstate Registration Operations Cash Fund the collection fee permitted to be deducted by any retailer collecting the sales tax. The collection fee shall be forfeited if the county treasurer or Department of Motor Vehicles violates any rule or regulation pertaining to the collection of the use tax.

(k) The Tax Commissioner shall adopt and promulgate necessary rules and regulations for determining the amount subject to the taxes imposed by this section so as to insure that the full amount of any applicable tax is paid in cases in which a sale is made of which a part is subject to the taxes imposed by this section and a part of which is not so subject and a separate accounting is not practical or economical.

(2) A use tax is hereby imposed on the storage, use, or other consumption in this state of tangible personal property purchased, leased, or rented from any retailer and on any transaction the gross receipts of which are subject to tax under subsection (1) of this section on or after June 1, 1967, for storage, use, or other consumption in this state at the rate set as provided in subsection (1) of this section on the sales price of the property or, in the case of leases or rentals, of the lease or rental prices.

(a) Every person storing, using, or otherwise consuming in this state tangible personal property purchased from a retailer or leased or rented from another person for such purpose shall be liable for the use tax at the rate in effect when his or her liability for the use tax becomes certain under the accounting basis used to maintain his or her books and records. His or her liability shall not be extinguished until the use tax has been paid to this state, except that a receipt from a retailer engaged in business in this state or from a retailer who is authorized by the Tax Commissioner, under such rules and regulations as he or she may prescribe, to collect the sales tax and who is, for the purposes of the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 relating to the sales tax, regarded as a retailer engaged in business in this state, which receipt is given to the purchaser pursuant to subdivision (b) of this subsection, shall be sufficient to relieve the purchaser from further liability for the tax to which the receipt refers.

(b) Every retailer engaged in business in this state and selling, leasing, or renting tangible personal property for storage, use, or other consumption in this state shall, at the time of making any sale, collect any tax which may be due from the purchaser and shall give to the purchaser, upon request, a receipt therefor in the manner and form prescribed by the Tax Commissioner.

(c) The Tax Commissioner, in order to facilitate the proper administration of the use tax, may designate such person or persons as he or she may deem necessary to be use tax collectors and delegate to such persons such authority as is necessary to collect any use tax which is due and payable to the State of Nebraska. The Tax Commissioner may require of all persons so designated a surety bond in favor of the State of Nebraska to insure against any misappropriation of state funds so collected. The Tax Commissioner may require any tax official, city, county, or state, to collect the use tax on behalf of the state. All persons designated to or required to collect the use tax shall account for such collections in the manner prescribed by the Tax Commissioner. Nothing in this subdivision shall be so construed as to prevent the Tax Commissioner or his or her employees from collecting any use taxes due and payable to the State of Nebraska.

(d) All persons designated to collect the use tax and all persons required to collect the use tax shall forward the total of such collections to the Tax Commissioner at such time and in such manner as the Tax Commissioner may prescribe. Such collectors of the use tax shall deduct and withhold from the amount of taxes collected ~~three~~ two and one-half percent of the first ~~five~~ one thousand dollars remitted each month and one percent of all amounts in excess of ~~five~~ one thousand dollars remitted each month as reimbursement for the cost of collecting the tax, except that for each month from October 1, 1991, to September 30, 1992, such collectors shall deduct and withhold from the amount of taxes collected one and one-half percent of the first one thousand dollars remitted each month and one-half percent of all amounts in excess of one thousand dollars remitted each month as reimbursement for the cost of collecting the tax. Any such deduction shall be forfeited to the State of Nebraska if such collector violates any rule, regulation, or directive of the Tax Commissioner.

(e) For the purpose of the proper administration of the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 and to prevent evasion of the use tax, it shall be presumed that tangible personal property sold, leased, or rented by any person for delivery in this state is sold, leased, or rented for storage, use, or other consumption in this state until the contrary is established. The burden of proving the contrary is upon the person who purchases, leases, or rents the property.

(f) It shall be further presumed, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, that tangible personal property shipped or brought to this state by the purchaser after June 1, 1967, was purchased from a retailer on or after that date for storage, use, or other consumption in this state.

(g)(i) Except as provided in subdivisions (g)(ii) and (g)(iii) of this subsection, when a person purchases tangible personal property in another state, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, any territory or possession of the United States, or any foreign country with the intent of using such property in such other state, commonwealth, territory, possession, or country and such property is actually used in the other state, commonwealth, territory, possession, or country for its intended purpose, the tangible personal property shall not be subject to tax in this state.

(ii) Subdivision (g)(i) of this subsection shall only apply to a motor vehicle, trailer, or semitrailer as defined in section 60-301 when it is licensed for operation on the highways of the other state, commonwealth, territory, possession, or country prior to being brought into this state.

(iii) Subdivision (g)(i) of this subsection shall not apply to an aircraft which is brought into this state within one year of purchase and (A) is regularly based within this state or (B) more than one-half of the aircraft's operating hours are within this state.

For purposes of subdivision (g)(iii) of this subsection, operation of the aircraft for the purpose of maintenance, repair, or fabrication with subsequent removal from this state upon completion of such maintenance, repair, or fabrication shall not be considered operating hours.

Sec. 181. That section 77-2708, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

77-2708. (1)(a) The sales and use taxes imposed by the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 shall be due and payable to the Tax Commissioner monthly on or before the twenty-fifth day of the month next succeeding each monthly period unless otherwise provided pursuant to the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967.

(b)(i) On or before the twenty-fifth day of the month following each monthly period or such other period as the Tax Commissioner may require, a return for such period, along with all taxes due, shall be filed with the Tax Commissioner in such form and content as the Tax Commissioner may prescribe and containing such information as the Tax Commissioner deems necessary for the proper administration of the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967. The Tax Commissioner, if he or she deems it necessary in order to insure payment to or facilitate the collection by the state of the amount of sales or use taxes due, may require returns and payment of the amount of such taxes for periods other than monthly periods in the case of a particular seller, retailer, or purchaser, as the case may be. The Tax Commissioner shall by rule and regulation require reports and tax payments from sellers, retailers, or purchasers depending on their yearly tax liability. Annual returns shall be required if such sellers', retailers', or purchasers' yearly tax liability is less than nine hundred dollars, quarterly returns shall be required if their yearly tax liability is nine hundred dollars or more and less than twelve hundred dollars, and monthly returns shall be required if their yearly tax liability is twelve hundred dollars or more. The Tax Commissioner shall have the discretion to allow an annual return for seasonal retailers, even when their yearly tax liability exceeds the amounts listed in this subdivision.

The Tax Commissioner may adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to allow annual, semiannual, or quarterly returns for any retailer making monthly remittances or payments of sales and use taxes by electronic funds transfer. Such rules and regulations may establish a method of determining the amount of the payment that will result in substantially all of the tax liability being paid each quarter. At least once each year, the difference between the amount paid and the amount due shall be reconciled. If the difference is more than ten percent of the amount paid, a penalty of fifty percent of the unpaid amount shall be imposed.

(ii) For purposes of the sales tax, a return shall be filed by every retailer liable for collection from a purchaser and payment to the state of the tax, except that a combined sales tax return may be filed for all licensed locations which are subject to common ownership. For the purposes of this subdivision, common ownership shall mean the same person or persons own eighty percent or more of each licensed location. For purposes of the use tax, a return shall be filed by every retailer engaged in business in this state and by every person who has purchased personal property, the storage, use, or other consumption of which is subject to the use tax, but who has not paid the use tax due to a retailer required to collect the tax.

(iii) Returns shall be signed by the person required to file the return or by his or her duly authorized agent but need not be verified by oath.

(iv) A taxpayer who keeps his or her regular books and records on a cash basis, an accrual basis, or any generally recognized accounting basis which correctly reflects the operation of the business may file the sales and use tax returns required by the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 on the same accounting basis that is used for the regular books and records, except that on credit, conditional, and installment sales the retailer who keeps his or her books on an accrual basis may report such sales on the cash basis and pay the tax upon the collections made during each month. If a taxpayer transfers, sells, assigns, or otherwise disposes of an account receivable, he or she shall be deemed to have received the full balance of the consideration for the original sale and shall be liable for the remittance of the sales tax on the balance of the total sale price not previously reported, except that such transfer, sale, assignment, or other disposition of an account receivable by a retailer to a subsidiary shall not be deemed to require the retailer to pay the sales tax on the credit sale represented by the account transferred prior to the time the customer makes payment on such account. If the subsidiary does not obtain a Nebraska sales tax permit, the taxpayer shall obtain a surety bond in favor of the State of Nebraska to insure payment of the tax and any interest and penalty imposed thereon under this section in an amount not less than two times the amount of tax payable on outstanding accounts receivable held by the subsidiary as of the end of the prior calendar year. Failure to obtain either a sales tax permit or a surety bond in accordance with this section shall result in the payment on the next required filing date of all sales taxes not previously remitted. When the retailer has adopted one basis or the other of reporting credit, conditional, or installment sales and paying the tax thereon, he or she will not be permitted to change from that basis without first having notified the Tax Commissioner.

(c) The taxpayer required to file the return shall deliver or mail any required return together with a remittance of the net amount of the tax due to the office of the Tax Commissioner on or before the required filing date. Failure to file the return, filing after the required filing date, failure to remit the net amount of the tax due, or remitting the net amount of the tax due after the required filing date shall be cause for a penalty of forfeiture of the collection fee allowed pursuant to subdivision (d) of this subsection or five dollars, whichever is greater.

(d) The taxpayer shall deduct and withhold, from the taxes otherwise due from him or her on his or her tax return, ~~three~~ two and one-half percent of the first ~~five~~ one thousand dollars remitted each month and one percent of all amounts in excess of ~~five~~ one thousand dollars remitted each month to reimburse himself or herself for the cost of collecting the tax, except that for each month from October 1, 1991, to September 30, 1992, the taxpayer shall deduct and withhold, from the taxes otherwise due from him or her on his or her tax return, one and one-half percent of the first one thousand dollars remitted each month and one-half percent of all amounts in excess of one thousand dollars remitted each month to reimburse himself or herself for the cost of collecting the tax. Taxpayers filing a combined return as allowed by subdivision (1)(b)(ii) of this subsection shall compute such collection fees on the basis of the receipts and liability of each licensed location.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 255. Introduced by Schrock, 39; Chizek, 31; Morrissey, 1.

WHEREAS, Nebraska Good Seed Week is an annual observance which focuses statewide attention on the important contributions and the benefits that crop seed and the crop seed industry make to the Nebraska economy; and

WHEREAS, the official observance for Nebraska Good Seed Week 1992 is March 8 to 14, 1992, a significant time of year in decisionmaking and planning for spring seeding, a time when choices of seed variety, seed source, and seed quality are being made, and a time of the reawakening of the wheat crop from winter dormancy; and

WHEREAS, the objective of the Nebraska farmer is to get the greatest possible dollar return for every dollar invested and nothing in crop production can offer a better return to the farmer than an investment in high-quality seed of adapted improved varieties; and

WHEREAS, the scheduling of Nebraska Good Seed Week is symbolic, as all across the nation people will celebrate agriculture during the week of March 15 to 21, 1992, and National Ag Day is March 20, 1992. Therefor, Nebraska Good Seed Week is held first because "Good agriculture begins with good seed"; and

WHEREAS, on March 15, 1902, seven men interested in maintaining Nebraska's position among the corn-growing states first met to organize the Nebraska Corn Improvers' Association. The objective of the association, as expressed by its organizers, was "...to promote the growing of corn in Nebraska by improvement of seed and in methods of tillage and such other means as the Association should adopt...". Through the years and adapting to changes and needs in agriculture, the original Nebraska Corn Improvers' Association evolved into today's Nebraska Crop Improvement Association which this year observes its ninetieth year of service to agriculture; and

WHEREAS, the passage of House Roll 67 on March 16, 1931, provided for certification as to quality of seeds produced and sold in Nebraska. House Roll 67 was introduced and fostered by J.S. Steele, a Kimball county wheat farmer, longtime leader in the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, and member of the Nebraska House of Representatives from 1931 to 1935. The legislation is now part of the Nebraska Seed Law and is regulated by the Department of Agriculture and administered by the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association; and

WHEREAS, Nebraska Statehood Day is March 1, and the sower which stands atop the State Capitol in Lincoln was placed there to emphasize the importance of agriculture in the state, an emphasis which is especially significant in this quasquicentennial year of the state. While the importance of agriculture has not changed over the years, farming techniques have. Today, it is vital that the farmer make careful plans for the most return from the investment made in each acre. A key decision in those plans is the selection and planting of high-quality seed.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature recognizes the importance of seed variety, seed source, and seed quality to the agricultural sector of Nebraska's economy.
2. That the Legislature recognizes and commends the work by plant breeders, seed producers, and seed distributors who, through cooperative efforts with the Nebraska Crop Improvement Association, the Nebraska Seed Trade Association, the Department of Agriculture, and the Agricultural Resources Division of the University of Nebraska Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources, develop and maintain high-quality seeds for the benefit of Nebraska farmers.
3. That the Legislature recognizes the week of March 8 to 14, 1992, as Nebraska Good Seed Week.

Laid over.

WHEREAS, the legislative history behind the adoption of the act and the creation of the authority discloses that the sponsors of the act believed it would be necessary to provide funding to the authority in the amount of approximately twenty million dollars over a ten-year period in order to achieve the purpose of the act; and

WHEREAS, all state funding for the authority was terminated for fiscal years 1992 and 1993 and, to this date, the authority has received less than half the funding anticipated by the act's sponsors; and

WHEREAS, in order to meet the challenge presented by the termination in funding and in order to continue to implement the purpose of the authority under the act, the governing board of the authority has narrowed the current focus of the authority, reduced the staff and operations, and reduced the operating budget by approximately sixty-six percent; and

WHEREAS, it is probable that significant state funding will not be available in the foreseeable future to carry forward the purpose of the authority; and

WHEREAS, the protection and enhancement of the existing portfolio investments require more funds than are presently available or likely to be available to the authority in the foreseeable future; and

WHEREAS, on January 15, 1992, the governing board of the authority approved a plan to create a Nebraska-based venture capital firm, finding that the implementation of the plan is consistent with the current economic development policies of the State of Nebraska, is in the best interests of the State of Nebraska, the authority, the companies which have received funding from the authority, and the Nebraska employees of such companies, and is the option most likely to fulfill the ongoing purpose of the act.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature hereby supports the plan of the authority adopted January 15, 1992, to form a Nebraska-based venture capital firm with minimum capital of ten million dollars, including the existing portfolio investments and cash of the authority, to be formed not later than June 30, 1993, to be managed by experienced, professional, venture capital managers, and to invest a portion of the venture capital fund assets proportionate to the amount of cash contributed by the authority in seed capital financing for the development and implementation of innovations or new technologies for existing and emerging industries in Nebraska, as those terms are defined in the act.
2. That the Clerk of the Legislature transmit a copy of this resolution to the Governor, the Director of Economic Development, and the governing board of the authority.

Laid over.

LEGISLATIVE BILL 1063. Mr. Moore asked unanimous consent to pass over his pending amendment, AM3276, found in the Journal on page 1169. No objections. So ordered.

Mr. Moore offered the following amendment:

AM3296

(Amendments to AM5267)

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 196. That section 77-4105, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-4105. (1) A taxpayer who has signed an agreement under section 77-4104 may elect to determine taxable income for purposes of the Nebraska income tax using the sales factor only. The election may be made for the year during which the application was filed and for each year thereafter through the eighth year after the end of the entitlement period. The election shall be made for the year of the election by computing taxable income using the sales factor only on the tax return.

(2) ~~A taxpayer who has signed an agreement under section 77-4104 shall receive the incentive provided in this subsection if the agreement contains one or more projects which together will result in the investment in qualified property of at least ten million dollars and the hiring of at least one hundred new employees. Such ten million dollar investment and hiring of at least one hundred new employees shall be considered a required level of investment and employment for this subsection and for the recapture of personal property tax only.~~

~~The following property used in connection with such project or projects and acquired by the taxpayer, whether by lease or purchase, after the date the application was filed shall constitute separate classes of personal property:~~

~~(a) Turbine-powered aircraft, including turboprop, turbojet, and turbofan aircraft, except when any such aircraft is used for fundraising for or for the transportation of an elected official;~~

~~(b) Mainframe business computers used for business information processing which require environmental controls of temperature and power and which are capable of simultaneously supporting more than one transaction and more than one user plus peripheral components which require environmental controls of temperature and power connected to such computers. Computer peripheral components shall be limited to additional memory units, tape drives, disk drives, power supplies, cooling units, and communication controllers; and~~

~~(c) Personal property which is business equipment located in a single project if (i) the business equipment is involved directly in the manufacture or processing of agricultural products, (ii) the investment in the single project exceeds ten million dollars, and (iii) the use, value, and proper classification of the business equipment has been certified by the Tax Commissioner.~~

~~Such property shall be exempt from the tax on personal property from the first January 1 following the date of acquisition for property in subdivision (2)(a) of this section, or from the first January 1 following the end of the year during which the required levels were exceeded for property in subdivisions (2)(b) and (2)(c) of this section, through the sixteenth December 31 after the filing of the application.~~

~~(3)~~ When the taxpayer has met the required levels of employment and investment contained in the agreement, the taxpayer shall also be entitled to the following incentives:

(a) A refund of all sales and use taxes paid under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 and the Local Option Revenue Act from the date of the application through the meeting of the required levels of employment and investment for all purchases, including rentals, of:

(i) Qualified property used as a part of the project;

(ii) Property, excluding motor vehicles, based in this state and used in both this state and another state in connection with the project except when any such property is to be used for fundraising for or for the transportation of an elected official;

(iii) Tangible personal property by the owner of the improvement to real estate that is incorporated into real estate as a part of a project; and

(iv) Tangible personal property by a contractor or repairperson after appointment as a purchasing agent of the owner of the improvement to real estate. The refund shall be based on fifty percent of the contract price, excluding any land, as the cost of materials subject to the sales and use tax; and

(b) A refund of the sales and use taxes paid under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967 and the Local Option Revenue Act on the types of purchases, including rentals, listed in subdivision (a) of this subsection for such taxes paid during each year of the entitlement period in which the taxpayer is at or above the required levels of employment and investment.

(3) ~~(4)~~ Any taxpayer who qualifies for the incentives contained in subsections (1) and ~~(3)~~ (2) of this section and who has added at least thirty new employees at the project shall also be entitled to:

(a) A credit equal to five percent of the amount by which the total compensation paid during the year to employees who are either Nebraska employees or base-year employees while employed at the project exceeds the average compensation paid at the project multiplied by the number of equivalent base-year employees.

For the computation of such credit, average compensation shall mean the total compensation paid at the project divided by the total number of equivalent employees at the project; and

(b) A credit equal to ten percent of the investment made in qualified property at the project.

The credits prescribed in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subsection shall be allowable for compensation paid and investments made during each year of the entitlement period that the taxpayer is at or above the required levels of employment and investment.

The credit prescribed in subdivision (b) of this subsection shall also be allowable during the first year of the entitlement period for investment in qualified property at the project after the date of the application and before the required levels of employment and investment were met.

Sec. 197. That section 77-4107, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-4107. (1) If the taxpayer fails either to meet the required levels of employment or investment for the applicable project by the end of the sixth year after the end of the year the application was submitted for such project or to utilize such project in a qualified business at employment and investment levels at or above those required in the agreement for the entire entitlement period, all or a portion of the incentives set forth in the Employment and Investment Growth Act shall be recaptured or disallowed.

(2) The recapture or disallowance shall be as follows:

(a) In the case of a taxpayer who failed to meet the required levels within the required time period, ~~all reduction in the personal property tax~~

~~because of the Employment and Investment Growth Act shall be recaptured and~~ any reduction in the corporate income tax arising solely because of an election under subsection (1) of section 77-4105 shall be deemed an underpayment of the income tax for the year in which the election was exercised and shall be immediately due and payable; and

(b) In the case of a taxpayer who has failed to maintain the project at the required levels of employment and investment for the entire entitlement period, ~~any reduction in the personal property tax,~~ any refunds in tax allowed under subdivision ~~(3)(a)~~ (2)(a) of section 77-4105, and any refunds or reduction in tax allowed because of the use of a credit allowed under subsection ~~(4)~~ (3) of section 77-4105 shall be partially recaptured from either the taxpayer or the owner of the improvement to real estate and any carryovers of credits shall be partially disallowed. One-seventh of the refunds~~, one-seventh of the reduction in personal property tax,~~ and one-seventh of the credits used shall be recaptured and one-seventh of the remaining carryovers ~~and the last remaining year of personal property tax exemption~~ shall be disallowed for each year the taxpayer did not maintain such project at or above the required levels of employment or investment.

(3) Any refunds or reduction in tax due, to the extent required to be recaptured, shall be deemed to be an underpayment of the tax and shall be immediately due and payable.

When tax benefits were received in more than one year, the tax benefits received in the most recent year shall be recovered first and then the benefits received in earlier years up to the extent of the required recapture.

(4) ~~Any personal property tax that would have been due except for the exemption allowed under the Employment and Investment Growth Act, to the extent it becomes due under this section, shall be considered an underpayment of such tax and shall be immediately due and payable to the county or counties in which the property was located when exempted. All amounts received by a county under this section shall be allocated to each taxing unit levying taxes on tangible~~

~~personal property in the county in the same proportion that the levy on tangible personal property of such taxing unit bears to the total levy of all of such taxing units.~~

~~(5)~~ Notwithstanding any other limitations contained in the laws of this state, collections of any taxes deemed to be underpayments by this section shall be allowed for a period of ten years after the signing of the agreement or three years after the end of the entitlement period, whichever is later.

~~(6)~~ (5) Any amounts due under this section shall be recaptured notwithstanding other allowable credits and shall not be subsequently refunded under any provision of the Employment and Investment Growth Act unless the recapture was in error.

~~(7)~~ (6) The recapture required by this section shall not occur if the failure to maintain the required levels of employment or investment was caused by an act of God or national emergency.".

2. On page 82, strike lines 9 through 11 and show the old matter as stricken.

3. Renumber the remaining sections and correct internal references accordingly.

4. Change the operative date and repealer sections so that sections 77-4105 and 77-4107 become operative on their effective date.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT - Print in Journal

Mr. Lindsay asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 934 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM3229

1. Insert the following new section:

"Sec. 6. That section 24-710, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

24-710. (1) The retirement annuity of a judge who is an original member, who has not made the election provided for in subsection (8) of section 24-703 or section 24-710.01, and who retires under section 24-708 or 24-709 shall be computed as follows: Each such judge shall be entitled to receive an annuity, each monthly payment of which shall be in an amount equal to three and one-third percent of his or her final average compensation as such judge, multiplied by the number of his or her total years of service. The amount stated in this section shall be supplemental to any benefits received by such judge under the Nebraska and federal old age and survivors' insurance acts at the date of retirement, but the monthly combined benefits received thereunder and by sections 24-701 to 24-714 shall not exceed sixty-five percent of the final average compensation such judge was receiving when he or she last served as such judge. The amount of retirement annuity of a judge who retires under section 24-708 or 24-709 shall not be less than twenty-five dollars per month if he or she has four years or more of service credit.

(2) The retirement annuity of a judge who is a future member and who retires after July 1, 1986, under section 24-708 or 24-709 shall be computed as follows: Each such judge shall be entitled to receive an annuity, each monthly payment of which shall be in an amount equal to three and one-third percent of his or her final average compensation as such judge, multiplied by the number of his or her total years of service, except that the monthly benefits received under this subsection shall not exceed sixty percent of the final average compensation such judge was receiving when he or she last served as such judge.

(3) Any member may, when filing an application as provided by the retirement system, elect to receive, in lieu of the normal form annuity benefits to which the member or his or her beneficiary may otherwise be entitled under sections 24-701 to 24-714, any form of annuity which the board may by rules and regulations provide, the value of which, determined by accepted actuarial methods and on the basis of actuarial assumptions recommended by the actuary, approved by the board, and kept on file in the office of the director, is equal to the value of the benefit replaced. The board shall promptly after September 2, 1973, (a) adopt and promulgate appropriate rules and regulations establishing joint and survivorship annuities, with and without reduction on the death of the first annuitant, and such other forms of annuities as may in its judgment be appropriate, (b) prescribe appropriate forms for making the election by the members, and (c) provide for the necessary actuarial services to make the required valuations.

(4) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in sections 24-701 to 24-714, the annual benefit payable under such sections shall not at any time exceed the lesser of (a) ninety thousand dollars, as adjusted for cost-of-living adjustments announced by the Internal Revenue Service for each calendar year in which the adjustment is announced, actuarially reduced to reflect distributions prior to age sixty-two, or (b) one hundred percent of the member's average compensation for the highest three consecutive calendar years of service during which the member was an active member in the retirement system provided by sections 24-701 to 24-714. The maximum amount shall be adjusted, when necessary, as follows: (i) When the annual benefit is payable under the retirement system to a member in a form other than a straight life annuity or a qualified joint and survivor annuity, the maximum amount shall be adjusted to the equivalent of a straight life annuity beginning at the same age on the basis of the actuarial assumptions referred to in subsection (3) of this section; and (ii) when the annual benefit is payable under the retirement system to a member who has less than ten years of service under the retirement system, the maximum amount shall be multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the member's number of years of service under the retirement system and the denominator of which is ten. For purposes of this subsection, qualified joint and survivor annuity means an annuity for the life of the member with not less than fifty percent nor more than one hundred percent of the amount the member was receiving being paid to the member's surviving spouse for the life of the spouse following the death of the member.

"Sec. 2. That section 42-358, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

42-358. (1) The court may appoint an attorney to protect the interests of any minor children of the parties. Such attorney shall be empowered to make independent investigations and to cause witnesses to appear and testify on matters pertinent to the welfare of the children. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

(2) Following entry of any decree, the court having jurisdiction over the minor children of the parties may at any time appoint an attorney, as friend of the court, to initiate contempt proceedings for failure of any party to comply with an order of the court directing such party to pay temporary or permanent child support. The county attorney or authorized attorney may be appointed by the court for the purposes provided in this section.

~~(2)~~ (3) The clerk of each district court shall maintain child support orders and delinquency records by the sums due to the court-ordered payee, except as provided in section 43-512.07, in each case docketed in which child support is fixed by order of the court. For support orders in all cases issued before September 6, 1991, and for support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, in cases in which no party has applied for services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, each month the clerk shall certify all cases in which the court-ordered child support or spousal support is delinquent in an amount equal to the support due and payable for a one-month period of time to the judge presiding over domestic relations cases and to the county attorney or authorized attorney. A rebuttable presumption of contempt shall be established if a prima facie showing is made that the court-ordered child or spousal support is delinquent.

In cases in which one of the parties receives services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, the clerk shall certify all support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, to the county attorney or authorized attorney.

In each case certified, income withholding shall be implemented pursuant to the Income Withholding for Child Support Act. If income withholding is not feasible and no other action is pending for the collection of support payments, the court shall appoint an attorney to commence contempt of court proceedings. If the county attorney or authorized attorney consents, he or she may be appointed for such purpose. The contempt proceeding shall be instituted within ten days following appointment, and the case shall be diligently prosecuted to completion. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. Any fees allowed for the services of any county attorney or authorized attorney shall be paid to the Department of Social Services when there is an assignment of support to the department pursuant to section 43-512.07 or when an application for child support services is on file with a county attorney or authorized attorney. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

~~(3)~~ (4) If, at the hearing, the person owing child or spousal support is called for examination as an adverse party and such person refuses to answer upon the ground that his or her testimony may be incriminating, the court may, upon the motion of the county attorney or authorized attorney, require the person to answer and produce the evidence. In such a case the evidence produced shall not be admissible in any criminal case against such person nor shall any evidence obtained because of the knowledge gained by such evidence be so admissible.

~~(4)~~ (5) The court may order access to all revenue information maintained by the Department of Revenue or other agencies concerning the income of persons liable or who pursuant to this section and sections 42-358.08 and 42-821 may be found liable to pay child or spousal support payments.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 260. Introduced by Moore, 24.

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Supreme Court has ruled that farm and business inventories be returned to the property tax rolls effective January 1, 1992; and

WHEREAS, the taxation of farm and business inventories as personal property will work an extreme hardship on the economic climate of Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature is poised to submit to the voters a constitutional amendment intended to allow the reinstatement of the exemption of such inventories from personal property tax; and

WHEREAS, the complexity of the issue is certain to give rise to voter confusion and frustration; and

WHEREAS, the Nebraska Legislature recognizes that a rejection by the voters of the constitutional amendment would result in almost all personal property being subject to taxation; and

WHEREAS, the taxation of business and farm inventories is unacceptable to the citizens of the state.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. Should the proposed constitutional amendment fail to be enacted, the Nebraska Legislature hereby urges the Governor to call a special session of the Legislature as soon as reasonably possible for the purpose of repealing all personal property taxes in the State of Nebraska.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92038

DATE:	March 9, 1992
SUBJECT:	Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, Rodenticide Act (FIFRA)
REQUESTED BY:	Senator W. Owen Elmer, Nebraska State Legislature
WRITTEN BY:	Don Stenberg, Attorney General Linda L. Willard, Assistant Attorney General

You have asked several questions regarding the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide, Rodenticide Act (FIFRA) and Legislative Bill 349. You first ask if the State of Nebraska is required to adopt a state program under FIFRA. Our answer is no. There is nothing in FIFRA which requires a state to adopt a state program in the area of insecticides, fungicides, and rodenticides. The Act states at 7 U.S.C. § 136w-1 that a state will have primary enforcement responsibility during any period for which the Administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) determines that the state laws and regulations and their implementation are "adequate." Presumably, "adequate" means whether the state laws and regulations are in conformity with the federal regulations. The Administrator cannot require that the state laws and regulations be more strict than the federal regulations, although a state may have laws or regulations that are more strict than the federal Act. This section also states that the Administrator shall have primary enforcement responsibility for those states that do not have primary enforcement responsibility.

Under 7 U.S.C. § 136v, states may regulate the sale and use of federally registered products under the Act but only to the extent that the state regulation does not permit a sale or use that is prohibited by the federal Act. Additionally, 7 U.S.C. § 136u permits the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency to enter into contracts with states to delegate the authority to cooperate in the enforcement of the Act and to cooperate in training and certification of applicators consistent with the standards the Administrator prescribes.

If state laws and regulations are adequate, the Administrator may enter into a contract with the state to allow the state to conduct the primary enforcement of insecticides, fungicides, and rodenticides. If the Administrator determines that a state is not adequately enforcing its own laws under its contract for primary enforcement, after appropriate procedures, the Administrator may rescind all or part of the contract with the state.

You next ask whether the two documents, "PROTECTING THE NATION'S GROUNDWATER: EPA'S STRATEGY FOR THE 1990'S, THE FINAL REPORT OF THE EPA GROUND-WATER TASK FORCE, JULY 1991" and "PESTICIDES AND GROUND-WATER STRATEGY, OCTOBER, 1991" published by the United States Environmental Protection Agency require the State of Nebraska to develop a State Management Plan for groundwater. Again our answer is no. Both of these documents clearly state that they are not regulatory documents and impose no requirement on any party. The documents are stated to be informational documents to advise the public of the strategy and plan which the federal government intends to implement in the areas in question. They advise the public of the direction the federal government will take in decision making based on current federal regulations and may give an indication of the course of future proposed regulations.

Since the documents in question "impose no requirement on any party," they do not require the State of Nebraska to develop a State Management Plan for groundwater. Nor would either of these documents require the state to take over primary enforcement of insecticides, fungicides, or rodenticides. Even if these documents state a preference for state enforcement of FIFRA issues, they do not impose such a duty on the state.

Your final question asks under what authority the two documents cited above have been drafted and whether they carry any legal responsibility to the State of Nebraska. It is unclear from the documents under what specific authority they were issued. Clearly, they are both publications of the United States Environmental Protection Agency. Apparently, from the introductory letter found immediately inside the cover of each document, the documents are intended to advise the public of EPA's policy which will guide federal efforts and serve as a guide to states with primary enforcement responsibility and, undoubtedly, as a guide to states, with or without primary enforcement responsibility, in drafting of statutes and regulations.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

CVIII-1 "The necessary revenue of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall be raised by taxation in such manner as the Legislature may direct. ~~Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all tangible property and franchises, except that: (1) The~~ Notwithstanding Article I, section 16, Article III, section 18, or Article VIII, section 4, of this Constitution or any other provision of this Constitution to the contrary: (1) Taxes shall be levied by valuation uniformly and proportionately upon all real property and franchises as defined by the Legislature except as otherwise provided in or permitted by this Constitution; (2) tangible personal property, as defined by the Legislature, not exempted by this Constitution or by legislation, shall all be taxed at depreciated cost using the same depreciation method with reasonable class lives, as determined by the Legislature, or shall all be taxed by valuation uniformly and proportionately; (3) the Legislature may provide for a different method of taxing motor vehicles and may also establish a separate class of motor vehicles consisting of those owned and held for resale by motor vehicle dealers which shall be taxed in the manner and to the extent provided by the Legislature and may also establish a separate class for trucks, trailers, semitrailers, truck-tractors, or combinations thereof, consisting of those owned by residents and nonresidents of this state, and operating in interstate commerce, and may provide reciprocal and proportionate taxation of such vehicles; PROVIDED, that such tax proceeds from motor vehicles taxed in each county shall be allocated to the ~~state,~~ counties, townships, cities, villages, ~~and~~ school districts, and other governmental subdivisions of such county in the same proportion that the levy of each bears to the total levy of the county on ~~personal tangible~~ taxable property; ~~and (2)~~ (4) the Legislature may provide that agricultural land and horticultural land, as defined by the Legislature, shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may provide for a different method of taxing agricultural land and horticultural land which results in values that are not uniform and proportionate with all other ~~tangible~~ real property and franchises but which results in values that are uniform and proportionate upon all property within the class of agricultural land and horticultural land; (5) the ~~. Taxes uniform as to class of property or the ownership or use thereof may be levied by valuation or otherwise upon classes of intangible property as the Legislature may determine, and such intangible property held in trust or otherwise for the purpose of funding pension, profit-sharing, or other employee benefit plans as defined by the Legislature may be declared exempt from taxation. Taxes other than property taxes may be authorized by law. Existing revenue laws shall continue in effect until changed by the Legislature. ~~The Legislature may provide that livestock shall constitute a separate and distinct class of property for purposes of taxation and may further provide for reciprocal and proportionate taxation of livestock located in this state for only part of a year.~~"

CVIII-2 "Notwithstanding Article I, section 16, Article III, section 18, or Article VIII, section 1 or 4, of this Constitution or any other provision of this Constitution to the contrary: (1) The property of the state and its governmental subdivisions shall constitute a separate class of property and shall be exempt from taxation; (2) the ~~. The~~ Legislature may define and classify personal property in such manner as it sees fit, whether by type, use, user, or owner, and may exempt any ~~of~~ such class or classes~~,~~ of property from taxation if such exemption is reasonable or may exempt all personal property from taxation; (10) no ~~. No~~ property shall be exempt from taxation except as permitted by or as provided in ~~the~~ this Constitution; and (11) the ~~. The~~ Legislature may by general law provide that a portion of the value of any residence actually occupied as a homestead by any classification of owners as determined by the Legislature shall be exempt from taxation."

CVIII-5 "County authorities shall never assess taxes the aggregate of which shall exceed fifty cents per one hundred dollars ~~actual valuation~~ of taxable value as determined by the assessment rolls, except for the payment of indebtedness existing at the adoption hereof, unless authorized by a vote of the people of the county."

CVIII-13 "Notwithstanding Article I, section 16, Article III, section 18, or Article VIII, section 1 or 4, of this Constitution or any other provision of this Constitution to the contrary, amendments to Article VIII of this Constitution passed in 1992 shall be effective from and after January 1, 1992, and existing revenue laws and legislative acts passed in the regular legislative session of 1992, not inconsistent with this Constitution as amended, shall be considered ratified and confirmed by such amendments without the need for legislative reenactment of such laws.".

Sec. 2. That the proposed amendment shall be submitted to the electors in the manner prescribed by the Constitution of Nebraska, Article XVI, section 1, with the following ballot language:

"A constitutional amendment to separate tangible personal property from the uniform and proportionate provision applicable to real property, to provide for the valuation of taxable tangible personal property at depreciated cost or at actual value uniformly and proportionately, to provide for the separate classification of property and franchises protected by federal law, to harmonize a provision relating to the limitation on county taxes, and to provide that legislation passed in the regular 1992 legislative session shall be effective January 1, 1992, and is ratified and confirmed by this amendment.

The Chair ruled that the vote to place the issue on the primary ballot superseded the vote to place the issue on the general election ballot; and that the resolution delivered to the Secretary of State would place the issue on the 1992 primary ballot only.

Messrs. Abboud and Lindsay asked unanimous consent to print the following amendment to LB 835 in the Journal. No objections. So ordered.

AM3463

"Section 1. That section 44-4233, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

44-4233. (1) Any insurer subject to premium and related retaliatory tax liability imposed by section 44-150 or 77-908 may offset assessments paid to the pool by such insurer ~~in a calendar year~~ against its tax liability ~~for that year~~ in the year of payment or subsequent years. The insurer may offset such paid assessments against subsequent premium tax prepayments required by section 77-918 or subsequent premium tax payments required by section 77-908. No individual insurer shall be subject to any liability of the pool in excess of its premium and related retaliatory tax liability which may be offset under this section.

(2) Commencing with assessments imposed or paid in 1992 and for all subsequent years, whenever it reasonably appears to the satisfaction of the board that an insurer has during a calendar year paid assessments that exceed that insurer's premium and related retaliatory tax liability for that calendar year, the board shall, upon request from such insurer, order the refund to that insurer of the amount of the assessment that exceeded that insurer's premium and related retaliatory tax liability. An insurer's request for a refund shall be filed with the board within thirty days of that insurer's payment or determination of its premium and related retaliatory tax liability. If the refund is not made by the board within thirty days of receipt of the refund request, the insurer may within thirty days thereafter initiate a suit in district court for the amount claimed. The suit shall be heard by the district court de novo. In the event that an assessment against a member is limited by reason of that insurer's premium and related retaliatory tax liability, the amount by which the assessment is limited may be assessed against the other members in a manner consistent with the basis for assessments specified in subsection (3) of section 44-4225.

Sec. 2. That original section 44-4233, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, is repealed.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92041

DATE: March 12, 1992

SUBJECT: Waiver of Penalty and Interest for the Omission or Failure to Report Personal Property for Taxation Under Neb.Rev.Stat. § 77-1233.04(4) (Reissue 1990).

REQUESTED BY: Senator Rex Haberman
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion as to the application of the provision for the waiver of penalty and interest for failure to timely report personal property for tax purposes presently provided for under Neb.Rev.Stat. § 77-1233.04(4) (Reissue 1990), in light of what you refer to as the "considerable confusion" faced by taxpayers regarding their responsibility for filing personal property tax returns for tax year 1992. You state that, based on our response to your question, you are considering amendatory legislation.

Neb.Rev.Stat. § 77-1229 (Reissue 1990) provides: "Every person required to list property shall make out and verify by a statement of all personal property which he or she is required to list,". . ."on forms {which} shall be furnished to each taxpayer by the county assessor . . . for that purpose," which forms "shall be delivered to the county assessor on or before March 1 of each year, ..." Section 77-1229 further allows county assessors, "upon receiving an application made prior to March 1 of each year showing hardship or impossibility of meeting such date for reasons beyond the control of the applicant," to "extend the time for compliance, but not beyond March 31." As you note in your request, some county assessors have granted "blanket extensions" to extend the filing deadline for personal property tax returns for 1992 to March 31, 1992, while other county assessors have not provided such "blanket extensions."

As we understand your request, it appears your particular question is whether, in light of the fact that the exemption of certain personal property, consisting of personal property previously exempted under Neb.Rev.Stat. § 77-202(6)-(9), was declared unconstitutional under the tax scheme existing in 1990 in MAPCO Ammonia Pipeline, Inc. v. State Bd. of Equal., 238 Neb. 565, 471 N.W.2d 734 (1991), and the fact that all personal property was exempted for 1991 under 1991 Neb. Laws, LB 829, § 7, such personal property would qualify as property "not required to be reported in previous years" within the meaning of the mandatory waiver of penalty and interest provision of § 77-1233.04(4).

Prior to addressing your question, we believe it is appropriate to address the manner in which omitted or unreported personal property is assessed under § 77-1233.04. Pursuant to subsection (2) of § 77-1233.04, the county assessor must list "personal property omitted from or not returned on a personal property tax return," and add "a penalty of fifty percent of the tax due." Interest is also assessed on both the tax and penalty, "from the date the tax would have been delinquent until paid." Subsection (3) of § 77-1233.04 requires the county assessor to send notice to the taxpayer of action taken pursuant to subsection (2), including notice of "the taxpayer's appeal rights and the appeal procedures." Subsection (4) gives the county assessor discretion to "waive all or part of the penalty assessed and any interest thereon," with the approval of the county board of equalization. This subsection also provides for the mandatory waiver of penalty and interest "if the omission or failure to return any item of personal property was for the reason that the property was not required to be reported in previous years or the property was timely reported in the wrong taxing district." This entire process, therefore, is triggered by affirmative action on the part of the assessor to list personal property for tax purposes when property is omitted or a return is not filed.

In addition, § 77-1233.05 addresses the situation where a taxpayer voluntarily files a return or voluntarily lists omitted property "after the final date for returning such property has passed for the current tax period. . . ." Under these circumstances, "a penalty of ten percent of the amount of the tax due" is added, as well as interest "upon such penalty from the date of delinquency of the tax until paid." The county assessor "may waive all or part of the penalty and the interest on the penalty," with the approval of the county board of equalization. In addition, § 77-1233.05 provides that "{i}f the omission or failure to return or report property was caused by the fact that such property had not been required to be reported in previous years. . . , the entire penalty and the interest on the penalty shall be waived." Thus, under § 77-1233.05, a different penalty is provided when a taxpayer voluntarily reports property after the filing deadline, as opposed to the penalty applicable under § 77-1233.04, which deals with action taken by the county assessor to list and value omitted or unreported property.

In essence, therefore, your question entails consideration of whether the mandatory waiver of penalty and interest provided for under either §§ 77-1233.04 or 77-1233.05 for omitted or unreported property is applicable to personal property not timely reported for tax year 1992 based on the language excusing any penalty and interest if the omission or failure to return property was because such property "was not required to be reported in previous years," in view of the previous exemption of personal property under LB 829 for tax year 1991, as well as previous legislative enactments exempting certain personal property.

As a general rule,

> {u}nder statutes so providing penalties are imposed against property owners for failure or refusal to make a list, report, or statement of their taxable property, or for property omitted therefrom. It has been held that the requirements of such a statute are mandatory, and that the assessor has no discretion as to the imposition of the penalty and must impose it in all instances where the taxpayer fails to list his taxable property within the required time.
> The penalty imposed for the failure of property owners to make a list, report or statement of their taxable property is imposed only for the breach of a duty by the taxpayer. It is only when the taxpayer is at fault or to blame for failure to comply with the requirements of the statute that a penalty may be exacted.

85 C.J.S. Taxation § 1025 a. and c. (1954).

While there are no Nebraska cases directly on point, the decision in Misle v. Miller, 176 Neb. 113, 125 N.W.2d 512 (1963), is instructive. Misle was an action brought by the taxpayers to recover penalties added to taxes paid for tax year 1959. The taxpayers had filed a list reporting the value of their inventory with the Lancaster County Assessor on April 20, 1959, and subsequently filed additional lists with the assessor after such date. The assessor, pursuant to former § 77-1235, added fifty percent of the value of the subsequently filed inventory as a penalty. The taxpayers alleged that, as the Nebraska Legislature had, between February and June of 1959, enacted three separate bills altering the date by which personal property tax returns were required to be filed, such action made it "impossible to comply with the law relating to the listing of personal property for taxation that existed from time to time in the year 1959." Id at 115-16, 125 N.W.2d at 514. The court agreed, stating: "An examination of the statutes in force throughout the year 1959 with respect to the time of filing of personal tax schedules makes it abundantly clear that the plaintiffs' contention that no timely compliance could be made thereunder is correct." Id. at 116, 125 N.W.2d at 514.

Furthermore, in Johnson Fruit Co. v. Story, 171 Neb. 310, 313, 106 N.W.2d 182, 185 (1960), the court, discussing the interpretation of penal statutes of this nature, stated:

> {A} penalty statute. . .must be strictly construed. Its import may not be extended by construction. Such a statute may not be applied to situations or parties not fairly or clearly within its provisions. While the facts involved in Misle are not identical to those involved in the situation posed by your question, it is evident that, in view of proposed legislation and constitutional amendments currently before the Legislature, alteration of the manner of assessment and time for listing personal property for taxation for 1992 is a clear possibility. Indeed, § 98 of LB 1063 would, if enacted, amend § 77-1229 to require the filing of personal property tax forms on or before June 1, 1992. We also note that §§ 102 and 103 of LB 1063 would remove the specific language previously referred to in §§ 77-1234.04(4) and 77-1233.05 mandating the waiver of penalty and interest where the failure to list or report property was due to the fact that such "was not required to be reported in previous years." The discretionary authority granted to county assessors to waive penalty and interest, with the approval of the county board of equalization, would be retained under §§ 102 and 103 of LB 1063.

It could be argued that, given the state of uncertainty regarding the system of personal property taxation for 1992, it would be inequitable to attempt to penalize taxpayers who did not list all personal property by March 1, or, if a "blanket extension" has been granted by a particular county, do not do so by March 31. Indeed, proposals before the Legislature to enact legislative and constitutional changes which are intended to affect the current tax year would alter the date by which such lists must be filed, thus eliminating the need to apply the March 1 (or March 31) deadline applicable under current law.

Even if the mandatory waiver of penalty and interest provisions of §§ 77-1233.04(4) and 77-1233.05 remain in effect and are deemed inapplicable, it would seem that fundamental fairness would require that county boards of equalization exercise their authority to direct county assessors to waive any penalty and interest required under these provisions in appropriate cases, given the obvious dilemma facing taxpayers as a result of the uncertainty existing under present circumstances. In view of the strict construction applicable to penalty provisions of this nature, it would seem wholly inappropriate to penalize all taxpayers under these provisions, particularly those who voluntarily file personal property tax schedules subsequent to the time required by statute.

In order to avoid any attempted application of such penalties, however, we note that the Legislature may properly enact amendatory legislation clarifying that any penalties and interest provided for under §§ 77-1233.04 and 77-1233.05 are to be waived or remitted with respect to personal property taxes for 1992, as such penalties, being dependent upon existence of statute, cannot be collected if the statute providing for such has been repealed or has been amended to require their waiver or remission. Tukey v. Douglas County, 133 Neb. 732, 277 N.W. 57 (1938). This is so, of course, because a penalty imposed for not reporting taxable property, or the failure to report such within the statutory period, is not part of the tax. Steinacher v. Swanson, 131 Neb. 439, 268 N.W. 317 (1936); Tukey v. Douglas County, supra.

Very truly yours,

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92042

DATE: March 13, 1992

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of Section 3, Subsection 3, of LB 1127

REQUESTED BY: DiAnna Schimek, Senator

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Laurie Smith Camp, Assistant Attorney General

You have asked whether or not the following provision in Section 3, Subsection 3, of LB 1127, is constitutional:

> When making a decision regarding a parole of an offender convicted of a Class I, IA, or IB felony, a vote of four members of the Board shall be required.

Specifically, you expressed concern about whether the requirement of a "super-majority" of four members of the Board of Parole to grant parole in certain cases is in conflict with Article IV Section 13 of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska which provides in part:

> Said Board, or majority thereof, shall have power to grant paroles after conviction and judgment, under such conditions as may be prescribed by law, for any offenses committed against the criminal laws of the State except treason and cases of impeachment.

We conclude that the provisions of Section 3, Subsection 3, of LB 1127 are constitutional.

It is a basic principle of constitutional interpretation that each and every clause in a constitution has been inserted for some useful purpose. In re Application A-16642, 236 Neb. 671 (1990); Anderson v. Tiemann, 182 Neb. 393 (1967). Constitutional provisions must be construed as a whole, and no part will be rejected as meaningless or surplusage, if such can be avoided. State ex rel. State Ry. Com'n v. Ramsey, 151 Neb. 333 (1949); Mekota v. State Board of Equalization and Assessment, 146 Neb. 370 (1945). The meaning of a constitutional provision is to be determined as of the time of its adoption, and the intent and understanding of its framers and the people who adopted it is the principal inquiry in construing it. State ex rel. State Ry. Com'n, supra.

If Article IV Section 13 of the Nebraska Constitution were intended to mandate that a majority of the Board of Parole have the power to grant paroles, then the language of the section contains surplusage inserted for no useful purpose. Instead, the section provides: "Said Board, or a majority thereof, shall have the power to grant paroles . . . ." Article IV Section 13 also states: "The Legislature shall provide by law for the establishment of a Board of Parole" and that the Board's power to grant paroles may be exercised "under such conditions as may be prescribed by law . . . ."

To give meaning to the clauses cited above, it must be concluded that the legislature has the authority to prescribe conditions which the Board of Parole must follow when determining whether or not to grant a parole. For example, the legislature prescribes maximum and minimum limits for offenses, goodtime provisions used to calculate parole eligibility, conditions for release on parole, and grounds for deferring parole. See, e.g., Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 83-1,107; 83-1,107.01; 83-1, 108; 83-1,110; and 83-1,114 (Reissue 1987). Because the Nebraska Constitution recognizes that conditions may be prescribed by law for the parole of offenders, one such condition could be that the parole of a certain class of offenders be only upon a unanimous or "super-majority" vote of the members of the Board.

Finally, although the legislative history of Article IV Section 13 is not determinative of the intent of the public when it voted to amend the Constitution, that history indicates that the legislature was expected to have significant latitude to establish a statutory structure for the creation and operation of a Board of Parole. The provisions of Section 3, Subsection 3, of LB 1127 do not contradict either the letter or the apparent intent of Article IV, Section 13, of the Nebraska Constitution.

Sincerely,
(Signed) Laurie Smith Camp
Assistant Attorney General

Messrs. Beutler and Wickersham offered the following substitute amendment:
AM3527

1. Strike the original sections and all amendments thereto and insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. The Legislature recognizes that water is one of Nebraska's most valuable natural resources and that the management, conservation, and beneficial use of ground water and surface water are essential to the continued economic prosperity and well-being of the state. The Legislature acknowledges that an integrated ground water and surface water management system is needed in order to optimize use of interrelated ground and surface waters upon which public water suppliers depend for water supply. It is the intent of the Legislature that public water suppliers with well fields dependent upon induced ground water recharge may make application for instream appropriations under sections 46-2,107 to 46-2,119.

Sec. 2. That section 46-202, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-202. (1) The water of every natural stream not heretofore appropriated within the State of Nebraska, including the Missouri River, is hereby declared to be the property of the public and is dedicated to the use of the people of the state, subject to appropriation.

(2) The water of every natural stream within the State of Nebraska, including the Missouri River, appropriated for storage in a surface reservoir or for underground water storage, is hereby declared to be subject to further appropriation for recovery and beneficial use.

(3) The water of every natural stream within the State of Nebraska, including the Missouri River, is hereby declared to be subject to appropriation for beneficial use, including induced ground water recharge, by public water suppliers pursuant to section 46-2,107 to 46-2,119.

Sec. 3. That section 46-288, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-288. For purposes of ~~sections 46-288 and 46-289, unless the context otherwise requires, the following definitions shall be used~~ this section and section 46-289:

(1) Basin of origin shall mean the river basin in which the point or proposed point of diversion of water is located;

(2) Beneficial use shall include, but not be limited to, reasonable and efficient use of water for domestic, municipal, agricultural, industrial, commercial, power production, subirrigation, fish and wildlife, ground water recharge, an interstate compact, water quality maintenance, or recreational purposes. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed to affect the preferences for use of surface water as provided in section 46-204;

(3) Interbasin transfer shall mean the diversion of water in one river basin and the transportation of such water to another river basin for storage or utilization for a beneficial use except any transfers made by a public water supplier as defined in section 46-638 associated with an instream appropriation or pursuant to a permit issued under section 46-642; and

(4) River basin shall mean any of the following natural hydrologic basins of the state, with delineations being those on the Nebraska river basin map officially adopted by the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission and on file in the commission's office on August 30, 1981: (a) The White River and Hat Creek basin; (b) the Niobrara River basin; (c) the Platte River basin, including the North Platte and South Platte River basins, except that for purposes of transfer between the North and South Platte River basins each shall be considered a separate river basin; (d) the Loup River basin; (e) the Elkhorn River basin; (f) the Republican River basin; (g) the Little Blue River basin; (h) the Big Blue River basin; (i) the Nemaha River basin; and (j) the Missouri tributaries basin.

Sec. 4. That section 46-2,107, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,107. The Legislature finds that the maintenance, conservation, management, storage, and timely release of the waters of the natural streams within the State of Nebraska are in the public interest and are practices essential to the well-being of present and future generations. In furtherance of these practices, the public interest demands the recognition of instream uses for ~~fish,~~ recreation, public water supply through induced ground water recharge, and fish and wildlife. The Legislature also finds that proposals for future water development should fully consider multiple uses, including instream flows whether from natural flow or from reservoir releases, and recognizes the positive impact of impoundments which can provide significant instream flow benefits.

Sec. 5. That section 46-2,108, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,108. (1) As used in sections 46-2,107 to 46-2,119:

(a) Induced ground water recharge shall mean the process by which water withdrawn from wells, subsurface collectors, or other facilities near a stream is replaced by stream water;

(b) Instream ~~, unless the context otherwise requires, instream~~ appropriation shall mean the undiverted application of the waters of a natural stream within or bordering upon the state for recreation, ~~or~~ fish and wildlife, or induced ground water recharge for public water supply; and

(c) Public water supplier shall have the definition found in section 46-638. ~~purposes.~~

(2) An instream appropriation for recreation or fish and wildlife may be obtained only by the Game and Parks Commission or a natural resources district. An instream appropriation for induced ground water recharge for public water supply may be obtained only by a public water supplier. No instream appropriation shall exceed ~~and only for~~ that amount of water reasonably necessary for ~~recreation or fish and wildlife~~ the designated use. The instream use of water for recreation, ~~or~~ fish and wildlife, or induced ground water recharge for public water supply shall be considered a beneficial use of water.

Sec. 6. That section 46-2,109, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,109. Each natural resources district, each public water supplier, and the Game and Parks Commission shall conduct studies to identify specific stream segments which the district, supplier, or commission considers to have a critical need for instream flows. Such studies shall quantify the instream flow needs in the identified stream segments. Any district, any supplier, or the Game and Parks Commission may request the assistance of the Conservation and Survey Division of the University of Nebraska, the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, the Game and Parks Commission, the Department of Environmental Control, the Department of Water Resources, or any other state agency in order to comply with this section.

Sec. 7. That section 46-2,110, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,110. Following notice and a public hearing, any natural resources district, any public water supplier, or the Game and Parks Commission may file with the Director of Water Resources an application for a permit to appropriate water for instream flows in each stream segment identified pursuant to section 46-2,109. The application shall include the locations on the stream at which the need for instream flows begins and ends and the time of year when instream flows are most critical. The application shall also provide a detailed description of the amount of water necessary to provide adequate instream flows.

Sec. 8. That section 46-2,115, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,115. An application for an instream appropriation shall be approved by the Director of Water Resources if he or she finds that:

(1) There is unappropriated water available to provide for the instream appropriation;

(2) The appropriation is necessary to maintain the instream use or uses for which the appropriation has been requested;

(3) The appropriation will not interfere with any senior surface water appropriation;

(4) The rate and timing of the flow is the ~~minimum~~ amount reasonably necessary to maintain the instream use or uses for which the appropriation has been requested; and

(5) The application is in the public interest.

The application may be granted for a rate of flow that is less than that requested by the applicant or for a shorter period of time than requested by the applicant.

The director shall assign as the priority date for the instream appropriation the date of the application.

When granting an application to a public water supplier, the director shall specify what portion of the total appropriation is devoted to domestic, irrigation, manufacturing, and such other uses as may be identified. The exercise of preferences through just compensation to inferior users shall extend to the various portions of a public water supplier's appropriation.

Sec. 9. That section 46-2,116, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

46-2,116. In determining whether an application for an instream appropriation is in the public interest, the director's considerations shall include, but not be limited to, the ~~director shall consider the following factors:~~

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92044

DATE: March 16, 1992

SUBJECT: LB 1172 - Federal Preemption of Requirement That Two-Way Communicating Devices or Occupied Cabooses be Used by Trains Operating Between Specified Locations in Nebraska.

REQUESTED BY: Senator Dennis Byars
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion regarding whether certain provisions of LB 1172 seek to impose requirements on trains operating between certain locations in Nebraska which are in contravention of federal law.

Section 2 of LB 1172 contains a legislative declaration "that the operation of trains without satisfactory communicating devices or crew members on board creates a local safety hazard, especially in the areas specified in section 3 of this act." Section 2 further provides, in part: "In order to minimize such local safety hazard the Legislature hereby directs that trains operating between the areas specified in section 3 of this act shall (1) be equipped with either an occupied caboose or communicating devices that meet the requirements of section 4 of this act. . . ."

Subsection (1) of section 4 of the bill provides: "Whenever a train operates between any of the locations specified in section 3 of this act, the train shall be equipped with a communicating device on both the front of the train and the last car of the train." The term "communicating device" is defined as "a radio transmitter and receiver system or other electronic equipment that transmits" certain specific information "to the engineer in the front of the train," including:

(a) Break pipe pressure at the rear car of the train displayed in increments of one pound per square inch;
(b) Rear car movement;
(c) Whether the rear marker light is operating;
(d) Available battery life powering the communicating device;
(e) Interruption of the communicating device radio transmissions; and
(f) Distance in feet the train has traveled from a given point for the purpose of establishing rear of train location.

Subsection (2) of section 4 further provides: "Communicating devices installed on a train in conformity with this section shall also be equipped so that emergency braking of the train can be initiated by activation of the communicating device placed on the last car of the train from the front of the train."

The primary issue raised by your request concerns whether the requirements sought to be imposed pursuant to the above-cited provisions of LB 1172 are preempted by federal law. For the reasons outlined below, it is our conclusion that the requirements proposed under LB 1172 are preempted by federal law.

In Attorney General Opinion No. 87090, July 1, 1987, we addressed at length the principle of federal preemption under the supremacy clause of the U.S. Constitution in considering whether a statute requiring certain trains operating in Nebraska without a manned caboose be equipped with an operable telemetry system was preempted by federal law. In this opinion, we concluded that the telemetry device requirement imposed by this statute was void as having been preempted by federal law, and, we advised the Public Service Commission that it should not seek to enforce this requirement. Id. at 5. Our analysis of the preemption issues raised in your present request as to the validity of LB 1172 requires us to revisit the principles addressed in our previous opinion.

The Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution renders void any state laws that "interfere with or are contrary to" federal law. Hillsborough County v. Automated Medical Laboratories, Inc., 471 U.S. 707, 7112 (1985) (quoting Gibbons v. Ogden, 9 Wheat. 1, 211 (1824)); U.S. Const., art. VI, cl. 2. The crucial inquiry in preemption cases concerns whether Congress has manifested an intent to preclude the challenged state statute or regulation. Malone v. White Motor Corp., 435 U.S. 497 (1978). A congressional intent to preempt may be explicitly expressed by federal statute, or may be implicit in its structure and purpose. Jones v. Rath Packing Co., 430 U. S. 519 (1977); See also Pacific Gas and Electric Co. v. State Energy Resources Commission, 461 U.S. 190 (1983) Ray v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 435 U.S. 151 (1978); Rice v. Santa Fe Elevator Corp., 331 U.S. 218 (1947). In determining whether the requirements pertaining to communicating devices in LB 1172 are preempted under federal law, it is necessary to consider two federal statutory schemes regulating railroads, the Locomotive Boiler Inspection Act {LBIA}, 45 U.S.C. § 22 et seq. (1988), and the Federal Railroad Safety Act {FRSA}, 45 U.S.C. § 421 et seq. (1988).

The LBIA, as amended by Act of March 4, 1915, ch. 169, 38 Stat. 1192, granted the Interstate Commerce Commission the power to prescribe and regulate "all parts and appurtenances" of locomotives. 45 U.S.C. § 23. That power was transferred to the Secretary of Transportation in 1966. See 45 U.S.C. § 23; 49 U.S.C. § 1655(e)(1)(E). Federal regulation of locomotive equipment under the LBIA has been held to completely preempt the field regarding the regulation of locomotive equipment, precluding any state or local regulation on the same subject. Napier v. Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Co., 272 U.S. 605 (1926). The prohibition against state legislation in this area "extends to the design, the construction and the material of every part of the locomotive and tender and of all the appurtenances." Id. at 611. The rule in Napier was reaffirmed in Consolidated Rail Corp. v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, 536 F. Supp. 653 (E.D.Pa. 1982), aff'd mem., 696 F.2d 981

(3d Cir. 1982), aff'd sum. sub nom., Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission v. Consolidated Rail Corp., 461 U.S. 912 (1983) (Pennsylvania regulation requiring speed recorders and indicators to be placed on locomotives held preempted by the LBIA).

The FRSA, unlike the LBIA, contains an express preemption provision:

> The Congress declares that laws, regulations, orders, and standards relating to railroad safety shall be nationally uniform to the extent practicable. A State may adopt or continue in force any law, rule, regulation, order, or standard relating to railroad safety until such time as the Secretary has adopted a rule, regulation, order or standard covering the subject matter of such State requirement. A State may adopt or continue in force an additional or more stringent law, rule, regulation, order or standard relating to railroad safety when necessary to eliminate or reduce an essentially local safety hazard, and when not incompatible with any Federal law, rule, regulation, order, or standard, and when not creating an undue burden on interstate commerce.

45 U.S.C. § 434 (1988).

Section 434 expressly declares a congressional intent to establish a nationally uniform system of regulation in the field of rail safety. National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners v. Coleman, 542 F.2d 11 (3d Cir. 1976). The FRSA allows state railroad safety regulation of areas not covered by the "subject matter" of rules adopted by the federal government. A state may regulate railroad safety in the same areas as the federal government, however, only: (1) "when necessary to eliminate or reduce an essentially local safety hazard"; (2) "when not incompatible with any Federal law, rule, regulation, order or standard"; and (3) "when not creating an undue burden on interstate commerce." 45 U.S.C. § 434 (1988); Consolidated Rail Corp. v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission, supra; Donelon v. New Orleans Terminal Co., 474 F.2d 1108 (5th Cir.), cert. denied, 414 U.S. 855 (1973). If a state rule or regulation reaching a federally-addressed rail safety issue is to survive preemption under the FRSA, the state must satisfy each of the elements of this narrow exception. National Association of Regulatory Utilities Commissioners v. Coleman, supra; Donelon v. New Orleans Terminal Co., supra.

With respect to the application of the LBIA, it is evident that the total preemptive effect of the LBIA precludes any state efforts to impose requirements for additional locomotive equipment. Napier v. Atlantic Coast Railroad Co., supra; See also Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, 833 F.2d 570, 576 n.7 (5th Cir. 1987) ("State attempts to prescribe any locomotive safety equipment must necessarily fail.") (Emphasis in original). It is evident that the "communicating device" provision of LB 1172 would require the installation and use of additional equipment on the locomotives of certain trains, in contravention of these principles. Specifically, section 4 of the bill requires that such devices include installation of "a radio transmitter and receiver system or other electronic equipment" that transmits certain information "to the engineer in the front of the train." The device is required to display specific information regarding brake pipe pressure at the rear car of the train, rear car movement, battery life, whether the rear marker light is operating, interruption of the communicating device radio transmission, and distance in feet travelled. LB 1172, § 4(1). The device must also be capable of sending a signal to the "end-of-train" device placed on the last car of the train to initiate an "emergency braking" of the train. LB 1172, § 4(2).

As noted previously, a state requirement that railroads equip locomotives with speed recorders or indicators was declared to have been preempted under the LBIA. Consolidated Rail Corp. v. Pennsylvania Public Utility Comm'n, 536 F. Supp. 653 (E.D.Pa. 1982), aff'd mem., 696 F.2d 981 (3d. Cir. 1982), aff'd sum. sub nom. Pennsylvania Public Utility Comm'n v. Consolidated Rail Corp., 461 U.S. 912 (1983). In addition, the radio communication requirements imposed under regulations adopted by the State of Texas were declared to have been preempted by the LBIA in Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, 671 F.Supp. 461 (W. D. Texas 1987), aff'd on other grounds, 850 F.2d 264 (5th Cir. 1988), cert. denied 488 U.S. 1009 (1989). In light of this authority, it is our opinion that, as the "communicating device" required under LB 1172 would, necessarily, mandate installation of equipment on locomotives not required by federal law, the imposition of such a requirement by state statute is preempted under the LBIA.[1]

Even if the provisions of LB 1172 could withstand a preemption challenge under the LBIA, we believe that the requirements sought to be imposed under the bill would also be held to contravene the FRSA, and, as such, would be preempted on this basis. While section 1 of LB 1172 contains a declaration that the requirements sought to be imposed are intended to address a "local safety hazard," it is our opinion that the requirements sought to be enacted under the bill do not fall within the "local safety hazard" exception to the FRSA.

The FRSA allows state railroad safety regulation of areas not covered by the "subject matter" of rules adopted by the federal government. A state may regulate railroad safety in the same area as the federal government only: (1) "when necessary to eliminate or reduce an essentially local safety hazard"; (2) "when not incompatible with any Federal law, rule, regulation, order or standard"; and (3) "when not creating an undue burden on interstate commerce." 45 U.S.C. § 434 (1988). In order for a state rule or regulation reaching a federally-addressed rail safety issue to survive preemption under the FRSA, it must satisfy each of the elements of this narrow exception. National Association of Regulatory Commissioners v. Coleman, 542 F.2d 11 (3d Cir. 1976).

There can be no question that the federal government has enacted rules or regulations covering the "subject matter" sought to be addressed by LB 1172. In 1986, the Federal Railroad Administration {FRA} considered and rejected both a possible caboose requirement and a possible two-way "telemetry" device requirement similar to that proposed under LB 1172. See 51 Fed. Reg. 17,300-301 (1986). The FRA did promulgate regulations in 1986 which set forth specifications for certain telemetry devices which it would permit to be used on trains subject to its jurisdiction. 49 C.F.R. § 232.19. In doing so, however, the FRA expressly rejected any requirement that either occupied cabooses or communicating devices such as required under LB 1172 were either necessary or appropriate. Such a ruling is tantamount to a determination that no such regulation is appropriate. See Ray v. Atlantic Richfield Co., 435 U.S. 151, 179 (1978). ("'{W}here failure of . . . federal officials affirmatively to exercise their full authority takes on the character of a ruling that no such regulation is appropriate or approved pursuant to the policy of the statute,' states are not permitted to use their police power to enact such a regulation.") (quoting Bethlehem Steel Co. v. New York State Labor Relations Board, 330 U.S. 767, 774 (1947)). See also Burlington Northern Railroad Co. v. State of Minnesota, supra; Burlington Northern Railroad Co. v. State of Montana, supra; Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, supra. Accordingly, it is clear that the "subject matter" addressed in LB 1172 has been covered by regulations adopted by the FRA.

As to the potential applicability of the "local safety hazard" exception under the FRSA to LB 1172, we do not believe that the requirements sought to be imposed under the bill can satisfy each of the three elements necessary for application of the exception.

First, while section 1 of LB 1172 declares the occupied caboose or communicating device requirements are necessary to address "local safety hazard" concerns in areas specified in section 3 of the bill, it does not identify what specific "local safety hazard" issues are sought to be remedied by imposing such requirements in these areas. When the State of Oregon imposed telemetry equipment requirements on cabooseless trains operating through assertedly "local safety hazard" areas, which were defined to include areas where track grades, urban development, or certain rail-highway grade-crossings existed, the federal district court held that the "local safety hazard" exception was inapplicable:

> The hazards defined by PUCO are not peculiar to the State of Oregon; they involve the types of terrain and crossings that commonly > occur throughout the national railroad system. . . .Indeed, the hazards as defined occur throughout the rail routes in the State of Oregon and are for practical purposes statewide. For this reason, PUCO's . . . regulations are not allowed under the local safety hazard exception.

Union Pacific Railroad Co. v. Public Utility Comm'n of Oregon, 723 F.Supp. 526, 530 (D. Or. 1989).

While we are not aware of the basis upon which the specified areas in section 3 of LB 1172 were selected as identifying particular "local safety hazard" areas, we question whether these particular locations pose hazards unique to the overall railway system in the State of Nebraska, and, more importantly, whether such areas present hazards peculiar to the State of Nebraska which do not exist throughout the national railroad system.

As to the second element of the "local safety hazard" exception, we also must question whether the provisions of LB 1172 can be deemed compatible with existing federal regulations. In particular, we are concerned with the requirement of section 4(2) of the bill, which mandates that a "communicating device" be capable of initiating "emergency braking" by activation "of the device placed on the last car of the train from the front of the train." The regulations adopted by the FRA provide that any end- of-train device must be "{d}esigned so that an internal failure will not cause an undesired emergency brake application." 49 C.F.R. § 232.19(b)(3). A state statute requiring that trains be equipped with devices which are specifically designed to permit such emergency braking capability simply cannot be reconciled with a federal regulatory requirement that end-of-train devices be designed to be incapable of accidental brake application.

Finally, and most importantly, the "local safety hazard" exception is not applicable if the state law places an undue burden on interstate commerce. As the Fifth Circuit stated: "{I}t is difficult to imagine a state regulation of the train itself, as opposed to the right-of-way, which could escape being a burden upon commerce under Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, of the United States Constitution." Missouri Pacific Railroad v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, supra, 850 F.2d at 268. The adoption and enforcement of the requirements imposed under LB 1172 could result in trains being stopped or delayed for noncompliance. At the minimum, compliance with such requirements would require railroads operating trains within the areas specified in section 3 of the bill to either operate with occupied cabooses or a "communicating device" throughout the state (and, likely, outside the state), or would require railroads with trains passing through such areas to couple and uncouple cabooses. Under an even more unlikely scenario, the bill would require that special equipment ("communicating devices") be added to such trains while operating in these areas, but not in other portions of the state or outside the State of Nebraska. Under either circumstance, it is difficult to imagine how the imposition of such requirements would not constitute an impermissible burden on interstate commerce.

In conclusion, it is our opinion that, for the reasons stated above, the requirements sought to be imposed on the operation of trains in the State of Nebraska under LB 1172 are preempted by federal law.

[1] The option provided under LB 1172, allowing trains not equipped with a "communicating device" to operate in the locations specified in section 3 of the bill if such are equipped with an "occupied caboose," cannot save the bill from invalidity, as the Eighth Circuit has expressly held that such an "occupied caboose" requirement is preempted under the FRSA. Burlington Northern Railroad Co. v. State of Minnesota, 882 F.2d 1349 (8th Cir. 1989). Accord, Burlington Northern Railroad Co. v. State of Montana, 880 F.2d 1104 (9th Cir. 1989); Missouri Pacific Railroad v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, supra.

(4) For purposes of this section, racial integration is aided if a student transfers to an option school district in which his or her race is a smaller percentage of the total student enrollment of the option school district than it is of the student's resident school district.".

2. On page 13, after line 8, insert the following new subsection:

77-2716. (1) The following adjustments to federal adjusted gross income or, for corporations and fiduciaries, federal taxable income shall be made for interest or dividends received:

(a) There shall be subtracted interest or dividends received by the owner of obligations of the United States and its territories and possessions or of any authority, commission, or instrumentality of the United States to the extent includable in gross income for federal income tax purposes but exempt from state income taxes under the laws of the United States;

(c) There shall be added interest or dividends received by the owner of obligations of the District of Columbia, other states of the United States, or their political subdivisions, authorities, commissions, or instrumentalities to the extent excluded in the computation of gross income for federal income tax purposes except that such interest or dividends shall not be added if received by a corporation which is a regulated investment company;

(d) There shall be added that portion of the total dividends and other income received from a regulated investment company which is attributable to obligations described in subdivision (c) of this subsection and excluded for federal income tax purposes as reported to the recipient by the regulated investment company; and

(e)(i) Any amount subtracted under this subsection shall be reduced by any interest on indebtedness incurred to carry the obligations or securities described in this subsection or the investment in the regulated investment company and by any expenses incurred in the production of interest or dividend income described in this subsection to the extent that such expenses, including amortizable bond premiums, are deductible in determining federal taxable income.

(ii) Any amount added under this subsection shall be reduced by any expenses incurred in the production of such income to the extent disallowed in the computation of federal taxable income.

(2) There shall be allowed a net operating loss derived from or connected with Nebraska sources computed under rules and regulations adopted and promulgated by the Tax Commissioner consistent, to the extent possible under the Nebraska Revenue Act of 1967, with the laws of the United States. The taxpayer may make the computation for each foreign country or for groups of foreign countries. The portion of the taxes that may be deducted shall be computed in the following manner:

(b) The amount of after-tax income shall be divided by one minus the maximum tax rate for corporations in the Internal Revenue Code; and

(c) The result of the calculation in subdivision (b) of this subsection shall be subtracted from the amount of federal taxable income used in subdivision (a) of this subsection. The result of such calculation, if greater than zero, shall be subtracted from federal taxable income.

(7) Federal adjusted gross income shall be modified to exclude any amount repaid by the taxpayer for which a reduction in federal tax is allowed under section 1341(a)(5) of the Internal Revenue Code.

This modification shall be limited to the maximum excludable social security benefits, reduced by the social security benefits, as defined in section 86(d) of the Internal Revenue Code, and any amount of a qualified federal government pension which were excluded from gross income. BILL ON FIRST READING

The following bill was read for the first time by title:

LEGISLATIVE BILL 431A. Introduced by Wesely, 26; Bohlke, 33.

A BILL FOR AN ACT relating to appropriations; to appropriate funds to aid in carrying out the provisions of Legislative Bill 431, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92046

DATE: March 16, 1992

SUBJECT: LB 245; Do the provisions of that Bill which place members of the Legislature on the Nebraska School Accountability Commission violate Article II, Section 1 or other sections of the Nebraska Constitution?

REQUESTED BY: Senator Richard Peterson,
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion on the constitutionality of LB 245. Specifically, you wish to know, "...whether Section 2 {of LB 245} is constitutionally impermissible in combining in the School Accountability Commission members of the executive and legislative branches of government." In our view, the pertinent provisions of LB 245 do violate the Nebraska Constitution.

LB 245 would establish the Nebraska Schools Accountability Commission (Commission). Under the provisions of the bill, the Commission would be charged with the responsibility of developing broad curriculum frameworks and standards for learner outcomes in the Nebraska public schools. The Commission would also subsequently develop a system of assessing student progress towards achieving those standards for learner outcomes.

Section 2 of the Final Reading version of LB 245 provides that the Commission:

> ...shall consist of eleven members as follows: Two members of the Legislature appointed by the Executive Board of the Legislative Council; and one representative from the Governor's office, two public school classroom teachers, two administrators or administrative staff members, one parent, one school board member, one representative of business and industry, and one representative of agriculture,...

In our Opinion #91016 to Senator Crosby, issued March 13, 1991, we concluded that, "...members of the Legislature cannot serve on boards or commissions of state government which exercise primarily an executive or administrative function." Our conclusion was based upon the Separation of Powers provision of the Nebraska Constitution, along with Article III, Section 9 and Article IV, Section 10 of that same document. In Opinion #91016, we also cited a number of previous opinions of this office which consistently had taken a similar position.

It seems to us that the analysis which we provided to Senator Crosby in Opinion #91016 applies equally to the question which you presented. The Separation of Powers provision prevents members of the Legislature from serving on executive boards or commissions. It also would, presumably, prevent members of the Governor's staff from serving as officials on legislative bodies. As a result, any newly created governmental body which contains official members from two branches of government must necessarily be suspect. As was the case in Opinion #91016, we also believe that the governmental body contemplated by LB 245 may violate Article III, Section 9 and Article IV, Section 10 of the Nebraska Constitution.

We must also note that our analysis in Opinion #91016 is generally supported by the supreme court's decision in State ex rel. Spire v. Conway, 238 Neb. 766, 472 N.W.2d 403 (1991). That decision, which held that Senator Gerald Conway could not serve in the Legislature and also serve on the faculty of Wayne State College, was issued subsequent to Opinion #91016.

Consequently, for the various reasons stated above, we believe that the membership of the Nebraska School Accountability Commission created by Section 2 of LB 245 would violate the pertinent provisions of the Nebraska Constitution. As was the case in Opinion #91016, we must state that our opinion herein is directed to the proposed legislation contained in LB 245. For the reasons stated in Opinion #91016, this opinion cannot be considered as directed towards any statute currently in force.

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG
Attorney General

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 288. Introduced by Wehrbein, 2.

PURPOSE: Agriculture is vital to Nebraska's growth and the dairy industry has played an important supporting role. Dairy production is significant to Nebraska's economy, both in actual milk production and the eventual processing of milk for consumer use. Recent declines in the number of dairy producers has not only affected the agriculture sector but has resulted in lower total milk production for the state. Nebraska is a leader in the processing of milk for consumer and commercial use, and with the current downswing in milk production, a loss of jobs in the processing field will occur. Nebraska may well become an importer of milk instead of an exporter of value-added milk products. It is necessary for the State of Nebraska to examine the current trend of decreased milk production and how this will impact the future of Nebraska's dairy industry. This study should consider a method of stabilizing milk prices for producers, thus insuring a steady flow of milk for processing. With the expected decrease in milk production, it is also necessary to investigate a method of stabilizing retail milk prices so the consumer of dairy products is not hurt by the expected price increases due to the loss of state milk production. The study should look at legislation in surrounding states which deals with dairy price stabilization. Also, the study should investigate any current or proposed federal action and how it relates to the state's dairy industry.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 290. Introduced by Conway, 17; Schimek, 27; Coordsen, 32; Withem, 14; Bohlke, 33; Robak, 22; Lindsay, 9; Schrock, 39.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the need for amending the statutes relating to public records, specifically those statutes relating to confidentiality. Legislative Bill 1073, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, was introduced primarily on behalf of the Nebraska State Historical Society.

A recent court case, Nebraska State Historical Society v. Pawnee Tribe of Oklahoma, determined that the files maintained by the historical society revealing the location of archeological sites and the names and addresses of donors were open to public inspection under sections 84-712 to 84-712.09.

Concerns have been raised that allowing unrestricted public access to records kept by public institutions which reveal the location of archeological sites could threaten damage to or the destruction of the sites by vandals, thieves, and amateur excavators.

The study shall include a review of the testimony from the hearing on LB 1073, the implications and impact of the Unmarked Human Burial Sites and Skeletal Remains Protection Act, the implications and impact of the federal Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, input from all interested parties, and any other issues necessary to conduct the study.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 291. Introduced by Hefner, 19.

WHEREAS, 1992 marks the one hundredth anniversary of the City of Crofton; and

WHEREAS, Crofton has been, is, and will continue to be an outstanding community in which to live as is evidenced by its proud heritage and accomplishments; and

WHEREAS, Crofton contributes to the good life enjoyed by all Nebraskans through its rich contributions to agriculture and recreation; and

WHEREAS, the residents of the Crofton community are a forward-looking people as is evidenced by the construction of a new high school this year; and

WHEREAS, the residents of the Crofton community are deserving of special recognition during their centennial celebration which occurs July 3, 4, and 5, 1992.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature recognizes and commends the City of Crofton for its centennial and congratulates and extends its best wishes to that community.
2. That a copy of this resolution be sent to the City of Crofton.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92047

DATE: March 18, 1992

SUBJECT: Constitutionality of subsections 11 and 13 of section 4 of the Proposed Amendments to LB514

REQUESTED BY: Honorable Senator Don Wesely

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Melanie J. Whittamore-Mantzios,
Assistant Attorney General

You have requested an opinion regarding the Constitutionality of subsections 11 and 13 of section 4 of the proposed amendments to LB514. We have come to the conclusion that both subsections 11 and 13 of section 4 of the proposed amendments of LB514 would constitute an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to the Department of Health.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has said "{i}t is fundamental that the legislature may not delegate legislative power to an administrative or executive authority." Lincoln Dairy Co. v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 780, 104 N.W.2d 227, 230 (1960). Legislative authority is the power to make laws. The Nebraska Constitution categorically denies the power to make laws to any person or collection of persons belonging to the executive or judicial departments. Neb. Const. art. II § 1. The Department of Health is an administrative agency in the executive department and therefore cannot pass laws.

The Nebraska Supreme Court has held as follows:

> The exercise of a legislatively delegated authority to make rules and regulations to carry out an expressed legislative purpose, or for the complete operation or enforcement of a law with clearly designated limitations and standards, is not an exercise of legislative power . . . Such standards in conferring discretionary power upon an administrative agency must be reasonably adequate, sufficient and definite for the guidance of the agency in the exercise of the power conferred upon it . . .

Bosselman, Inc. v. State, 230 Neb. 471, 477, 432 N.W.2d 226, 230 (1988).

The issue to be addressed is whether the proposed amendments to LB514 have given clearly designated limitations and standards that are reasonably adequate, sufficient and definite for the guidance of the Department of Health in promulgating rules and regulations to carry out the legislative purpose. Subsection 11 of section 4 of the proposed amendments to LB514 provide that the Department of Health upon the recommendation of the Board of Examiners in Pharmacy shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations: "To establish minimum standards for written control procedures and guidelines governing the training, functions and qualifications of supportive pharmacy personnel." Nothing in the language of subsection 11 provides the Department of Health with any standards within which to exercise its discretion. In fact, the language of this section suggests that the Department may exercise total discretion to set minimum standards.

The term "written control procedures and guidelines" is not defined in the proposed amendments to LB514. Each pharmacy that employs supportive pharmacy personnel is to develop written control procedures and guidelines prior to instituting the use of supportive pharmacy personnel. Proposed Amendments to LB514, § 6(3). The written control procedures and guidelines are to govern the functions of supportive pharmacy personnel. Proposed Amendments to LB514, § 6(2).

The proposed amendments to LB514 do not address what type of training or qualification is required for supportive pharmacy personnel. The proposed amendments to LB514 appear to leave it up to the individual pharmacies to determine what the qualifications and training will be for supportive pharmacy personnel with the approval of the Board of Examiners in Pharmacy. Proposed Amendments to LB514, § 6(2) and (3).

There is some standard indicated for the functions of supportive pharmacy personnel. "Supportive pharmacy personnel may perform routine functions to assist a pharmacist in connection with the preparation, compounding, dispensing, and distribution of drugs under the supervision of a licensed pharmacist on duty in the facility when such functions do not require the use of professional judgment and are subject to verification." Proposed Amendments to LB514, § 2(23).

Subsection 11 fails to give adequate, sufficient and definite standards for the guidance of the Department of Health in promulgating rules and regulations. The proposed amendments to LB514 do not give any limitations or standards regarding what the qualification and training requirements are for supportive pharmacy personnel or a clear definition of what is meant by "written control procedures and guidelines." Subsection 11 would constitute an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to an administrative agency.

Subsection 13 of section 4 of the proposed amendments to LB514 provides that the Department of Health, upon the recommendation of the Board of Examiners in pharmacy shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations:

> To establish a central state record of supportive pharmacy personnel including names, employing pharmacies, the length of employment, including hiring and termination, of individuals, and other data deemed pertinent and relevant, to require employing pharmacies to provide such information, and to provide the penalties for failure to comply . . .

(Emphasis added). Subsection 13 does not specify if the penalties are to be civil or criminal in nature. The fact that subsection 13 fails to note whether the penalties are to be civil or criminal in nature is indicative that the proposed amendments fail to set limitations and standards for the Department of Health to follow in promulgating rules and regulations.

The legislature under no circumstances may delegate its power to prescribe punishment for criminal offenses. Lincoln Dairy Co. v. Finigan, 170 Neb. 777, 784, 104 N.W.2d 227, 232 (1960). The legislature cannot delegate its authority to declare what constitutes a crime. State v. Cutright, 193 Neb. 303, 226 N.W.2d 771, 773 (1975).

Subsection 13 would also constitute an unconstitutional delegation of legislative authority to the Department of Health.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG

AM3629

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. A tax is hereby imposed upon the privilege of engaging in business as a manufacturer or distributor at wholesale at a rate of twenty cents per gallon on all carbonated soft drinks manufactured or distributed in this state. The Tax Commissioner shall collect the tax and shall remit the proceeds to the State Treasurer for credit to the General Fund. The tax shall be in addition to all other occupation or privilege taxes imposed by the state or by any municipality or other political subdivision.

Manufacturers or distributors shall be exempt from the payment of the tax upon proof that the carbonated soft drinks were manufactured in this state but shipped out of the state for sale and consumption outside of this state. The tax shall not be imposed upon the privilege of engaging in any business in interstate commerce or otherwise, which business may not be made the subject of taxation by this state under federal law or the Constitution of the United States, or upon carbonated soft drinks delivered to any instrumentality of the armed forces of the United States engaged in resale activities unless specifically authorized by federal law.

Sec. 2. Each manufacturer or distributor of carbonated soft drinks shall file a report with the Tax Commissioner by October 10, 1992, listing all carbonated soft drinks on hand at the close of business on October 1, 1992. The manufacturer or distributor shall pay tax on such carbonated soft drinks as determined under section 1 of this act. The tax shall be remitted with the report.

Sec. 3. Payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of this act shall be made by the manufacturer or distributor as provided in this section. All manufacturers or distributors, whether within or without this state shall, on or before the twenty-fifth day of each calendar month, make a report under oath to the Tax Commissioner upon forms to be furnished by the Tax Commissioner for the purpose of showing the exact total amount in gallons of carbonated soft drinks, or fractional parts thereof, manufactured or distributed by such manufacturer or distributor during the preceding calendar month. The report shall contain such other information as the Tax Commissioner requires.

The distributor shall pay the tax due on carbonated soft drinks distributed in this state and the manufacturer shall pay the tax due on carbonated soft drinks manufactured in this state. The tax less a discount of one percent of such tax shall be due on the date the report is due. The discount shall be deducted from the payment before remittance of the tax, shall be shown in the report, and shall be a commission for the making of the report and for the timely payment of the tax, but if the tax is not paid within the time provided in this section, the discount shall not be allowed and shall not be deducted from the payment.

A penalty of ten percent of the amount of the tax due shall be collected by the Tax Commissioner if the report is not filed by or the tax is not paid by the twenty-fifth day of the calendar month, and in addition thereto, interest on the tax shall be collected at the rate of one percent per month, or fraction of a month, from the date the tax became due until paid.

Sec. 4. In order to insure the payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of this act together with all interest and penalties thereon, all persons required to make reports and pay the tax shall enter into a surety bond with corporate surety. The bond form and surety shall be approved by the Tax Commissioner. In lieu of a corporate surety bond, a personal bond may be filed in such form as the Tax Commissioner prescribes and secured by the pledge of property having a net value over and above any encumbrance thereon at least double the amount of the bond required. Subject to the limitations specified in this section, the amount of the bond required of any taxpayer shall be fixed by the Tax Commissioner and may be increased or reduced at any time. In fixing the amount, the Tax Commissioner shall require a bond in a total amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's estimated maximum monthly tax ascertained in such manner as the Tax Commissioner deems proper. The amount of such bond required of any one taxpayer shall not be less than one thousand dollars. The bond shall be filed with the Tax Commissioner.

Sec. 5. It shall be unlawful for any person to evade or attempt to evade the payment of tax imposed by section 1 of this act, and upon conviction thereof, in addition to the penalty prescribed for the violation of this section, the person shall forfeit and pay, as a part of costs in such action, double the amount of the tax so evaded or attempted to be evaded. Any person who violates this section shall be guilty of a Class II misdemeanor. The trial court may order and direct the confiscation of the carbonated soft drinks involved in such transaction as part of the judgment of conviction.

Sec. 6. Money collected pursuant to the tax imposed under section 1 of this act shall be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Educational Excellence Fund.

Sec. 7. The Tax Commissioner shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to carry out sections 1 to 6 of this act.

Sec. 8. That section 77-381, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-381. ~~As used in sections 77-379 to 77-385~~ For purposes of the Tax Expenditure Reporting Act of 1979, unless the context otherwise requires:

Sec. 12. Sections 1 to 8 and 13 of this act shall become operative on October 1, 1992. The other sections of this act shall become operative on their effective date.

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 298. Introduced by Baack, 47.

PURPOSE: Training for public service telecommunicators provides for more knowledgeable and efficient dissemination of necessary information to law enforcement agencies, other safety agencies, and emergency medical providers.

The establishment of an Emergency Medical Dispatching Program in Nebraska would bring more accurate information into the dispatch office by way of appropriate understanding of the medical condition and therefor better interrogation, caller intervention, and decisionmaking.

Although the the concept in LB 920 introduced during the Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, was generally supported, questions surfaced regarding the implementation of the program, including the applicability of the requirements to all areas of the state, funding for the program, the establishment of the curriculum, and the effect on the Nebraska Law Enforcement Training Center.

The purpose of this interim study is to determine the feasibility of requiring a training program and certification process for public safety telecommunicators, address the concerns regarding LB 920, and solicit input from parties interested in the training program.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Messrs. Robinson and Schrock withdrew their pending amendment, AM3629, found in the Journal on page 1511.

Mr. Schrock offered the following amendment:
AM3649

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. A tax is hereby imposed upon the privilege of engaging in business as a manufacturer or distributor at wholesale at a rate of twenty cents per gallon on all carbonated soft drinks manufactured or distributed in this state. The tax shall be in addition to all other occupation or privilege taxes imposed by the state or by any municipality or other political subdivision.

Manufacturers or distributors shall be exempt from the payment of the tax upon proof that the carbonated soft drinks were manufactured in this state but shipped out of the state for sale and consumption outside of this state. The tax shall not be imposed upon the privilege of engaging in any business in interstate commerce or otherwise, which business may not be made the subject of taxation by this state under federal law or the Constitution of the United States, or upon carbonated soft drinks delivered to any instrumentality of the armed forces of the United States engaged in resale activities unless specifically authorized by federal law.

Sec. 2. Each manufacturer or distributor of carbonated soft drinks shall file a report with the Tax Commissioner by October 10, 1992, listing all carbonated soft drinks on hand at the close of business on October 1, 1992. The manufacturer or distributor shall pay tax on such carbonated soft drinks as determined under section 1 of this act. The tax shall be remitted with the report.

Sec. 3. Payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of this act shall be made by the manufacturer or distributor as provided in this section. All manufacturers or distributors, whether within or without this state shall, on or before the twenty-fifth day of each calendar month, make a report under oath to the Tax Commissioner upon forms to be furnished by the Tax Commissioner for the purpose of showing the exact total amount in gallons of carbonated soft drinks, or fractional parts thereof, manufactured or distributed by such manufacturer or distributor during the preceding calendar month. The report shall contain such other information as the Tax Commissioner requires.

The distributor shall pay the tax due on carbonated soft drinks distributed in this state and the manufacturer shall pay the tax due on carbonated soft drinks manufactured in this state. The tax less a discount of one percent of such tax shall be due on the date the report is due. The discount shall be deducted from the payment before remittance of the tax, shall be shown in the report, and shall be a commission for the making of the report and for the timely payment of the tax, but if the tax is not paid within the time provided in this section, the discount shall not be allowed and shall not be deducted from the payment.

A penalty of ten percent of the amount of the tax due shall be collected by the Tax Commissioner if the report is not filed by or the tax is not paid by the twenty-fifth day of the calendar month, and in addition thereto, interest on the tax shall be collected at the rate of one percent per month, or fraction of a month, from the date the tax became due until paid.

Sec. 4. In order to insure the payment of the tax imposed by section 1 of this act together with all interest and penalties thereon, all persons required to make reports and pay the tax shall enter into a surety bond with corporate surety. The bond form and surety shall be approved by the Tax Commissioner. In lieu of a corporate surety bond, a personal bond may be filed in such form as the Tax Commissioner prescribes and secured by the pledge of property having a net value over and above any encumbrance thereon at least double the amount of the bond required. Subject to the limitations specified in this section, the amount of the bond required of any taxpayer shall be fixed by the Tax Commissioner and may be increased or reduced at any time. In fixing the amount, the Tax Commissioner shall require a bond in a total amount equal to the amount of the taxpayer's estimated maximum monthly tax ascertained in such manner as the Tax Commissioner deems proper. The amount of such bond required of any one taxpayer shall not be less than one thousand dollars. The bond shall be filed with the Tax Commissioner.

Sec. 5. It shall be unlawful for any person to evade or attempt to evade the payment of tax imposed by section 1 of this act, and upon conviction thereof, in addition to the penalty prescribed for the violation of this section, the person shall forfeit and pay, as a part of costs in such action, double the amount of the tax so evaded or attempted to be evaded. Any person who violates this section shall be guilty of a Class II misdemeanor. The trial court may order and direct the confiscation of the carbonated soft drinks involved in such transaction as part of the judgment of conviction.

Sec. 6. Money collected pursuant to the tax imposed under section 1 of this act shall be remitted to the State Treasurer for credit to the Educational Excellence Fund.

Sec. 7. The Tax Commissioner shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations to carry out sections 1 to 6 of this act.

Sec. 8. That section 77-381, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, be amended to read as follows:

77-381. ~~As used in sections 77-379 to 77-385~~ For purposes of the Tax Expenditure Reporting Act of 1979, unless the context otherwise requires:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

DATE:	March 24, 1992
SUBJECT:	Constitutionality of LB 424, an act changing the requirements for certain petitions and petition circulators.
REQUESTED BY:	Senator Loran Schmit, Nebraska State Legislature

Steve Grasz, Deputy Attorney General

Legislative Bill 424 is an act relating to elections. Section 14 of LB 424 amends Neb.Rev.Stat. §32-705 (Cum.Supp. 1990). Subsection 14(3) provides: "Every sheet of every petition mentioned in sections 32-702 to 32-713.01 circulated by a paid circulator shall have upon it the following language in letters no smaller than sixteen-point type in a contrasting color from other print on the petition: This petition is circulated by a paid circulator." Subsection 14(4) provides: "Any person willfully and knowingly circulating a petition outside of the county in which he or she is registered to vote shall be guilty of a Class I misdemeanor."

In your letter of March 20, 1992, you requested an opinion as to whether LB 424 is constitutional "particularly with respect to the dramatic changes it makes, with the E Clause attached, in the area of paid petitioners and elimination of petitioners from soliciting signatures outside the borders of their own county under any circumstances."

Prohibition on Circulating Petitions
Outside of Circulator's County

We conclude section 14(4) of LB 424 is unconstitutional in that it violates the First Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and Article III, Sections 2-4, of the Nebraska Constitution.

In Meyer v. Grant, 486 U.S. 414 (1988)[1], the Supreme Court considered the constitutionality of a Colorado statute which contained an absolute ban on the compensation of petition circulators. The Court indicated that circulation of a petition involves core political speech which is protected by the First Amendment. The Court went on to state that the refusal to permit the sponsors of the petition to pay petition circulators impinged on political expression in two ways:

> First, it limits the number of voices who will convey appellees' message and the hours they can speak and, therefore, limits the size of the audience they can reach. Second, it makes it less likely that appellees will garner the number of signatures necessary to place the matter on the ballot, thus limiting their ability to make the matter the focus of statewide discussion.

Meyer v. Grant, 486 U.S. at 422, 423. The Court held the Colorado statute unconstitutional.

We believe Section 14(4) clearly limits the number of voices who will convey a petitioner's message and limits the size of the audience they can reach. Meyer, 486 U.S. at 423. Thus, it unconstitutionally impinges on political expression.

The next question involves the propriety of the proposed regulation of the initiative process by LB 424 under our state Constitution. In other words, does the bill impermissibly burden the initiative process or impermissibly involve the Legislature in that process under pertinent state constitutional provisions.

Article III, Section 4, of the Nebraska Constitution provides, in pertinent part, "{t}he provisions with respect to the initiative and referendum shall be self-executing, but legislation may be enacted to facilitate their operation." This constitutional provision means that the Legislature can enact reasonable statutes to prevent fraud or to render intelligible the purpose of a proposed law or constitutional amendment. State v. Swanson, 138 Neb. 597, 294 N.W. 200 (1940). Any statute which tends to ensure a fair, intelligent, and impartial result on the part of the electorate can be said to facilitate the exercise of the initiative power. Id. Legislation which would hamper, unnecessarily obstruct, or impede the initiative process, on the other hand, would be unconstitutional. State ex rel. Ayres v. Amsberry, 104 Neb. 273, 177 N.W. 179 (1920). We believe Section 14(4) impermissibly burdens and impedes the initiative process in violation of the Nebraska Constitution.

Identification of Paid Circulators

We believe the provision requiring identification of paid circulators is not clearly unconstitutional. This provision may make it less likely that petitioners will gather enough signatures, but it does not limit the size of the audience circulators can reach. This requirement arguably tends to ensure a fair, intelligent, and impartial result on the part of the electorate and could thus be said to facilitate the exercise of the initiative power.

[1] The reasoning and holding in Meyer were also adopted by the Nebraska Supreme Court in State v. Radcliffe, 228 Neb. 868, 424 N.W.2d 608 (1988).

Sincerely yours,
DON STENBERG

42-358. (1) The court may appoint an attorney to protect the interests of any minor children of the parties. Such attorney shall be empowered to make independent investigations and to cause witnesses to appear and testify on matters pertinent to the welfare of the children. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

(2) Following entry of any decree, the court having jurisdiction over the minor children of the parties may at any time appoint an attorney, as friend of the court, to initiate contempt proceedings for failure of any party to comply with an order of the court directing such party to pay temporary or permanent child support. The county attorney or authorized attorney may be appointed by the court for the purposes provided in this section.

~~(2)~~ (3) The clerk of each district court shall maintain child support orders and delinquency records by the sums due to the court-ordered payee, except as provided in section 43-512.07, in each case docketed in which child support is fixed by order of the court. For support orders in all cases issued before September 6, 1991, and for support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, in cases in which no party has applied for services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, each month the clerk shall certify all cases in which the court-ordered child support or spousal support is delinquent in an amount equal to the support due and payable for a one-month period of time to the judge presiding over domestic relations cases and to the county attorney or authorized attorney. A rebuttable presumption of contempt shall be established if a prima facie showing is made that the court-ordered child or spousal support is delinquent. In cases in which one of the parties receives services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, the clerk shall certify all support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, to the county attorney or authorized attorney.

In each case certified, income withholding shall be implemented pursuant to the Income Withholding for Child Support Act. If income withholding is not feasible and no other action is pending for the collection of support payments, the court shall appoint an attorney to commence contempt of court proceedings. If the county attorney or authorized attorney consents, he or she may be appointed for such purpose. The contempt proceeding shall be instituted within ten days following appointment, and the case shall be diligently prosecuted to completion. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. Any fees allowed for the services of any county attorney or authorized attorney shall be paid to the Department of Social Services when there is an assignment of support to the department pursuant to section 43-512.07 or when an application for child support services is on file with a county attorney or authorized attorney. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

~~(3)~~ (4) If, at the hearing, the person owing child or spousal support is called for examination as an adverse party and such person refuses to answer upon the ground that his or her testimony may be incriminating, the court may, upon the motion of the county attorney or authorized attorney, require the person to answer and produce the evidence. In such a case the evidence produced shall not be admissible in any criminal case against such person nor shall any evidence obtained because of the knowledge gained by such evidence be so admissible.

~~(4)~~ (5) The court may order access to all revenue information maintained by the Department of Revenue or other agencies concerning the income of persons liable or who pursuant to this section and sections 42-358.08 and 42-821 may be found liable to pay child or spousal support payments.

(7) For the purpose of the Nebraska Workers' Compensation Act, willful negligence shall consist of (a) deliberate act, (b) such conduct as evidences reckless indifference to safety, or (c) intoxication at the time of the injury, such intoxication being without the consent, knowledge, or acquiescence of the employer or the employer's agent; and PURPOSE: Nebraska is among forty-nine states recognizing that when innocent victims suffer financial loss from personal injuries due to violent crime there should be support for the victims in their time of crisis. Nebraska has also recognized the vital importance of supporting the cooperation and participation of victims and witnesses through the creation of victim/witness support programs and clearly defining the rights of victims. Thirty states obtain all of their funds for programs assisting crime victims from penalties or fines assessed against criminals. Nebraska has used the general fund. The purpose of this resolution is to assess whether means other than the general fund exist for providing stable funding for crime victims reparations and victim/witness assistance programs.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

The increasing number of individuals committing crimes, the turnover of board membership, and the recent resignation of the board chairman have placed added stress on the present parole board membership and concerned citizens as well, The public trust has been shaken and the confidence that their safety will be given proper consideration in parole decisions is lacking. The purpose of this resolution is to study questions and issues relating to the parole process and the parole board. The study shall include:

(1) Whether a super-majority vote of the board requirement should be required for certain violent crime offenders;

(2) Whether the full membership of the board should be required to participate in hearings for certain violent crime offenders;

(3) An assessment of parole board membership qualifications and terms of appointment;

(4) Whether risk assessment tools have been effective in other states' parole systems and whether such risk assessment tools should be mandated in Nebraska; and

(11) A comparison of Nebraska's public employees retirement plans with those of other states; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Nebraska Retirement Systems Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the need for amending the statutes relating to the imposition of a $4.00 per ton tax on commercial fertilizer and soil conditioners, specifically those statutes affected by Legislative Bill 1063, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992.

Because of the forced march to enact a tax package earlier this session certain compromises were made to make LB 1063 more palatable to certain economic interests. This has resulted in numerous calls from various interests raising concerns with the commercial fertilizer tax portion of the bill.

Concerns have been raised relative to the manner in which the tax is imposed, the manner of collection of the tax, as well as questions bearing on the fairness and equitableness of the tax.

The study shall include a review of: (1) The tax structure implemented under LB 1063 with regard to commercial fertilizer and soil conditioners; (2) the potential implication and impact of the tax on the agricultural economy; (3) the positive or negative impact made on the decisionmaking processes of farmers and fertilizer dealers by the imposition of the tax; and (4) the possible environmental impact the tax may have.

The study shall receive input from all interested parties and include any other issues necessary to conduct the study.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Agriculture Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 330. Introduced by Horgan, 4.

PURPOSE: It has been well established that electromagnetic fields are produced when electricity moves through power lines, appliances, or anything generating, reliant upon, or emitting electricity. Although scientific evidence relating to possible health hazards of exposure to electromagnetic fields is contradictory and still evolving, growing public concern and recent controversy in Nebraska relating to transmission line placement suggests this is an area of public policy which is deserving of analysis by the Legislature.

The purpose of this resolution is to determine whether the Public Service Commission or another governmental entity should have jurisdiction and authority to consider the possible effects of electromagnetic fields upon the public health when an electrical transmission line placement application is under consideration by the Public Service Commission.

Recognizing that electricity is a beneficial necessity of modern life, the effects of any electromagnetic fields legislation resulting from this analysis shall include utility costs and liability. Additionally, the study shall examine electromagnetic fields legislation emanating from other states as well as the efficacy of such legislation as a valid and realistic response to public and industry concerns surrounding this potentially controversial issue.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Natural Resources Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 331. Introduced by Schimek, 27; Chizek, 31.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to review the Small Claims Court process.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 332. Introduced by Chizek, 31.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the business policies and practices of physicians, hospitals, health care insurers, and their assistants who provide health care services while using false or fictitious names or identities. Such studies shall specifically review:

1. Whether current criminal and civil penalties apply to those using false names or identities while providing health care services and insurance and, if so, to what extent;
2. If civil and criminal penalties do not apply to such conduct, should such penalties be applied or are additional penalties needed; and
3. Whether such conduct should be deemed to renounce the limitations of the Nebraska Hospital-Medical Liability Act and other liability limitations in Nebraska law.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That The Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 333. Introduced by Chizek, 31.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the practices of health care insurers and their subsidiaries and employees in order to determine whether any violations or possible violations of federal or state antitrust provisions or any other criminal or civil provisions exist as the Legislature tries to insure that quality health care, particularly health care products and pharmaceuticals delivered under or paid in whole or in part by health care insurers, is available and affordable for the consumer and the State of Nebraska. Such study shall specifically review whether the payment practices of health care insurers, the payment and reimbursement practices of health care insurers in the filling of pharmaceutical prescriptions and refills, rebate practices from manufacturers to health care insurers, and other practices of health care insurers violate federal or state antitrust provisions or any other criminal or civil provisions or whether additional legislation is needed to prohibit the practices by such insurers that unfairly restrict the delivery of health care services to consumers and the State of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 334. Introduced by Wehrbein, 2.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the parking situation for state employees. Parking access that is both convenient and affordable is paramount to keeping a quality public work force for the State of Nebraska. The demand for state employee parking at certain locations has far exceeded available space. Waiting lists of nearly three years are common. The Department of Administrative Services has initiated plans for adding additional space, financing these plans by increasing the parking fees for those currently using certain state parking facilities. The study should examine: (1) The amount of parking space owned and controlled by the state; (2) expenses associated with maintenance of the parking space; (3) impact of establishing uniform parking rates for all state employees regardless of the location of the space or the agency involved; (4) a method of fairly distributing the cost of creating additional parking; (5) impact of LB 1241, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, if approved on parking space authority; and (6) a long-range planning procedure to establish future parking needs.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 335. Introduced by Schmit, 23.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study (1) the means of support available to injured persons during the period after an accident and when the injured person is able to return to meaningful employment and (2) the effect of having lending institutions accept interest-only payments on principal balances of loans from an injured person while the injured person has limited income and until he or she has returned to work.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 336. Introduced by Warner, 25.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine computer hardware and software needs in senators' offices, which information shall be used for planning and developing a budget request for the next biennium.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Executive Board of the Legislative Council shall appoint a committee to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Johnson, 34; Lamb, 43; Beyer, 3; Chizek, 31.

WHEREAS, federal mandates are one of the reasons for the difficulties in present state budgets. In the first quarter of the 102nd Congress alone, over one hundred fifteen bills were introduced that would make the states pay for a program designed at the federal level; and

WHEREAS, last year's federal budget agreement established new rules to help cut the national deficit. A pay-as-you-go requirement forces Congress to fund any new program it creates. This increases the temptation for federal lawmakers to pay for new programs by mandating that the expense be borne by state and local governments; and

WHEREAS, several states have adopted tracking systems to monitor federal mandates.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study of systems used in other states to identify, track, analyze, determine the cost of, influence, or oppose federal mandates which would be funded by the State of Nebraska or any of its political subdivisions, and any other considerations relevant to reducing the impact of federal mandates on the state budget.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 338. Introduced by Horgan, 4.

PURPOSE: The problems associated with divorce and the extended and sometime dysfunctional relationships which result from such familial dislocations can have effects which are traumatic and long-lasting. Problems associated with the rights of noncustodial parents, particularly in the area of a noncustodial parent's involvement and participation in the organized educational and extracurricular activities of his or her child, can create many areas of dissension and mistrust between the custodial and noncustodial parents. Although legislation has been introduced which addresses the best interests of the child in some aspects of the child custody issue, the educational and extracurricular aspects of a child's development and the duties and responsibilities of a custodial parent to inform the noncustodial parent of such activities has not fully been addressed in statute.

The purposes of this study shall include, but not be limited to, a study of the duties, obligations, and responsibilities of divorced and separated parents relating to extracurricular social activities of their minor children and whether such duties, obligations, and responsibilities would require statutory authorization or mandates to effect more positive interactions between divorced parents of children in this state.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature. Introduced by

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 339. Introduced by Wehrbein, 2.

PURPOSE: Geographic Information System technology is a valuable tool in the management of Nebraska's natural resources. Coordination of data collection, computer software and hardware acquisition, and system operations are essential to the efficient and effective operations of state Geographic Information Systems. The activities of the Geographic Information System Steering Committee should be reviewed, with special emphasis given to Geographic Information System acquisition and data collection by agencies involved in natural resources planning, management, and regulations.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 349. Introduced by Withem, 14; Moore, 24.

PURPOSE: The Nebraska Research Initiative was established by the Legislature in 1988 at the University of Nebraska with the following objectives:

(1) To expand basic and applied research in areas such as engineering, biotechnology, and computer applications;

(2) To improve the ability of the University of Nebraska to compete for research funding; and

(3) To develop research capabilities in areas that are likely to be beneficial for economic development in the State of Nebraska, and a total of $47,400,000 has been appropriated by the Legislature for the Nebraska Research Initiative from 1988-89 to 1992-93. The University of Nebraska has targeted biotechnology, engineering, materials science, water science, decision sciences, and telecommunications management as the areas of research to receive support from the Nebraska Research Initiative. Because of the scope, magnitude, complexity, and dynamics of the research programs being conducted by the University of Nebraska with funding support from the Nebraska Research Initiative, it is difficult to convey the successes of these research programs in periodic written reports to the Legislature, and therefor it is in the public interest that the Legislature conduct an interim study and review of the various research programs of the University of Nebraska which have received funding support from the Nebraska Research Initiative.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Appropriations Committee and the Education Committee of the Legislature shall conduct a joint interim study of the research programs of the University of Nebraska which have received funding support from the Nebraska Research Initiative.

(2) The feasibility of a tiered system of training and certification for EMS personnel which builds upon accredited training already completed for a previous level of EMS certification recognized in Nebraska statutes;

(3) A review of the funding requirements necessary to implement a statewide five-year communicable diseases immunization program for EMS personnel;

(4) A review of the funding requirements and sources of funds necessary to carry out state and local EMS training programs; and LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 351. Introduced by Conway, 17.

PURPOSE: The Secretary of Transportation has been directed to establish and administer a national scenic byways program. States which have a scenic highway program may designate highways as scenic byways and receive federal technical and financial assistance for the planning, design, and development of state scenic byways from the Secretary of Transportation. The purpose of this resolution is to examine the concept of initiating a scenic byways program in the State of Nebraska.

As such programs have been shown to increase tourism, promote economic development, and enhance appreciation for cultural and historic assets within scenic byways corridors, the goal of the study will be to develop legislation enabling the state to initiate efforts for planning and program development for scenic byways. The study shall include, but not be limited to, the feasibility of a joint state and local designation of scenic byways corridors.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

The majority of new jobs created in which women are participating are low-paying service sector jobs without benefits, while the cost of health care continues to increase. Many of the jobs available require extended education or training beyond high school. Women sixty years of age and older often have limited work histories and limited financial resources, thus limiting their access to the job market. Two-parent incomes have also become a necessity for quality of life in Nebraska, increasing the economic impact of divorce. The percentage of women and their children living in poverty is increasing.

For the above-stated reasons, this study will address various factors relating to the economic status of women and their families.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Business and Labor Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

The county shall pay these member contributions from the same source of funds which is used in paying earnings to the member. The county shall pick up these contributions by a salary deduction either through a reduction in the cash salary of the member or a combination of a reduction in salary and offset against a future salary increase. RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 365. Introduced by Moore, 24.

PURPOSE: In 1985 the Legislature initially enacted the Interstate Compact on Agricultural Grain Marketing, and in 1986 the Legislature changed the effective date of the compact. This compact and the resulting agency of the member states called the Interstate Agricultural Grain Marketing Commission became effective in 1987 when the required minimum of five states had enacted the compact into law, and it has now been five years since the Interstate Agricultural Grain Marketing Commission started operation. The purpose of this study shall be to examine the commission's activities and achievements as they relate to the responsibilities, duties, and goals of the commission as prescribed in the Interstate Compact on Agricultural Grain Marketing.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 366. Introduced by Moore, 24.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to review Nebraska law regarding the collection of sales and ad valorem taxes on motor vehicles.

The study shall review the following issues:

(1) How to improve compliance with motor vehicle sales and ad valorem taxes and registration laws;

(2) The progress of voluntary participation in the Vehicle Title and Registration Computer System;

(3) How to simplify the motor vehicle titling and registration process both for consumers and county officials; and

(4) The level of noncompliance with current tax laws and registration relating to motor vehicles.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 367. Introduced by Beutler, 28.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to review Nebraska governmental entities overseeing natural resources, especially water quality and water quantity, such as the Department of Environmental Control, the Nebraska Natural Resources Commission, the Department of Health, the Game and Parks Commission, and natural resources districts, to determine whether the organizational structure of those entities could be strengthened or combined in order to improve regulation of water quality and quantity. The review will include identification of similar agencies in other states.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Natural Resources Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 368. Introduced by Beutler, 28.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study related water issues in connection with the state's natural resources districts in order to determine (1) the probable future costs of managing ground water quality and quantity by obtaining an assessment of those costs from the natural resources districts, which estimated costs assessment shall include ground water management areas, special ground water quality protection areas, and ground water control areas, and (2) whether there is continuing ground water pollution and continuing ground water depletion within each natural resources district and to identify each natural resources district's efforts to correct ground water pollution and ground water depletion. The study will also examine the practical problems and consequences of taxing fertilizers and pesticides.

The study will also examine what, if any, changes are needed in the law relating to natural resources districts to facilitate proper management of water quality and quantity and what, if any, changes are needed in other areas of the statutes to help bring such problems under control.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Natural Resources Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 369. Introduced by Bernard-Stevens, 42.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the management by public power districts, public power and irrigation districts, irrigation districts, and natural resources districts of Nebraska's water, power, and environmental resources. In particular, the study will (1) evaluate the interrelationship, coordination, cooperation, and effectiveness of the districts in their collective efforts to manage the natural resources of the state, (2) analyze the FERC relicensing process with respect to the working relationship of the principals as it relates to the interests of the State of Nebraska, and (3) examine the current representation framework with respect to the needs of those directly served or affected.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Government, Military and Veterans Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 370. Introduced by Byars, 30.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the need for amending the statutes relating to preferred providers. Preferred provider organizations (PPO's) were first authorized by the Legislature in 1984 as one of several health care cost containment measures enacted by the Legislature.

Since that time, a question has arisen whether the cost containments realized by authorization of PPO's has actually been a benefit to consumers of health care services. This study shall focus on the actual benefit to health care consumers of the PPO law while studying the language of the preferred provider statutes, the regulatory function of the Department of Insurance relating to PPO's, the participation of consumers in choosing their own health care under a PPO arrangement, and any other issues necessary to conduct the study.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Banking, Commerce and Insurance Committee and the Health and Human Services Committee of the Legislature shall be jointly designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committees shall upon the conclusion of their study make a report of their findings, together with their recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 371. Introduced by L. Johnson, 15; Hefner, 19.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the feasibility and utility of instituting a uniform and universal local sales tax in place of the Local Option Revenue Act.

The study should particularly address the following specific issues:

(1) Whether a local sales and use tax on all sales in the state would serve as a significant replacement for property taxes for funding local governments, particularly those serving primarily rural areas of the state;

(2) Whether a county sales and use tax rather than a municipal sales and use tax would ease administration and better serve the purposes of the Local Option Revenue Act; and

(3) Whether a universal local sales and use tax would promote efforts to collect the tax on mail order sales.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 372. Introduced by Byars, 30; Coordsen, 32.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the need for construction of a minimum-medium correctional facility.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 373. Introduced by L. Johnson, 15; Byars, 30; Robinson, 16; Wesely, 26; Beyer, 3.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine Nebraska's laws pertaining to the issuance of dealer license plates.

Since 1984 the number of passenger dealer plates issued annually has more than tripled, with over 10,500 dealer passenger plates in use in 1990. The Legislature should examine whether the proliferation of dealer plates is consistent with statutory restrictions on the issuance of dealer plates. Such examination should also consider whether abuse of dealer plates is widespread and whether the personal and private use privilege should be removed or restricted.

If reform is warranted, the Legislature should consider whether LB 980 introduced this session, or similar legislation, would serve as an appropriate vehicle to that end.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 374. Introduced by L. Johnson, 15.

WHEREAS, the Legislature has since 1967 gradually exempted personal property from local property taxes to the point that seventy-five percent of personal property was exempt by statute prior to this session; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature enacted LB 829 in the 1991 session which exempted all personal property except motor vehicles from the property tax for the 1991 tax year; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature, during the 1992 session, considered LB 1120 which would have permanently exempted all personal property except motor vehicles while simultaneously replacing revenue lost to local governments through alternative revenue sources; and

WHEREAS, a proposed constitutional amendment will be placed before the voters on the May primary ballot which will allow the Legislature to exempt all or part of the personal property tax base; and

WHEREAS, a sizable proportion and perhaps a majority of Nebraska citizens would support repeal of the personal property tax altogether and would base their support of the constitutional amendment on the prospect that personal property taxes may eventually be repealed; and

WHEREAS, the personal property tax comprises less than three percent of all tax revenue for the support of state and local governments in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, the continued taxation of personal property has been, and is likely to continue to be, a source of litigation and instability in our state and local government revenue structure.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to examine whether total repeal of the personal property tax would lend stability and greater acceptability to Nebraska's overall revenue structure and to explore alternative revenue sources for the support of local governments.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with proposed legislation to accomplish a repeal of the personal property tax to be introduced in the Ninety-third Legislature, First Session.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 375. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: One of the principal issues reviewed by the Urban Affairs Committee is that of natural gas rate regulation by Nebraska's municipalities. Since the adoption of the Municipal Natural Gas Regulation Act in 1987, the committee has, on an annual basis, conducted an interim study on the operation of the act and related issues.

During this past interim, a series of proposals for changes to the act were prepared and presented to the committee in LB 1253. Because of the time constraints of the short session and the controversial nature of several of the proposed changes, the committee did not take final action on the proposals but deferred the matter for further study and negotiation during the next interim period.

Among the issues discussed was one which would have permitted municipalities to receive loans from the Municipal Natural Gas Regulation Revolving Loan Fund for the purpose of financing studies of their natural gas franchises to determine appropriate changes before franchise renewals were negotiated. Because of concerns and a lack of information on such issues as the cost of such studies, the number of studies occurring in any one-year period, the potential impact on the fund, and the precise nature of such studies, the committee determined that the principal thrust of this year's study should be a review of the franchise study proposal and a resolution of the issues involved.

The study would involve a review of the issues in LB 1253 and other related matters and a study of the issue of municipal natural gas franchises and their renewal and possible funding sources for studies undertaken in their regard by individual municipalities.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 376. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: One of the most important functions of Nebraska's cities and villages is the provision of utility services, the basic elements of life in society. Without the provision of these utilities at a reasonable price on demand it would be impossible for out communities to exist, much less to grow and prosper. Our cities and villages have the primary responsibility of insuring that their residents are properly served and that utilities are provided in a safe, efficient, and cost-effective manner. A large proportion of each municipality's work force is engaged in these functions and the costs involved are a major proportion of each individual city and village budget.

The efforts of the Urban Affairs Committee with regard to natural gas regulation and the recodification of the statutes governing the operations of the Metropolitan Utilities District have revealed the need for a broader review of the issues generally surrounding municipal utility services and a study of the manner in which such services are provided.

Such a study would endeavor to gather data from existing sources and to generate new data on the present status of municipal utility services. It would specifically address the following issues:

(1) The actual extent of municipal responsibility for the provision of the various utility services and mechanisms for financing such services;

(2) The current and projected future costs of providing the various utility services;

(3) The various elements underlying the projected future costs of providing utility services;

(4) Potential efficiencies from regional arrangements or other mechanisms for reducing costs; and

(5) Proposed statutory changes necessary to insure the ability of municipalities to continue to provide utility services and to alleviate cost burdens in the future.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 377. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: During the course of this legislative session, the Urban Affairs Committee was called upon to review two bills dealing with municipalities and their financial arrangements. LB 1106, which was introduced by Senator Conway, dealt with the statutory provisions on the deposits made by municipalities into certain financial institutions. LB 1256, which was introduced by Senator Withem, proposed to require an open-bidding process for the issuance of bonds by cities and villages.

In the hearings on the two bills, it became apparent that there was a need for a more careful review in a less time-sensitive environment of the issues raised by the two bills. Over the course of years, the sections of law involved have been amended and adopted and placed into various portions of the statutes. It was believed to be important to try and bring all the statutes together for a single review and study so that the full impact of any proposed changes could be studied and every necessary change could be made. Because of the number of different sections involved, it is important to ensure that any change does not result in unanticipated consequences which would not work to the benefit of the municipalities and the citizens. This is particularly important with regard to the sections on the issuance of bonds by municipalities since there are many different kinds of bonds issued for many different purposes.

This study would propose to extract from the broader statutes all of those relevant, individual sections for review and discussion in the light of the proposed issues raised by the two bills. Comments and suggestions would be solicited from municipal officials, representatives of financial institutions, municipal bond interests, and the general public. Legislation based on the results of the review and discussions would be prepared for introduction in the next session.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 378. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: Municipal annexation is a matter of continuing concern as an issue before the Urban Affairs Committee. In the past few years, the committee has revisited the issue on several occasions in an attempt to balance the interests involved. Legislation has been considered to deal with the situation where residents of the fringe area want to be annexed and the city will not, as well as the situation where the municipality wishes to annex and the fringe area residents do not wish to be annexed.

Several bills dealing with both sides of the issues have been reviewed and adopted, but the problems have not been fully resolved and further study is necessary.

During the course of the past few months, several particular issues have arisen which should be addressed in this study:

(1) Whether certain unincorporated areas of sizable population and extensive development which are too distant from existing cities for immediate annexation should be permitted to incorporate themselves as cities;

(2) When it is appropriate to require a city or village to redistrict itself for election purposes following annexation;

(3) Whether there should be restrictions on annexation during an election year;

(4) How much advance notice should be provided to residents of an area proposed for annexation before formal action on the annexation is taken;

(5) What sorts of procedural steps should take place before an area is formally placed before the city council for annexation consideration;

(6) When and how much notice should be provided to the residents of a fringe area when their area is part of an area proposed for annexation by a city; and

(7) What role residents of an area proposed for annexation should play in the determination of whether or not annexation is appropriate, that is, should they be permitted a vote on annexation before city council approval.

The proposed study would focus directly on these and related issues and would involve municipal officials as well as representatives of various groups of people that live in fringe areas near Nebraska cities. Legislation based on the results of the study would be prepared for introduction in the next legislative session.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 379. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: In 1987 through the efforts of the Urban Affairs Committee, the Legislature adopted legislation which substantially revised and rewrote Nebraska law on handicapped and disabled parking. Since the adoption of that legislation, the Urban Affairs Committee has, on an annual basis, been called upon to review various bills to adjust and revise various provisions of such law. Also in 1991, the United States Congress adopted broad and far reaching legislation dealing with the rights of the handicapped and the obligation of government at all levels to accommodate the special needs of handicapped individuals and ensure them free and full access to public facilities.

Now that five years have passed since the adoption of the original handicapped parking legislation and numerous changes have occurred in the situation surrounding the issue, it has become important to revisit the legislation to determine if substantial revision is necessary or warranted.

The proposed study would solicit comments from municipalities around the state on their experience with the legislation as well as from handicapped individuals and organizations representing handicapped individuals. Efforts would be undertaken to review similar legislation in other states and studies which have been done on the issue. It would be the goal of the study to prepare comprehensive legislation on handicapped and disabled parking to address the results of the review for introduction in the next session.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 380. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: Over the course of the past two legislative sessions, the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature has reviewed two pieces of legislation dealing with local city and county museums. This has indicated to the committee a resurgence in the interest in such museums and the general recognition of the important role that such museums play in enhancing the cultural and educational climate of the community and in improving the local economic well-being by encouraging tourism and travel.

The legislation introduced has also revealed that the statutes dealing with local museums have not been reviewed or revised to any great extent for more than thirty years and that the changing economic and legal relationship between the museums and the cities and counties have made the existing statutes awkward in application and has often caused such statutes to operate to the detriment of the interest of the city or county and the museum.

This study would propose a review of the current statutes with the assistance of the affected cities and counties and museums to determine what changes are necessary to enable them to operate efficiently and cooperatively with one another while preserving the public interest and investment in the facilities. The study would also propose to review similar arrangements in other states to determine if other types of public or private arrangements might not be beneficial and helpful.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 381. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: During this session, the Urban Affairs Committee gave consideration to LB 911, which was introduced by Senators Schimek, Crosby, and Dierks, which dealt with the authority of animal control officers in municipalities to issue citations. Discussions with regard to the bill revealed the need for a broader review of municipal animal control statutes to determine what authority currently existed for enforcement of the statutes and whether or not current statutory law adequately address the needs for humane treatment of animals in our cities and villages and the protection of the general public.

The proposed study would review current animal control statutes and solicit comments on them from the general public as well as municipal animal control authorities and experts. Suggested legislation to deal with revealed problems and to improve the system would be prepared for introduction in the next legislative session.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 382. Introduced by Urban Affairs Committee: Hartnett, 45, Chairperson; Bohlke, 33; Labedz, 5; Rasmussen, 20; Schimek, 27; Will, 8.

PURPOSE: Of the several standing committees in the Legislature, the Urban Affairs Committee has perhaps the broadest the most diverse subject matter jurisdiction. The committee traditionally has been referenced bills the subject matter of which extends from cemeteries to natural gas regulation to museums. Bills quite often arise from specific problems in specific municipalities in a manner which does not lend itself to early identification or classification as would be the case with issues within the jurisdiction of other committees. More often than not, these issues arise outside of the legislative session, and to address them adequately and fully in the next session action by the committee is necessary.

Recognizing this fact, the Urban Affairs Committee has, in the prior three interim periods, undertaken a general interim study aimed at identifying specific problems prior to the next legislative session to permit more careful review of legislative solutions before the session begins when time is not available for the type of analysis which the problem may deserve.

The purpose of this study is to repeat the process begun with LR 95 in the 1989 interim period and provide a forum during the interim period for municipalities and their representatives, as well as other interested parties, to present issues which could be the subject of future legislation or to solicit their reaction to proposals which have been presented to the committee for future consideration. The subjects available for committee consideration would extent to any matter relevant to the Urban Affairs Committee's subject matter jurisdiction.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Urban Affairs Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 383. Introduced by Schimek, 27; Crosby, 29; Pirsch, 10; Nelson, 35; Bohlke, 33; Hillman, 48; Robak, 22; Rasmussen, 20; Labedz, 5.

PURPOSE: That a select committee of senators be formed to continue the work begun by the committee formed in LR 205, 1992.

The select committee shall:

(1) Review the congressional policy and legislative policies of other states pertaining to sexual harassment in the workplace;

(2) Review the work load and staffing needs, both present and future, of Nebraska's Equal Opportunity Commission, including the commission's regulations and procedures for conducting investigations;

(3) Assess the difficulties of filing, investigating, and prosecuting a sexual harassment claim with consideration of time delays, lack of support for the claimant, and financial restrictions; and

(4) Review other aspects of sexual harassment as the committee may deem necessary.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a Select Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 384. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

(2) Improving the availability of public health services;

(3) Assuring that all children in Nebraska have needed immunizations;

(4) The "185% of poverty" medicaid option for pregnant women and young children;

(5) An analysis of possible ways to organize expanded public health service in Nebraska;

(6) Ways to improve public health service in rural Nebraska; and

(7) The health pocketbook system used in Japan.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Health and Human Services Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the general licensure laws in Nebraska governing the various Boards of Examiners within the Department of Health. The study should examine areas where there can be uniformity among the various health care professions licensed, certified, and registered in Nebraska and to make recommendations that will facilitate uniformity and simplification. The study shall also include a review of the fees charged health care professionals who are licensed, certified, or registered by the Department of Health. The current system is based on the number of individuals regulated in a particular health-care-related profession. The result is that professions with large numbers of members have lower fees than professions with fewer members who may have less ability to pay. The study should also examine whether fees charged should be based on the benefit to the public derived from the regulation of the various health-care-related professions.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Health and Human Services Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 391. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to address the issues raised by Legislative Bill 514, Ninety-second Legislature, 1991, and various associated concerns. The study shall address the need for pharmacy technicians in Nebraska. LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 393. Introduced by Hall, 7; Moore, 24; Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine health care and medicaid programs and the costs associated with those programs as they relate to Nebraska. The cost of the medicaid program has increased drastically in recent years due to federal mandates, increased eligibility, and increased health care costs generally. In addition, the federal match rate is dropping for Nebraskas medicaid programs in 1993 which would require Nebraska to pick up additional costs from state general funds. This study would include, but not be limited to, the state's utilization of medicaid options, the cost of health care in rural and urban areas as well as in not-for-profit and for-profit institutions, containing costs of the programs, and securing the necessary revenue to pay for the cost of health care and medicaid in the State of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a joint committee consisting of four members of the Appropriations Committee, four members of the Revenue Committee, and four members of the Health and Human Services Committee shall be appointed by each committee's respective chairperson and shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

The committee shall be staffed by the affected legislative committee staff, the Legislative Research Division, the Legislative Fiscal Office, and postsecondary education personnel, as appropriate.

3. That the joint committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 399. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the means by which the Legislature interacts with executive branch agencies and the private sector to formulate public policy. This study should examine ways by which the Legislature, the executive branch, and the general public can jointly identify common goals to achieve for our state. For example, there is a need to identify the various issues and policies that impact economic development in our state. With no particular committee assigned to this task in the Legislature, this study should examine how this particular issue can be addressed by the Legislature in cooperation with state agencies, the private sector, and the general public.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Executive Board of the Legislative Council of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the Executive Board of the Legislative Council shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 401. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to explore the possibility of providing liability protection to the many individuals who contribute their valuable knowledge and services as unpaid volunteers in the performance of various programs administered by the state, nonprofit organizations, or other community services in the State of Nebraska. Present law burdens these individuals with potential civil liability for personal injury or property damage resulting from their acts or omissions as volunteers. Consequently, the willingness of volunteers to offer their services may be deterred. Many states have granted immunity to volunteers when their acts or omissions are in good faith. A comparative study of these state statutes would aid in developing appropriate legislation for the State of Nebraska. Additionally, President Bush proposed the Model State Volunteer Service Act for adoption by the states as a means to balance both the victim's right to seek redress and the individual's right to volunteer without fear of litigation. This model act should also be studied to see if it is needed in Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 402. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine problems and concerns regarding adoption in Nebraska. Adoption legislation, programs, and policies need to be examined to see how they can be improved. The nature, extent, and implications of advertising for adoption also needs to be studied.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary and Health and Human Services Committees of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

March 26, 1992

Madam President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the Legislature
State Capitol Building
Lincoln, NE 68509

Dear Madam President and Senators:

LB 424 was received in my office on March 24, 1992. This bill was signed by me on March 26, 1992 and delivered to the Secretary of State.

LB 424 does a number of things to make our election laws better. You will recall in the last election there were a number of problems relating to the validity of ballots. LB 424 clarifies the laws and allows for initials to be used by the judges and election officials and designates a place on the ballot for such initials.

The bill increases the wages paid to election officials from a set statutory amount to the federal minimum wage. The statutory amount was in conflict with the federal guidelines which pertain to all national elections.

The bill provides for the use of the optical-scan voting or tabulating devices in the tabulation of the ballots and it further clarifies write-in procedures.

The bill clarifies the statutes for judges and election officials. It also requires that when paid petition circulators are used, individual voters be informed that the circulator is being paid to collect signatures.

LB 424 requires that all petitions being circulated by paid petition circulators carry the words on the face of the petition that the petition is being circulated by a paid circulator. It also requires that the petition circulator be a resident and a registered voter of the county in which they are circulating a petition.

It is this last requirement that has drawn fire. Yet, I believe strongly that it is the duty of the state to insure integrity in the election process. This bill protects the process from fraud and manipulation by varied interest groups and outside influence. The petition process needs to remain a grass roots, citizens rights, action process. This bill, while requiring circulators to be residents of the county in which they circulate a petition, clearly allows citizens to be involved. I believe the provision will lead to an even more dedicated, grass roots effort by the people seeking changes through the petition process.

Sincerely,
(Signed) E. Benjamin Nelson
Governor

(1) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that a new program is required by state or federal law or an existing program mandated by state or federal law has been expanded as a result of changes in such state or federal law. For purposes of this subsection, a final order of a court from which no appeal is taken which requires reimbursement by a district of property taxes to a taxpayer shall be considered a new program required by state or federal law but shall not be included as part of the general fund budget of expenditures for purposes of section 79-3814.

(2) The district projects an increase in formula students in the district over the current school year greater than twenty-five students or greater than those listed in the schedule provided in this subsection, whichever is less. Districts shall project increases in formula students on forms prescribed by the department. The state board shall approve, deny, or modify the projected increases.

250.01 - 1,000	3

The resulting allowable budget per pupil shall be multiplied by the projected formula students to arrive at the estimated budget needs for the ensuing year. The department shall compute the actual increased costs for the school year and shall, if needed, modify the district's applicable allowable growth rate for the ensuing school year.

The department shall compute the amount by which the increase in employee costs exceeds the district's applicable allowable growth rate and shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures by such amount.

(5) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that it will exceed its allowable growth rate as a result of a contested, but settled, contract dispute, claim, or breach or uninsured risk or as a result of any final judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction, requiring or obligating the district to pay such judgment. RESOLUTIONS

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 409. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this study is to examine the implementation of the consumer based reimbursement system proposed by the Department of Public Institutions and its effect on the community based mental health system.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Health and Human Services Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 410. Introduced by Elmer, 38.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to authorize a study and review regarding the necessity of legislation to address agricultural chemical containment and the protection of Nebraska's groundwater.

WHEREAS, the Legislature has before it LB 1114 and LB 1114A; and

WHEREAS, the Environmental Control Council, on March 6, 1992, passed Title 198 Regulations which provide for agricultural chemical containment in Nebraska; and

WHEREAS, the regulations as passed by the Environmental Control Council are extremely technical in nature; and

WHEREAS, the language in LB 1114 is extremely technical in nature and contains the language of the Title 198 Regulations, with the exception of certain limits of containment criteria; and

WHEREAS, the protection of Nebraska's groundwater is currently regulated by the Department of Environmental Control through the Title 198 Regulations; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature can determine the necessity of legislation through an interim study of Title 198 Regulations and the contents of LB 1114.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature conduct an interim study regarding the necessity of legislation to address agricultural chemical containment and the protection of Nebraska's groundwater due to the Title 198 Regulations being in place.
2. That the Natural Resources Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
3. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 411. Introduced by Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the role and effect of controlled business in the Nebraska title insurance industry. The study shall also include an examination of the extent of controlled business in the Nebraska title insurance industry and its effect on title insurance industry competitiveness and possible changes in the Title Insurance Act.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That a committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 412. Introduced by Hillman, 48.

PURPOSE: The Legislature finds that probation constitutes an effective and efficient mode of criminal rehabilitation and in many instances a viable alternative to incarceration. Because of probation's preeminent role in Nebraska's efforts to protect the public and promote the development of criminal offenders into productive citizens, the quality and efficacy of probation services warrant the continued attention of the Legislature. Accordingly, this study will consider:

(1) The adequacy of probation officers' salaries;
(2) The feasibility of an addition to court costs to fund probation officers' salaries;
(3) Drug testing by probation officers and the expenditure of receipts from drug testing fees; and
(4) The assignment of jurisdictional responsibility for both probation and parole to a single organizational entity.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Appropriations Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 413. Introduced by Chizek, 31; Schmit, 23; Wesely, 26.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to examine the rules and practices of committee chairpersons, members, and witnesses who appear before legislative committees in light of the Legislature's purpose to refrain from unfairly restricting testimony of citizens of the State of Nebraska while at the same time taking the necessary steps to assure that testimony pertaining to any individual or group is truthful, not malicious, and pertinent to the bill or issue being addressed at the committee hearing. Specifically, the study shall consider:

(1) Whether a rule or procedure should be adopted that would allow a committee chairperson to order the hearing closed to all persons other than members of the Legislature, committee staff, and the witness and the record sealed if testimony alleges facts that an ordinary person would believe to be harmful to the affected person or group's reputation, character, or standing in the community, when such allegations have not yet been established by a court of competent jurisdiction;

(2) Whether a rule or procedure should be adopted that would allow a committee chairperson to order that the person cease giving testimony or alleging facts that an ordinary person would believe to be harmful to the affected person or group's reputation, character, or standing in the community or to refrain from any further such allegations;

(3) Whether a rule or procedure should be adopted that would allow a committee chairperson to take such action whether the name of the person or group against whom the allegations are directed is given or the facts by implication make the name of the person or group reasonably known;

(4) Whether a rule or procedure should be adopted that would allow a committee chairperson to permit public access to and reporting of such testimony that, but for the circumstances in which it was given, would otherwise reasonably constitute grounds for libel or slander; and

(5) Whether Rule 3(e)(ii) of the Legislature should be amended to allow chairpersons to require that a person giving testimony under the circumstances described in subdivision (1) be sworn before giving such testimony.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Rules Committee of the Legislature, with the advice of the chairpersons of the other committees of the Legislature, shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 414. Introduced by Pirsch, 10; Robak, 22; Wickersham, 49.

PURPOSE: With the passage of The Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act of 1991, Nebraska is required to submit to the Federal Highway Administration a master plan of our state's highways which will become a part of the National Highway System. These routes are required to provide an interconnected system of principal and arterial routes which will serve major population centers and serve interstate and interregional travel. Many states have increased their share of federal highway construction funds while reducing duplication and increasing efficiencies in their development of productive and effective transportation networks by the use of advance planning units which look at economic development, travel, tourism, and long term goals when developing road systems. Nebraska has no such planning unit. Therefore, the purpose of this study is to examine if such advance planning could result in reducing duplication and increasing efficiencies and economic development in Nebraska's road system as well as increasing federal funding.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Transportation Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.

2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 415. Introduced by Wickersham, 49; Beutler, 28.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the following issues related to the judiciary:

1. The allocation of and need for judicial resources;
2. Efficiency in the administration and use of the courts;
3. The abolishment of the exclusive jurisdiction of the district court in uncontested dissolution of marriage cases; and
4. Advanced communication systems for judges, including the use of facsimile machines, computer networks, and teleconferencing.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Judiciary Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 416. Introduced by Coordsen, 32.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study methods of maintaining and improving worker productivity in view of changing family structures and roles through innovations in the structure of the workplace and worker schedules.

The study shall include, but not be limited to, incentives and disincentives for employee retention, such as flexible benefit packages, employment options in providing emergency medical leave, flex time, and other employment options in scheduling of employee hours, and the costs associated with each of such options.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Business and Labor Committee of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purposes of this resolution.
2. That the committee shall upon the conclusion of its study make a report of its findings, together with its recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 417. Introduced by Robinson, 16.

WHEREAS, Chip Davis is the creator of Mannheim Steamroller and the founder of his own record company, American Gramaphone Records; and

WHEREAS, Mannheim Steamroller has released seven albums in their Fresh Aire series as well as two successful seasonal works; and

WHEREAS, Nebraskans have enjoyed and benefitted from the music and contributions of Chip Davis and should be proud of his achievements.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature recognizes and commends Chip Davis for his contributions to our state and congratulates Chip Davis and Mannheim Steamroller on their Grammy Award.
2. That a copy of this resolution be sent to Chip Davis.

24-810. (1) In the event of the death, retirement, resignation, or removal of any district or county judge, the failure of a district or county judge to be retained in office, a need for a change in boundaries or numbers of district or county court judicial districts, or an increase in the number of district or county judgeships authorized by law, the Judicial Resources Commission, after holding a public hearing in the affected district or districts, shall determine:

(c) Whether the number of district or county judges should be increased, decreased, or remain the same; or

(d) Any combination of subdivisions (a), (b), or (c) of this subsection.

The commission's determination shall be based upon the analysis of caseloads weighted by category, adequate access to the courts by litigants, population, other judicial duties, travel time, and other factors determined by the commission to be necessary to assure efficiency and service. After making a determination the commission shall make a recommendation to the Legislature. If no changes in existing law are recommended by the commission, no legislative action shall be necessary to fill any vacancy resulting from the death, retirement, resignation, or removal of a judge.

(2) For each judicial vacancy, the commission shall investigate the need to designate a principal office and preferred place of residence for each district or county judge. The commission shall recommend the location of judges so as to provide maximum service to all areas of the judicial district. If the commission determines that a principal office and preferred place of residence should be designated, it shall make a recommendation to the Supreme Court. (3) The Judicial Resources Commission shall adopt and promulgate rules and regulations on the procedures to be followed in making the determinations pursuant to subsection (1) of this section. The State Court Administrator shall provide adequate administrative support and information as is requested by the commission.

(4) For purposes of subsection (5) of this

(5) When a final determination of the location of a district or county court judicial vacancy has been made or in the event of a judicial vacancy in any other court, the Clerk of the Supreme Court shall contact the chairperson of the judicial nominating commission relating to such vacancy and shall ascertain from him or her a time and place for the first meeting of such judicial nominating commission, at which time a public hearing will be held. He or she shall thereupon notify each commission member in writing of the time and place of the meeting and shall also cause appropriate notice to be published by various news media of the time and place of the public hearing of the judicial nominating commission and of the interest of the commission in receiving information relating to qualified candidates for the judicial vacancy. Any lawyer meeting the statutory requirements to serve as a judge who is interested in being nominated and appointed to such judgeship shall signify his or her interest by filing the appropriate application with the proper entity at least twenty-one days prior to the public hearing. At least ten days prior to the public hearing, the chairperson shall release to the public the names of all lawyers who have applied for such judgeship. Additional information may be submitted in writing to the commission at any time prior to its selection of qualified candidates to fill the vacancy.

The commission shall make such independent investigation and inquiry as it considers necessary or expedient to determine the qualifications of candidates for the judicial vacancy and shall take such action as it deems necessary or expedient to encourage qualified candidates to accept judicial office or nomination for judicial office.

~~(3)~~ (7) The judicial nominating commission may, before or after the hearing provided for in subsection ~~(1)~~ (5) of this section, institute a search for additional candidates. If additional candidates are obtained, the commission shall hold further public hearings in the same manner as provided in such subsection.

~~(4)~~ (8) The names of candidates shall be submitted to the Governor within ninety days after the date a final determination has been made pursuant to subsection (4) of this section of the location of a district or county court judicial vacancy or, in the event of a judicial vacancy in any other court, after a judicial vacancy occurred if one public hearing is held and within one hundred twenty days if more than one public hearing is held.

~~(5)~~ (9) The first public hearing provided for in this section shall be held within sixty days after final determination of the vacancy occurs.

Sec. 4. There is hereby created the Judicial Resources Commission consisting of: (1) Three judges, including one district court judge, one county court judge, and one Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court, all of whom shall be appointed by the Supreme Court; (2) one member of the Nebraska State Bar Association from each of the six judicial districts prescribed in Article V, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska who shall have practiced law in this state for at least ten years and who shall be appointed by the Executive Council of the Nebraska State Bar Association; and (3) one citizen from each of the six judicial districts prescribed in Article V, section 5, of the Constitution of Nebraska appointed by the Governor, none of whom shall be (a) a Justice or Judge of the Supreme Court or a judge of any court, active or retired, (b) a member of the Nebraska State Bar Association, or (c) an immediate family member of any person listed in subdivisions (a) and (b) of this subdivision. The Judge of the Supreme Court serving on the commission shall also serve as chairperson of the commission.

Sec. 5. The term of office of each member of the Judicial Resources Commission shall be six years. In the event of a vacancy, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment in the same manner as the original members are appointed, and the individual so appointed shall serve for the balance of the original term. Any member of the commission shall be eligible for reappointment for an additional term without regard to the number of years that such individual has served as a member of the commission.

Sec. 6. Members of the Judicial Resources Commission shall be reimbursed for their actual and necessary expenses as provided in sections 81-1174 to 81-1177.".

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 420. Introduced by Health and Human Services Committee: Wesely, 26, Chairperson; Beyer, 3; Byars, 30; Cudaback, 36; Dierks, 40; Rasmussen, 20; Schellpeper, 18.

PURPOSE: The purpose of this resolution is to study the role of county government in providing human services to the people of Nebraska. Currently, counties have some funding responsibility for developmental disabilities services, substance abuse services, mental health services, aging services, and substance abuse services, as well as total fiscal responsibility for indigent medical care services and general assistance services. Significant state funds and some federal funds are provided for developmental disabilities services, mental health services, aging services, and substance abuse services, but the management of these programs is primarily by the counties or the regions they serve. Indigent medical care services and general assistance services are totally county funded and administered.

A special task force should be established to conduct the study and make recommendations regarding the role of county government in funding and administering human services to the people of Nebraska.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Health and Human Services and Appropriations Committees of the Legislature shall be designated to conduct an interim study to carry out the purpose of this resolution.
2. That the chairpersons of these committees shall form a special task force comprised of senators, clients and their families, county commissioners, state agency representatives, regional representatives, service providers, advocates for clients, and other interested persons to conduct the study.
3. That the task force shall call upon the resources of the Director of Research of the Legislature, the Legislative Fiscal Analyst, and other staff resources to carry out the purpose of this resolution.
4. That the committees shall upon the conclusion of the study make a report of the findings, together with any recommendations, to the Legislative Council or Legislature.

Referred to the Executive Board.

AM3675

1. Strike the original sections and all amendments thereto and insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. Section 1 to 5 of this act shall be known and may be cited as the Childhood Vaccine Act.

Sec. 2. The Legislature hereby finds and declares that:

(1) Childhood communicable diseases constitute a serious threat to the public health of the people of this state and the prevention of childhood communicable diseases is a goal of the people;

(2) The effectiveness of childhood vaccines in preventing certain communicable diseases and thereby saving lives and preventing debilitating conditions has been well documented. Vaccines are among the most cost-effective components of preventive health care; for every dollar spent on childhood immunization, ten dollars are saved in later medical costs;

(3) Prevention of childhood diseases should include comprehensive, continuous health care, including regular medical examinations, treatment by a practitioner familiar with the child, and age-appropriate administration of immunizations;

(4) The United States Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, has as its Healthy People 2000 objective to have at least ninety percent of all children completely immunized by age two. The United States immunization survey indicates that only seventy-seven percent of children two years of age had received the basic immunization series. Recent outbreaks of measles among preschoolers who are not immunized also have shown that inadequate immunization levels still occur;

(5) Nebraska has as its Year 2000 objective that seventy-five percent of its counties are covered by public immunization clinics, that ninety percent of its two-year-olds are minimally immunized, and that ninety-eight percent of its school-aged children are immunized;

(6) The Surgeon General's 1990 objective to decrease the incidence of cases of mumps and pertussis to less than one thousand has not been achieved, and the incidence of pertussis increased between 1979 and 1987;

(7) Immunization rates in other developed countries are higher than immunization rates in the United States;

(8) Diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis immunization rates in European countries average forty-one percent higher than in the United States;

(9) Polio immunization rates are twenty-three percent higher in European countries than in the United States;

(10) Measles immunization rates are twenty-three percent higher in England, Denmark, and Norway than in the United States;

(11) Childhood communicable diseases should be prevented through protection of Nebraska's children by immunization against measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, polio, haemophilus influenzae type B, and such other diseases as may be indicated based on then current medical and scientific knowledge;

(12) The average cost of fully vaccinating a child in the private sector has increased dramatically in the past decade. The full battery of childhood vaccines recommended by the Centers for Disease Control in 1982 increased five times in cost between 1982 and 1989. These increases have made it unaffordable for many children to receive their immunizations at their private practitioner's office; and

(13) There is a national effort to continue current immunization programs and to provide additional funds to implement the Healthy People 2000 objective that ninety percent of children are appropriately immunized by two years of age.

Sec. 3. (1) It is the intent of the Legislature that the citizens of the State of Nebraska benefit by participation in national efforts to take innovative action to provide immunization of our children by removal of barriers which impede vaccine delivery and by improving access to immunization services.

(2) It is also the purpose of the Childhood Vaccine Act to provide authorization for childhood immunization demonstration or pilot projects that document childhood immunization trends, encourage cooperation between and use of both private practitioners and public providers in offering health care to children, and otherwise assess a total approach to immunization against childhood diseases.

Sec. 4. The Department of Health may participate in the national efforts described in sections 2 and 3 of this act and may develop a statewide immunization action plan which is comprehensive in scope and reflects contributions from a broad base of providers and consumers. In order to implement the statewide immunization action plan, the department may:

(1) Actively seek the participation and commitment of the public, health care professionals and facilities, the educational community, and community organizations in a comprehensive program to ensure the state's children are appropriately immunized;

"Section 1. That section 79-402, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-402. (1) The county superintendent shall create a new school district from other districts, change the boundaries of any district, or affiliate a Class I district or portion thereof with one or more existing Class II, III, IV, or V districts upon receipt of petitions signed by sixty percent of the legal voters of each district affected, except that petitions shall contain signatures of at least sixty-five percent of the legal voters of each district affected if the proposed change has been disapproved by both the state and county committees for school district reorganization or, in the case of affiliation, if the petition has been disapproved by the county committee pursuant to sections 79-402.14 and 79-402.15. When area is added to a Class VI district or when a Class I district which is entirely or partially within a Class VI district is taken from the Class VI district, the Class VI district shall be deemed to be an affected district.

(2) Petitions proposing to change the boundaries of existing school districts through the transfer of a parcel of land, not to exceed six hundred forty acres, may be acted upon and so transferred by order of the county superintendent when the petitions involve the transfer of land between Class I, II, III, IV, or V school districts or when there would be an exchange of parcels of land between Class I, II, III, IV, or V school districts if the petitions have the approval of at least sixty-five percent of each school board or board of education. ~~Petitions proposing to change the boundaries of existing school districts through the transfer of a parcel of land, not to exceed six hundred forty acres, may be acted upon and so transferred by order of the county superintendent when the petitions involve the transfer of a parcel of land from a Class I or a Class II school district to a school district of a higher classification if the petition has the approval of sixty-five percent of the legal voters or the board of education of each affected school district as set forth in this section or section~~

(3)(a) Petitions proposing to create a new school district, to change the boundary lines of existing school districts, to create an affiliated school system, or to affiliate a Class I district in part and to join such district in part with a Class VI district, any of which involves the transfer of more than six hundred forty acres, shall, when signed by at least sixty percent of the legal voters in each district affected, be submitted to the county committee for school district reorganization. In the case of a petition for affiliation or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district, the county committee shall review the proposed affiliation subject to sections 79-402.14 and 79-402.15. The county committee shall, within forty days, review and approve or disapprove such proposal and submit it to the state committee for school district reorganization, except that an affiliation petition or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district shall not be submitted to the state committee and the county committee's approval or disapproval shall be final.

(b) The state committee shall, within forty days, review and approve or disapprove the proposal and return it with any recommendations deemed advisable to the county committee. The county committee shall, within fifteen days of receipt of the returned proposal, consider the action of the state committee and determine whether to give final approval or disapproval to the proposal.

(c) The county committee shall, within fifteen days of receipt of the returned proposal or of the committee's final approval or disapproval of an affiliation petition or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district, advertise and hold a public hearing at which the recommendations and action of the state and county committees are presented to the legal voters in attendance. The county committee shall hold the petitions for ten days following the hearing at the end of which time the committee shall file the petitions with the county superintendent.

(d) The county superintendent shall, within fifteen days, advertise and hold a hearing to determine the validity and sufficiency of the petitions. Upon determination, as a result of the hearing, that sufficient valid signatures are contained in the respective petitions, the county superintendent shall proceed to effect the changes in district boundary lines as set forth in the petitions.

(4) Any person adversely affected by the changes made by the county superintendent may appeal to the district court of any county in which the real estate or any part thereof involved in the dispute is located. If the real estate is located in more than one county, the court in which an appeal is first perfected shall obtain jurisdiction to the exclusion of any subsequent appeal.

(5) A signing petitioner shall be permitted to withdraw his or her name therefrom and a legal voter shall be permitted to add his or her name thereto at any time prior to the end of the ten-day period when the county committee files such petitions with the county superintendent. Additions and withdrawals of signatures shall be by notarized affidavit filed with the county superintendent.

Sec. 2. That section 79-3806, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-3806. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) through (6) of this section, each district shall receive equalization aid in the amount that the total formula need of each such district, as determined pursuant to subsection (4) of this section and sections 79-3805 and 79-3807, exceeds its total formula resources as determined pursuant to subsection (4) of this section and sections 79-3808 to 79-3811.

(2) A district shall not receive state aid for each of the school years ~~1990-91, 1991-92, and 1992-93~~ 1992-93, 1993-94, and 1994-95 which is less than one hundred percent of the amount of aid received pursuant to the School Foundation and Equalization Act for school year 1989-90.

(3) No district shall receive equalization aid in an amount such that total state aid received would result in such district having a general fund tax levy of less than sixty percent of the local effort rate as computed pursuant to section 79-3808. The calculation shall be based on valuation, state aid, and levy data from the current school year and, for the calculation of state aid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter, shall also take into consideration the amounts of nonresident high school tuition certified by the department pursuant to section 79-4,102 for the current school year and for the school year in which such state aid is to be paid.

(4) For school districts in affiliated school systems as defined in section 79-101.01, equalization aid to be paid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter shall be computed as follows:

(a) For affiliated Class I districts, the total formula need and total formula resources shall be allocated to each affiliated school system based upon the proportion of such Class I district's adjusted valuation contained in each system with which it is affiliated;

(b) For the high school district and each Class I district or portion thereof allocated pursuant to subdivision (a) of this subsection, the total formula resources shall be subtracted from the total formula need, except that the difference shall never be less than zero;

(c) Each district's total formula need, total formula resources, and difference calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of this subsection shall be added to arrive at system formula need, system formula resources, and system total difference;

(d) System equalization aid shall equal the amount by which the system formula need exceeds system formula resources; and

(e) Each district's share of the system equalization aid shall be calculated by dividing the district's difference calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of this subsection by the system total difference and multiplying the result by the system equalization aid.

(5) Beginning with school year 1994-95, a district which does not generate equalization aid pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and in which option students as defined in section 79-3402 were actually enrolled in the most recently available complete data year shall receive additional state aid for each such student in an amount equal to the statewide average tiered cost per student or the option district's tiered cost per student, whichever is less.

(6) For school years 1992-93 and 1993-94, a district which does not generate equalization aid pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and in which option students as defined in section 79-3402 were actually enrolled in the most recently available complete data year shall receive additional state aid computed by first multiplying the number of such option students, by grade group, by the district's tiered cost per student for each grade group and then summing the results for all grade groups in the district. The district shall receive additional state aid equal to the amount by which this calculation exceeds the district's actual receipts pursuant to section 79-3415 in the most recently available complete data year.

Sec. 3. That section 79-3807, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-3807. (1) Except as provided in ~~subsection~~ subsections (2) and (3) of this section, utilizing each district's tiered cost per student as determined in section 79-3805, total formula need for each district shall be computed by first multiplying the number of formula students in each grade grouping of kindergarten, one through six, including full-day kindergarten, seven and eight, and nine through twelve by each such district's corresponding tiered cost per student in each grade grouping. The sum of such products shall be the district's total formula need.

(2) For calculations of state aid to be paid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter, in school districts which certify to the department no later than June 15 of the current year that such district's average daily membership for the current year exceeds the average daily membership from the most recently available complete data year by more than twenty-five students and by more than one percent of the district's average daily membership in the most recently available complete data year, the total formula need computed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall be computed on the basis of formula students from the current year rather than the most recently available complete data year. Average daily membership increases and formula student increases attributable to school district reorganization shall not be included in the calculations made pursuant to this subsection.

(3) For calculation of state aid to be paid in school year 1993-94 and each school year thereafter, total formula need for the nonresident high school tuition fund of each county shall equal the total nonresident high school tuition charge for the county for each such school year as certified by the department pursuant to section 79-4,102.

Sec. 4. That original sections 79-402, 79-3806, and 79-3807, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, are repealed.".

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92052

DATE:	March 26, 1992
SUBJECT:	LB 1172, As Amended - Federal Preemption of Requirement That Communicating Devices or Occupied Cabooses Be Used By Trains Operating Between Specified Locations In Nebraska.
REQUESTED BY:	Senator Dennis Byars Nebraska State Legislature
WRITTEN BY:	Don Stenberg, Attorney General L. Jay Bartel, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion regarding whether LB 1172, if amended as proposed under AM3540, would impose requirements on trains operating between certain locations in Nebraska which are in contravention of federal law.

In Attorney General Opinion No. 92044, March 17, 1992, we concluded that the requirements sought to be imposed on the operation of trains in Nebraska under LB 1172 were preempted by federal law. Specifically, we concluded that the requirement under LB 1172 that trains operating between certain locations specified in section 3 of the bill be equipped with "communicating devices" was preempted by both the Locomotive Boiler Inspection Act {LBIA}, 45 U.S.C. § 22 et seq. (1988), and the Federal Railroad Safety Act {FRSA}, 45 U.S.C. § 421 et seq. (1988). Upon review of the proposed amendment to LB 1172, it is our opinion that, even if the changes contained in AM3540 were adopted, the requirements imposed under the bill would still be contrary to federal law.

In our prior opinion, we set forth the principles regarding the preemption under the supremacy clause of the United States Constitution of state laws which conflict with federal law, and noted that, in addressing the preemption issues raised by the proposed "communicating device" requirement provided for under LB 1172, it was necessary to consider two federal statutory schemes regulating railroads, the LBIA and the FRSA. The preemptive effect of these two congressional enactments was discussed at length in our earlier opinion, and, accordingly, such discussion will not be reiterated herein. In examining whether the changes to LB 1172 proposed under AM3540 remedy the defects identified in our previous opinion, it is again necessary to examine the preemption principles applicable under the LBIA and the FRSA.

With respect to the application of the LBIA, it is clear that the total preemptive effect of the LBIA precludes any state efforts to impose requirements for locomotive equipment. Napier v. Atlantic Coast Railroad Co., 272 U.S. 605 (1926); Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. v. Railroad Comm'n of Texas, 833 F.2d 570, 576n.7 (5th Cir. 1987) ("State attempts to prescribe any locomotive safety equipment must necessarily fail.") (Emphasis in original). It is apparent that, even if the proposed amendment to LB 1172 were adopted, the "communicating devices" required under the bill would mandate the use and installation of equipment on locomotives of certain trains not required by federal law, in contravention of these principles.

The proposed amendment to section 4 of the bill would retain the requirement that such devices include installation of a "radio transmitter and receiver system or other electronic equipment" that transmits certain information "to the engineer in the front of the train." The device is still required to display specific information to the engineer at the front of the train regarding brake pipe pressure at the rear car of the train, rear car movement, battery life, whether the rear marker light is operating, interruption of the communicating device radio transmission, and distance in feet travelled. The amendment would eliminate the provision requiring that the device be capable of sending a signal to the "end-of-train" device placed on the last car of the train to initiate an "emergency braking" of the train.

Upon review of these proposed changes, we are still of the opinion that the "communicating device" required by LB 1172 would mandate the use and installation of equipment on locomotives not required by federal law, in violation of the LBIA. The Federal Railroad Safety Administration {FRSA} has promulgated regulations which set forth specifications and requirements for certain telemetry devices which are permitted (not required) to be used on trains subject to its jurisdiction. 49 C.F.R. § 232.19. Apart from the fact that the use of such devices under federal regulations is permissive, and not mandatory, it is evident that the specifications sought to be imposed by LB 1172 would impose requirements in addition to those provided under federal law. For example, while LB 1172 mandates the front-of-train device be capable of receiving information from the rear-of-train device as to "rear car movement," the federal regulations governing telemetry systems are silent as to this issue. In any event, to the extent that LB 1172, if amended as proposed under AM3540, would still mandate installation of equipment on locomotives not required by federal law, it is our opinion that the imposition of such equipment requirements affecting locomotives is preempted by the LBIA.

Furthermore, even if the proposed amendment to LB 1172 could save the bill from being struck down in the event of a preemption challenge under the LBIA, we still believe the bill, if amended in the manner proposed, would, if challenged, be held to contravene the FRSA, and, as such, would be preempted on this basis.

The FRSA allows state railroad safety regulation of areas not covered by the "subject matter" of rules adopted by the federal government. A state may regulate railroad safety in the same area as the federal government only: (1) "when necessary to eliminate or reduce an essentially local safety hazard"; (2) "when not incompatible with any Federal law, rule, regulation, order or standard"; and (3) "when not creating an undue burden on interstate commerce." 45 U.S.C. § 434 (1988). In order for a state rule or regulation reaching a federally-addressed rail safety issue to survive preemption under the FRSA, it must satisfy each of the elements of this narrow exception. National Association of Regulatory Commissioners v. Coleman, 542 F.2d 11 (3d Cir. 1976).

As stated in our prior opinion, "{t}here can be no question that the federal government has enacted rules or regulations covering the 'subject matter' sought to be addressed by LB 1172." Attorney General Opinion No. 92044, at 6. Nothing in the proposed amendment to LB 1172 alters the fact that the bill continues to address areas affecting railroad safety issues (i.e. telemetry/communicating device requirements or occupied caboose requirements) already covered by federal regulation.[1]

This leaves, of course, the question of whether the proposed amendment to LB 1172 could place the requirements sought to be imposed within the "local safety hazard" exception. In our view, the bill, even if amended as proposed, could not satisfy each of the three elements necessary for application of this exception.

First, while section 1 of LB 1172 still declares the occupied caboose or communicating device requirements are necessary to address "local safety hazard" concerns in areas specified in section 3 of the bill, it again does not identify what specific "local safety hazard" issues are sought to be remedied by imposing such requirements in these areas. As noted in our prior opinion, when the State of Oregon imposed telemetry equipment requirements on cabooseless trains operating through assertedly "local safety hazard" areas, which were defined to include areas where track grades, urban development, or certain rail-highway grade-crossings existed, the federal district court held that the "local safety hazard" exception was inapplicable. Union Pacific Railroad Co. v. Public Utility Comm'n of Oregon, 723 F.Supp. 526, 530 (D. Or. 1989). Similarly, when the State of Virginia imposed telemetry equipment requirements on cabooseless trains, including those trains operating in "local safety hazard" areas such as mainline tracks passing through railroad switching yards, the federal district court nonetheless held the requirements to be preempted by federal law. CSX Transportation, Inc. v. Griffith, Civ. 2:89-0480 and Norfolk and Western Ry. Co. v. Public Service Comm'n of West Virginia, Civ. 2:89-0676 (S.D. W.Va. Nov. 22, 1989).

While we still are not aware of the basis upon which the areas specified in section 3 of LB 1172 were selected as identifying particular "local safety hazard" areas, we continue to question whether these locations pose hazards unique to the overall railway system in the State of Nebraska, and, more importantly, whether such areas present hazards peculiar to the State of Nebraska which do not exist throughout the national railroad system. Indeed, given the particular locations identified in section 3 of the bill, it appears that compliance with the requirements imposed would, for all practical purposes, have statewide effect, thus producing a result wholly contrary to the purpose behind the "local safety hazard" exception to the FRSA. See National Association of Regulatory Commissioners v. Coleman, supra. In our view, the bill, either in its original form or under the amendment proposed by AM3540, simply does not address a truly "local safety hazard" issue subject to state regulation.

As to the second element of the "local safety hazard" exception, we must still question whether the bill, if amended as proposed, could be deemed compatible with existing federal regulations. While the "emergency braking" provision, noted in our previous opinion as being contrary to federal regulations, would be eliminated under AM3540, we note that, as pointed out in our discussion of the application of the LBIA, the specifications and requirements sought to be imposed under LB 1172 continue to differ from those permitted (not required) under federal regulations governing telemetry devices. In our view, a conflict with existing federal law requirements still exists under the proposed amendment to LB 1172.

Finally, the "local safety hazard" exception is not applicable if the state law places an undue burden on interstate commerce. We reiterate the admonition of the Fifth Circuit, which stated: "{I}t is difficult to imagine a state regulation of the train itself, as opposed to the right-of-way, which could escape being a burden upon commerce under Article I, Section 8, Clause 3, of the United States Constitution." Missouri Pacific Railroad v.

Railroad Comm'n of Texas, 850 F.2d 264, 268 (5th Cir. 1988), cert. denied 488 U.S. 1009 (1989). The changes to LB 1172 proposed under AM3540 do not alter our prior conclusion that imposition of the requirements contained in the bill would, if enacted, create an undue and impermissible burden on interstate commerce.

In conclusion, it is our opinion that, for the reasons stated above, the requirements sought to be imposed on the operation of trains in the State of Nebraska under LB 1172, if amended as proposed under AM3540, would be invalid and unenforceable as being preempted by federal law.

[1] As to the proposed addition of language providing that "{s}ection 4 of this act shall terminate at such time as any federal law or regulation is adopted which sets standards and operating requirements which satisfy the requirements of this section," we note that the inclusion of such language seemingly reflects a lack of understanding regarding the preemption principles articulated in our prior opinion. Where the "subject matter" addressed by a state or local rail safety requirement has been addressed by federal regulation (as is clearly the case in this instance), state or local governments are simply not free to impose additional or conflicting requirements. Where federal regulations have covered the subject matter sought to be reached by state or local rail safety enactments, the state or local safety regulations will fail unless they fall within the "local safety hazard" exception.

Very truly yours,
DON STENBERG

MOTION - Reconsider Action on LB 1061

Mr. Chizek moved to reconsider Abboud amendment, AM3518, to LB 1061.

Laid over.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

Opinion No. 92054

DATE:	April 1, 1992
SUBJECT:	LB 1241; Constitutionality of a proposed procedure whereby the Executive Board of the Legislative Council would approve completion of certain construction projects after funds for those projects were appropriated.
REQUESTED BY:	Senator Ron Withem Nebraska State Legislature
WRITTEN BY:	Don Stenberg, Attorney General Dale A. Comer, Assistant Attorney General

LB 1241 is a bill which, among other things, would change the responsibilities and powers of the various divisions within the Department of Administrative Services with respect to the purchase, lease and disposition of real and personal property for state agencies. The intention of the bill is apparently to centralize and coordinate the real property resources owned and leased by the State.

Section 1(2) of LB 1241 appropriates various sums to renovate the Stone Office Building at the Norfolk Regional Center. You are concerned with certain proposed amendments to Section 1(2). Specifically, you are concerned with that portion of AM3692 which would add the following language to Section 1(2) of LB 1241:

> The State Building Administrator shall report to the Executive Board of the Legislative Council a detailed analysis of the estimated cost to provide safe and comfortable office space in the Stone Office Building that conforms to applicable building and fire codes on or before July 1, 1992. If the cost exceeds the appropriation provided in this section, the executive board shall determine whether or not the project should be completed.

You have posed a number of questions concerning the propriety of this amendatory language. We will consider your various questions in a somewhat different order than they were presented.

You ask whether the portion of AM3692 quoted above, "...constitutes an unconstitutional distribution of power in violation of Article II, Section 1 {the Separation of Powers Clause}, of the Nebraska Constitution." We believe there are constitutional difficulties with the language in question.

We have previously considered the propriety of legislative bills which proposed procedures similar to those set out in AM3692. For example, in Opinion of the Attorney General No. 87114, December 9, 1987, we considered a proposed procedure for distribution of the Nebraska Energy Settlement Fund whereby the Governor developed a plan for disbursement of the energy overcharge monies in the Fund and submitted that plan to the Legislature. The Appropriations Committee of the Legislature then conducted hearings on the plan and considered appropriations to carry out the Governor's proposal. No monies could be spent from the Fund without an appropriation based upon legislative approval of the Governor's plan.

In Opinion No. 87114, we concluded that the proposed disbursement procedure violated Article II, Section 1 of the Nebraska Constitution because it involved the Legislature in the functions of the Executive Branch of government. We stated:

> The Legislature is, in essence, requiring legislative approval before expenditure of the funds. The fact that the bill is written in terms of legislative approval for the appropriation does not alter the clear intent of the act requiring legislative approval for the expenditure. The Legislature is in effect attempting to both make the law and administer it; appropriate money, and spend it. This is a violation of the separation of powers article of the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.

Similarly, in 1963, we considered a bill which would have provided that no expenditure of funds for the construction of state buildings could be made from the state institutional building fund without prior authorization of the Legislature. Report of the Attorney General 1963-1964, No. 22 at 37. In that opinion, we again concluded that such strictures upon executive agencies involved the Legislature in encroachment upon the Executive power, and violated the Separation of Powers doctrine. We stated:

> It is our conclusion that, while the Legislature has exclusive control over appropriations and the granting of the power to take title to real estate, it must exercise this control when it passes the bills in which it limits or restricts, or permits the action of the executive agency involved. It may not retain control over the expenditure or use of the power by requiring approval of the Legislature or any committee of the Legislature subsequent to the passage of the law in which the appropriation or power is given. To do so is to invade the executive functions in such a manner as to violate Article II of the Nebraska Constitution requiring the separation of powers of government.

Id. at 39.

It seems to us that the approval process contemplated by the portion of AM3692 at issue is quite similar to the situations discussed in the opinions cited above. AM3692 would appropriate money for renovation of the Stone Office Building. However, after the appropriation, the Executive Board of the Legislative Council would still retain some control over completion of the project. In our view, this continued control impermissibly involves the Legislature in functions of the Executive branch of government. Any decision as to whether the renovation project should be completed if its costs overrun the appropriation should be left to the executive agency involved, since the determination if other funds are available or if there are other means to complete the project is really an executive function. Therefore, we believe this portion of AM3692 is of suspect constitutionality.

You also ask whether the portion of AM3692 giving review authority to the Executive Board of the Legislative Council constitutes some form of improper delegation of legislative authority. In previous opinions, we have indicated that the Legislative Council and its Executive Board are creatures of the Legislature which are not separate and distinct from it, but merely part of the Legislature itself. Opinion of the Attorney General No. 49, March 6, 1981; Opinion of the Attorney General No. 50, March 13, 1981. As a result, we believe that those bodies can perform investigatory and other functions for the Legislature so long as they do not perform duties specifically required of the Legislature itself in the Nebraska Constitution. In that light, we do not believe there is a delegation problem with the language in AM3692.

Finally, you ask whether "Amendment 3692 is a violation of any other provisions in law." We would respond to that general question in a broader sense with respect to LB 1241 in its entirety.

In previous opinions, we have indicated that substantive legislative provisions should not be included in the same bill along with appropriation legislation. Opinion of the Attorney General No. 91020, March 25, 1991; Opinion of the Attorney General No. 24, February 13, 1981; Opinion of the Attorney General No. 289, May 14, 1980; Report of the Attorney General 1977-1978, No. 241 at 368 and No. 75 at 112; Report of the Attorney General 1975-1976, No. 201 at 281. This position is based upon the constitutional provisions relating to appropriations bills which indicate that they should be restricted to making appropriations only, and should not enact substantive legislation.

LB 1241 contains several appropriations provisions for renovation of the Stone Office Building and for other purposes. It also contains considerable substantive legislation dealing with the administration of the real property owned by the State. For the reasons set out in our various opinions cited above, we believe that LB 1241 impermissibly joins appropriation and substantive legislation in the same bill.

Sincerely yours,
(Signed) Dale A. Comer
Assistant Attorney General

Sec. 2. That section 79-3806, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-3806. (1) Except as provided in subsections (2) through (6) of this section, each district shall receive equalization aid in the amount that the total formula need of each such district, as determined pursuant to subsection (4) of this section and sections 79-3805 and 79-3807, exceeds its total formula resources as determined pursuant to subsection (4) of this section and sections 79-3808 to 79-3811.

(2) A district shall not receive state aid for each of the school years ~~1990-91, 1991-92, and 1992-93~~ 1992-93, 1993-94, and 1994-95 which is less than one hundred percent of the amount of aid received pursuant to the School Foundation and Equalization Act for school year 1989-90.

(3) No district shall receive equalization aid in an amount such that total state aid received would result in such district having a general fund tax levy of less than sixty percent of the local effort rate as computed pursuant to section 79-3808. The calculation shall be based on valuation, state aid, and levy data from the current school year and, for the calculation of state aid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter, shall also take into consideration the amounts of nonresident high school tuition certified by the department pursuant to section 79-4,102 for the current school year and for the school year in which such state aid is to be paid.

(4) For school districts in affiliated school systems as defined in section 79-101.01, equalization aid to be paid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter shall be computed as follows:

(a) For affiliated Class I districts, the total formula need and total formula resources shall be allocated to each affiliated school system based upon the proportion of such Class I district's adjusted valuation contained in each system with which it is affiliated;

(b) For the high school district and each Class I district or portion thereof allocated pursuant to subdivision (a) of this subsection, the total formula resources shall be subtracted from the total formula need, except that the difference shall never be less than zero;

(c) Each district's total formula need, total formula resources, and difference calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of this subsection shall be added to arrive at system formula need, system formula resources, and system total difference;

(d) System equalization aid shall equal the amount by which the system formula need exceeds system formula resources; and

(e) Each district's share of the system equalization aid shall be calculated by dividing the district's difference calculated pursuant to subdivision (b) of this subsection by the system total difference and multiplying the result by the system equalization aid.

(5) Beginning with school year 1994-95, a district which does not generate equalization aid pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and in which option students as defined in section 79-3402 were actually enrolled in the most recently available complete data year shall receive additional state aid for each such student in an amount equal to the statewide average tiered cost per student or the option district's tiered cost per student, whichever is less.

(6) For school years 1992-93 and 1993-94, a district which does not generate equalization aid pursuant to subsection (1) of this section and in which option students as defined in section 79-3402 were actually enrolled in the most recently available complete data year shall receive additional state aid computed by first multiplying the number of such option students, by grade group, by the district's tiered cost per student for each grade group and then summing the results for all grade groups in the district. The district shall receive additional state aid equal to the amount by which this calculation exceeds the district's actual receipts pursuant to section 79-3415 in the most recently available complete data year.

79-402. (1) The county superintendent shall create a new school district from other districts, change the boundaries of any district, or affiliate a Class I district or portion thereof with one or more existing Class II, III, IV, or V districts upon receipt of petitions signed by sixty percent of the legal voters of each district affected, except that petitions shall contain signatures of at least sixty-five percent of the legal voters of each district affected if the proposed change has been disapproved by both the state and county committees for school district reorganization or, in the case of affiliation, if the petition has been disapproved by the county committee pursuant to sections

(2) Petitions proposing to change the boundaries of existing school districts through the transfer of a parcel of land, not to exceed six hundred forty acres, may be acted upon and so transferred by order of the county superintendent when the petitions involve the transfer of land between Class I, II, III, IV, or V school districts or when there would be an exchange of parcels of land between Class I, II, III, IV, or V school districts if the petitions have the approval of at least sixty-five percent of each school board or board of education. ~~Petitions proposing to change the boundaries of existing school districts through the transfer of a parcel of land, not to exceed six hundred forty acres, may be acted upon and so transferred by order of the county superintendent when the petitions involve the transfer of a parcel of land from a Class I or a Class II school district to a school district of a higher classification if the petition has the approval of sixty-five percent of the legal voters or the board of education of each affected school district as set forth in this section or section 79-402.03.~~

(3)(a) Petitions proposing to create a new school district, to change the boundary lines of existing school districts, to create an affiliated school system, or to affiliate a Class I district in part and to join such district in part with a Class VI district, any of which involves the transfer of more than six hundred forty acres, shall, when signed by at least sixty percent of the legal voters in each district affected, be submitted to the county committee for school district reorganization. In the case of a petition for affiliation or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district, the county committee shall review the proposed affiliation subject to sections 79-402.14 and 79-402.15. The county committee shall, within forty days, review and approve or disapprove such proposal and submit it to the state committee for school district reorganization, except that an affiliation petition or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district shall not be submitted to the state committee and the county committee's approval or disapproval shall be final.

(b) The state committee shall, within forty days, review and approve or disapprove the proposal and return it with any recommendations deemed advisable to the county committee. The county committee shall, within fifteen days of receipt of the returned proposal, consider the action of the state committee and determine whether to give final approval or disapproval to the proposal.

(c) The county committee shall, within fifteen days of receipt of the returned proposal or of the committee's final approval or disapproval of an affiliation petition or a petition to affiliate in part and in part to join a Class VI district, advertise and hold a public hearing at which the recommendations and action of the state and county committees are presented to the legal voters in attendance. The county committee shall hold the petitions for ten days following the hearing at the end of which time the committee shall file the petitions with the county superintendent.

(d) The county superintendent shall, within fifteen days, advertise and hold a hearing to determine the validity and sufficiency of the petitions. Upon determination, as a result of the hearing, that sufficient valid signatures are contained in the respective petitions, the county superintendent shall proceed to effect the changes in district boundary lines as set forth in the petitions.

(4) Any person adversely affected by the changes made by the county superintendent may appeal to the district court of any county in which the real estate or any part thereof involved in the dispute is located. If the real estate is located in more than one county, the court in which an appeal is first perfected shall obtain jurisdiction to the exclusion of any subsequent appeal.

(5) A signing petitioner shall be permitted to withdraw his or her name therefrom and a legal voter shall be permitted to add his or her name thereto at any time prior to the end of the ten-day period when the county committee files such petitions with the county superintendent. Additions and withdrawals of signatures shall be by notarized affidavit filed with the county

(2) For calculations of state aid to be paid in school year 1992-93 and each school year thereafter, in school districts which certify to the department no later than June 15 of the current year that such district's average daily membership for the current year exceeds the average daily membership from the most recently available complete data year by more than twenty-five students and by more than one percent of the district's average daily membership in the most recently available complete data year, the total formula need computed pursuant to subsection (1) of this section shall be computed on the basis of formula students from the current year rather than the most recently available complete data year. Average daily membership increases and formula student increases attributable to school district reorganization shall not be included in the calculations made pursuant to this subsection.

(3) For calculation of state aid to be paid in school year 1993-94 and each school year thereafter, total formula need for the nonresident high school tuition fund of each county shall equal the total

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 8. That section 79-3407, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-3407. (1) Except as provided in section 79-3409, the school board or board of education of the option school district shall adopt by resolution specific standards for acceptance and rejection of applications. Standards may include the capacity of a program, class, grade level, or school building or the availability of appropriate special education programs operated by the option district. Capacity shall be determined by setting a maximum number of option students that a district will accept in any program, class, grade level, or school building, based upon available staff, facilities, projected enrollment of resident students, projected number of students with which the option district will contract based on existing contractual arrangements, and availability of appropriate special education programs. The school board or board of education of the option school district may by resolution declare a program, a class, or a school unavailable to option students due to lack of capacity. Standards shall not include previous academic achievement, athletic or other extracurricular ability, handicapping conditions, proficiency in the English language, or previous disciplinary proceedings.

(2) A school district that has a desegregation plan adopted by the school board or the board of education or ordered by the federal court may limit the number of students who transfer into or out of the school district. The school board or board of education of such school district shall adopt specific standards for acceptance and rejection of applications for transfer into or out of such district. Standards shall be designed to facilitate the school district's desegregation plan and maintain or improve the integration of the school district.

(3) Any option school district shall give first priority for enrollment to option students whose request for enrollment would aid the racial integration of the option school district and the resident school district and to siblings of option students, except that the option school district shall not be required to accept the sibling of an option student if the district is at capacity except as provided in subsection (2) of section 79-3409.

(4) For purposes of this section, racial integration is aided if a student transfers to an option school district in which his or her race is a smaller percentage of the total student enrollment of the option school district than it is of the student's resident school district.

(1) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that a new program is required by state or federal law or an existing program mandated by state or federal law has been expanded as a result of changes in ~~such~~ state or federal law. For purposes of this subsection, a final order of a court from which no appeal is taken which requires reimbursement by a district of property taxes to a taxpayer shall be considered a new program required by state or federal law but shall not be included as part of the general fund budget of expenditures for purposes of section 79-3814.

(2) The district projects an increase in formula students in the district over the current school year greater than twenty-five students or greater than those listed in the schedule provided in this subsection, whichever is less. Districts shall project increases in formula students on forms prescribed by the department. The state board shall approve, deny, or modify the projected increases.

1,000.01 and over	1

The department shall compute the district's estimated allowable budget per pupil using the budgeted general fund expenditures found on the budget statement for the current school year divided by the number of formula students in the current school year and multiplied by the district's applicable allowable growth rate. The resulting allowable budget per pupil shall be multiplied by the projected formula students to arrive at the estimated budget needs for the ensuing year. The department shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures for the ensuing school year by the amount necessary to fund the estimated budget needs of the district as computed pursuant to this subsection. On or before July 1 of each year, the department shall make needed revisions in the applicable allowable growth rate of districts which have been allowed additional growth pursuant to this subsection to reflect the actual formula students of such district and shall certify such revisions to each district.

(3) Construction, expansion, or alteration of district buildings will cause an increase in building operation and maintenance costs of at least five percent. The department shall document the projected increase in building operation and maintenance costs and may allow a district to exceed its applicable allowable growth percentage by the amount necessary to fund such increased costs. The department shall compute the actual increased costs for the school year and shall, if needed, modify the district's applicable allowable growth rate for the ensuing school year.";

AM3936

(Amendments to AM3798)

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Sec. 161. That section 77-1232, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, as amended by section 100, Legislative Bill 1063, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-1232. Any person who makes a false or fraudulent list, schedule, or statement required by law or willfully fails or refuses to deliver to the assessor a list of the taxable tangible personal property which by law is required to be listed, or temporarily converts any part of such property into property not taxable, for the fraudulent purpose of preventing such property from being listed and of evading the payment of taxes thereon, or transfers or transmits any property to any person with such intent, shall be guilty of a Class IV misdemeanor for any such offense committed for any tax year prior to tax year 1993 and a Class II misdemeanor for any such offense committed for tax year 1993 or thereafter. The penalty provisions of this section shall not apply to any person filing a late personal property return by reason of such late filing for tax year 1992.

Sec. 162. That section 77-1233.04, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, as amended by section 102, Legislative Bill 1063, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-1233.04. (1) The county assessor shall change the reported valuation of any item of personal property listed on the return of any taxpayer to conform the valuation to taxable value. The assessor shall make a change to the valuation of any item of personal property for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein.

(2) The county assessor shall list any item of personal property omitted from or not returned on a personal property return of any taxpayer and value the property at its taxable value. The assessor shall list and value omitted or not returned property for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein. Property so listed and valued shall be taxed at the same rate as would have been imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the state in which the property should have been returned for taxation. To the tax shall be added a penalty of fifty percent of the tax due. Interest shall be assessed upon both the tax and the penalty at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, from the date the tax would have been delinquent until paid. The penalty provisions of this section shall not apply to any person filing a late personal property return by reason of such late filing for tax year 1992.

(3) For purposes of this section, the county assessor shall send notice, by first-class mail to the last-known address of the taxpayer, on a form prescribed by the Tax Commissioner, advising the taxpayer of the action taken, the penalty, and the rate of interest, if any. The notice shall also state the taxpayer's appeal rights and the appeal procedures.

(4) The county assessor may with the approval of the county board of equalization waive all or part of the penalty assessed and any interest thereon. The entire penalty and interest shall be waived if the omission or failure to return any item of personal property was for the reason that the property was timely reported in the wrong taxing district.

(5) For purposes of this section, the taxpayer may appeal the action of the county assessor, either as to the valuation of property or the penalties imposed, to the county board of equalization within thirty days of the date the notice was mailed by the county assessor. The taxpayer shall preserve his or her appeal by filing an appeal with the county clerk in the same manner as prescribed for protests in section 77-1502. The action of the county assessor shall become final unless an appeal is filed within the time prescribed.

(6) Upon ten days' notice to the taxpayer, the county board of equalization shall set a date for hearing the appeal of the taxpayer. The county board of equalization shall make its determination on the appeal within thirty days after the date of hearing. The county clerk shall, within seven days of the determination of the county board, send notice to the taxpayer and the county assessor, on forms prescribed by the Tax Commissioner, of the action of the county board. Appeal de novo may be taken from the decision of the county board of equalization to the district court of the county in which the assessment is made in the manner prescribed in sections 77-1510 and 77-1511.

(7) Taxes and penalties assessed for the current year, if not delinquent, shall be certified to the county treasurer and collected as if the property had been properly reported for taxation, except that separate tax statements may be mailed. Taxes and penalties assessed for the current year, if delinquent, and taxes and penalties assessed for prior years shall be certified to the county treasurer, and the tax, penalties, and interest thereon shall be due and collectible immediately upon certification. Collection procedures shall be started immediately regardless of the provisions of any other statute to the contrary.

Sec. 163. That section 77-1233.05, Reissue Revised Statutes of Nebraska, 1943, as amended by section 103, Legislative Bill 1063, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

77-1233.05. If a return is voluntarily filed or omitted property is voluntarily reported after the final date for returning such property has passed for the current taxing period and the three previous taxing periods or any taxing period included therein, the property shall be taxed at the same rate as imposed upon the property in the governmental subdivision of the State of Nebraska in which the property should have been returned for taxation. To the tax shall be added a penalty of ten percent of the amount of tax due on tangible personal property. Interest at the rate specified in section 45-104.01, as such rate may from time to time be adjusted by the Legislature, shall be assessed upon such penalty from the date of delinquency of the tax until paid.

The county assessor with the approval of the county board of equalization may waive all or part of the penalty and the interest on the penalty. If the omission or failure to return or report property was caused by the fact that such property was timely reported in the wrong taxing district, the entire penalty and the interest on the penalty shall be waived.

Appeals may be taken under the same conditions and in the same manner as provided in section 77-1233.04.

A return shall be deemed to be voluntarily filed or omitted property shall be deemed to have been voluntarily reported if the action is done without notice from any taxing official or if the taxpayer prior to such notice notified the county assessor in writing that such return would be filed late and the return was subsequently filed within thirty days. Returns voluntarily filed or omitted property voluntarily reported as provided in this section shall not be subjected to any other penalty.

This section shall not be so construed as to prohibit any taxing official from the proper discovery, assessment, taxation, and penalization of and for any property not listed or returned, regardless of when or in what manner the return was filed. The penalty provisions of this section shall not apply to any person filing a late personal property return by reason of such late filing for tax year 1992.".

RESOLUTION

LEGISLATIVE RESOLUTION 425. Introduced by Pirsch, 10.

WHEREAS, there are over ninety-four thousand crimes committed each day in the United States; and

WHEREAS, reports of violent crime in Nebraska are estimated to have risen by fourteen percent in 1991; and

WHEREAS, the victims and survivors of those crimes face financial loss, physical injury, and emotional trauma both at the hand of the criminal and by the criminal justice system; and

WHEREAS, family members and friends of victims and survivors of crime also suffer from the trauma of victimization; and

WHEREAS, the fear of crime causes millions to alter their lifestyles and inhibits their freedom of movement; and

WHEREAS, victims still do not receive justice that affords rights of access and participation that are equal to those of the accused; and

WHEREAS, special victim groups such as racial minority victims, victims of hate crimes, elderly victims, child victims, surviving relatives of homicide victims, victims of drunk driving, sexual assault victims, differently-abled victims, spouse abuse victims, catastrophic physical injury victims, and burglary victims are of the underserved in many of our communities; and

WHEREAS, certain types of victimization, such as sexual assault, family violence, and sexual harassment, remain unreported or underreported because their victims are often disbelieved and stigmatized; and

WHEREAS, the distance traveled over the past fourteen-years, when the first victim assistance program was founded in Nebraska, is gratifying, we still have far to go before we have truly established victim justice; and

WHEREAS, thousands of our fellow citizens, in their work and their volunteer activities, are devoting themselves to bringing a full measure of dignity, compassion, and justice to those of our friends, relatives, and neighbors who fall victim to crime.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MEMBERS OF THE NINETY-SECOND LEGISLATURE OF NEBRASKA, SECOND SESSION:

1. That the Legislature designates and proclaims the week of April 26 through May 2, 1992, to be Victims Rights Week in Nebraska.
2. That the Legislature urges all Nebraskans to continue to help crime victims and witnesses and to treat them with respect, compassion, and fairness for the sake of justice and human dignity.
3. That the Legislature expresses its gratitude to those Nebraskans who give so much of themselves in their efforts to lessen the plight of crime victims, bringing justice into balance, and making our communities in Nebraska better and safer places.

Laid over.

(2) Option school district shall mean the public school district that a student chooses to attend other than his or her resident school district;

(4) Resident school district shall mean the public school district in which a student resides; and

79-3407. (1) Except as provided in section 79-3409, the school board or board of education of the option school district shall adopt by resolution specific standards for acceptance and rejection of applications. Standards may include the capacity of a program, class, grade level, or school building or the availability of appropriate special education programs operated by the option district. Capacity shall be determined by setting a maximum number of option students that a district will accept in any program, class, grade level, or school building, based upon available staff, facilities, projected enrollment of resident students, projected number of students with which the option district will contract based on existing contractual arrangements, and availability of appropriate special education programs. The school board or board of education of the option school district may by resolution declare a program, a class, or a school unavailable to option students due to lack of capacity. Standards shall not include previous academic achievement, athletic or other extracurricular ability, handicapping conditions, proficiency in the English language, or previous disciplinary proceedings.

(2) A school district that has a desegregation plan adopted by the school board or the board of education or ordered by the federal court may limit the number of students who transfer into or out of the school district. Standards shall be designed to facilitate the school district's desegregation plan and maintain or improve the integration of the school district.

(3) Any option school district shall give first priority for enrollment to option students whose request for enrollment would aid the racial integration of the option school district and the resident school district and to siblings of option students, except that the option school district shall not be required to accept the sibling of an option student if the district is at capacity, except as provided in subsection (4) of section 79-3409.

(4) For purposes of this section, racial integration is aided if a student transfers to an option school district in which his or her race is a smaller percentage of the total student enrollment of the option school district than it is of the student's resident school district.

Sec. 10. That section 79-3409, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, be amended to read as follows:

79-3409. (1) Upon agreement of the school boards or boards of education of the resident school district and the option school district, the deadlines for application and approval or rejection prescribed in sections 79-3406 and 79-3408 may be waived.

(2) The application of a student who relocates in a different school district but wants to continue attending his or her original resident school district and who has been enrolled in his or her original resident school district for the immediately preceding two years shall be automatically accepted, and the deadlines prescribed in sections 79-3406 and 79-3408 shall be waived.

(3) The application of an option student who relocates in a different school district but wants to continue attending the option school district shall be automatically accepted, and the deadlines prescribed in sections 79-3406 and 79-3408 shall be waived.

(4) The sibling of any option student shall be automatically accepted as an option student in the district in which the option student is enrolled and all deadlines imposed by sections 79-3406 and 79-3408 shall be waived if the sibling makes application for participation in the enrollment option program for the same school year as the option student first makes application or, if the sibling is not yet of school age for the school year for which the option student first made application, the sibling makes application for the first school year the sibling is of school age. Capacity limitations of the option district shall be waived as to siblings who meet the requirements for automatic acceptance as option students under this section.".

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino was a professor and chair of the combined departments of psychiatry at the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha and at Creighton University; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino's work included contributions to both professional and advocacy organizations, service as a consultant to the President's Committee on Mental Retardation, a member of the National Institute of Mental Health since 1978, and prolific research and writing. At the time of his death, Dr. Menolascino was serving on ten professional editorial boards; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino was the recipient of many awards and honors, including the Strecker Award as Outstanding Psychiatrist in America, the Distinguished Lecturer Award from Oxford University, and the Samuel G. Hibbs Award for Research. He was one of only two Americans to receive the Blake March Lecture Award from the Royal College of Psychiatrists in London; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino was on the team of people that wrote "Into the Light", a booklet that helped both the public and politicians to understand that all people have potential and would grow best in the least restrictive environment. WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino challenged parents to help their children be all they could be and to appreciate them. He demanded that professionals see people with mental retardation as developmentally delayed persons who could learn to live to the fullest and should be allowed to; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino's career as a psychiatrist and as an advocate for the mentally handicapped is star-studded. He served as chair of the Greater Omaha Association for Retarded Citizens and served on the board of the National Association for Retarded Citizens and then as its president. He had an uncanny insight into people and used it to get his way and to help others get theirs. His sometimes gruff manner barely disguised his soft heart; and

WHEREAS, Dr. Menolascino was respected and loved by many, many parents who considered him the only buffer between them and the sometimes uninformed or uninvolved professionals. Dr. Menolascino cared and responded. Mental health and mental retardation professionals knew that Dr. Menolascino could and would offer advice and information that came from experience and from research; and

Opinion No. 92056

DATE: April 6, 1992

SUBJECT: Referendum Powers of the Nebraska State Legislature

REQUESTED BY: Senator Thomas R. Horgan
Nebraska State Legislature

WRITTEN BY: Don Stenberg, Attorney General
Jan E. Rempe, Assistant Attorney General

You have requested our opinion on the constitutional and statutory authority for a proposed legislative amendment to LB 958. The amendment provides in part:

> (4) . . . {u}pon passage of Legislative Bill 958, . . . section 6 of this act shall be referred to the electors of this state and placed on the ballot by the Secretary of State at the general election in November 1992 pursuant to section 32-707.01.
> (5)(a) A vote Repeal shall repeal section 6 of this act and the law in effect prior to passage of Legislative Bill 958 . . . shall be effective.
> (b) A vote Retain shall approve section 6 of this act and it shall remain in effect as the law.

Amendment 3569, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992.

Specifically, you have asked whether the Nebraska Constitution and state statutes authorize the Legislature to direct that the above referendum be invoked, and whether the results of a referendum election held without constitutional or statutory authorization would be binding. Based on the following analysis, we conclude that neither the Nebraska Constitution nor state statutes permit the Legislature to initiate a referendum. Further, if a referendum election was held despite the lack of constitutional and statutory authority for such an election, the election would be a nullity.

The Legislature has plenary legislative authority, which is limited only by the Nebraska and federal constitutions. State ex rel. Creighton Univ. v. Smith, 217 Neb. 682, 353 N.W.2d 267 (1984); Lenstrom v. Thone, 209 Neb. 783, 311 N.W.2d 884 (1981); Consumers Coal Co. v. City of Lincoln, 109 Neb. 51, 189 N.W. 643 (1922). The state constitution is not a grant of power like the federal constitution, but is instead a limitation of power. Creighton, supra; Lenstrom, supra; Consumers, supra.

> We look . . . in the Constitution of the state to ascertain if any limitations have been imposed upon the complete powers with which the legislative department of the state is vested in its creation. . . . The lawmaking power of the state recognizes no restraints, and is bound by none, except such as are imposed by the Constitution.

Consumers, supra at 64-65, 189 N.W. at 648 (emphasis deleted). Thus, the Legislature may legislate on any subject not inhibited by the state or federal constitutions, and restrictions on this legislative power will not be inferred unless the restriction is clearly implied. Creighton, supra; Lenstrom, supra.

Article III, Section 1, of the Nebraska Constitution provides that "the legislative authority of the state shall be vested in a Legislature . . . . The people reserve for themselves, however, the . . . power at their own option to approve or reject at the polls any act, item, section, or part of any act passed by the Legislature." (Emphasis added). Section 2 of the same Article states that the "first power reserved by the people is the initiative." Article III, Section 3, provides that the "second power reserved is the referendum which may be invoked, by petition, against any act or part of an act of the Legislature." (Emphasis added). The remainder of Section 3 sets out petition requirements and referendum procedure.

Pursuant to Article III, Section 4, of the Nebraska Constitution, the Legislature has enacted Neb. Rev. Stat. §§ 32-702 to 32-713.02 (Reissue 1988) in order to facilitate operation of the above initiative and referendum provisions. These statutes address petition format, circulation, and filing, as well as election procedures.

The constitutional and statutory provisions discussed above clearly limit invocation of the referendum to "the people" by petition. Because referendum power is restricted in this way, the Legislature is without authority to refer laws to the people. It is widely held that the referendum involves the exercise of legislative power reserved to the people by the state constitution. State ex rel. Boyer v. Grady, 201 Neb. 360, 269 N.W.2d 73 (1978); Lawrence v. Beermann, 192 Neb. 507, 222 N.W.2d 809 (1974); State ex rel. Morris v. Marsh, 183 Neb. 521, 162 N.W.2d 262 (1968); Klosterman v. Marsh, 180 Neb. 506, 143 N.W.2d 744 (1966). See also Opinion of the Attorney General, No. 222 (Mar. 17, 1982); Opinion of the Attorney General, No. 215 (Feb. 5, 1980).

Our conclusion that the Legislature does not have constitutional or statutory authority to invoke a referendum is consistent with prior opinions of this office. See Opinion of the Attorney General, No. 247 (Mar. 10, 1980) (referendum may be initiated only by the people); Opinion of the Attorney General, No. 46 (Apr. 26, 1965) (Legislature may not refer laws to the people).

In response to your question involving the validity of results received in a referendum election not constitutionally or statutorily authorized, an election held without affirmative constitutional or statutory authority is a nullity, Thompson v. James, 125 Neb. 350, 250 N.W. 237 (1933), making the ensuing results void.

Sincerely,
DON STENBERG

Attorney General

AM3712

1. Insert the following new sections:

"Section 1. That section 79-3819, Revised Statutes Supplement, 1991, as amended by section 205, Legislative Bill 1063, Ninety-second Legislature, Second Session, 1992, be amended to read as follows:

79-3819. A district may exceed its applicable allowable growth rate by a specific dollar amount in the situations described in this section.

(1) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that a new program is required by state or federal law or an existing program mandated by state or federal law has been expanded as a result of changes in such state or federal law. For purposes of this subsection, a final order of a court from which no appeal is taken which requires reimbursement by a district of property taxes to a taxpayer shall be considered a new program required by state or federal law but shall not be included as part of the general fund budget of expenditures for purposes of section 79-3814.

(2) The district projects an increase in formula students in the district over the current school year greater than twenty-five students or greater than those listed in the schedule provided in this subsection, whichever is less. Districts shall project increases in formula students on forms prescribed by the department. The state board shall approve, deny, or modify the projected increases.

Average daily membership of district	Projected increase of formula student by percentage
0 - 50	10
50.01 - 250	5

The department shall compute the district's estimated allowable budget per pupil using the budgeted general fund expenditures found on the budget statement for the current school year divided by the number of formula students in the current school year and multiplied by the district's applicable allowable growth rate. The resulting allowable budget per pupil shall be multiplied by the projected formula students to arrive at the estimated budget needs for the ensuing year. The department shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures for the ensuing school year by the amount necessary to fund the estimated budget needs of the district as computed pursuant to this subsection. On or before July 1 of each year, the department shall make needed revisions in the applicable allowable growth rate of districts which have been allowed additional growth pursuant to this subsection to reflect the actual formula students of such district and shall certify such revisions to each district.

(3) Construction, expansion, or alteration of district buildings will cause an increase in building operation and maintenance costs of at least five percent. The department shall document the projected increase in building operation and maintenance costs and may allow a district to exceed its applicable allowable growth percentage by the amount necessary to fund such increased costs. The department shall compute the actual increased costs for the school year and shall, if needed, modify the district's applicable allowable growth rate for the ensuing school year.

(4) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that as a result of an order entered into by the Commission of Industrial Relations pursuant to section 48-818 establishing rates of pay, benefits, and other terms and conditions of employment, the district will exceed its applicable growth rate. The department shall compute the amount by which the increase in employee costs exceeds the district's applicable allowable growth rate and shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures by such amount.

(5) A district demonstrates to the satisfaction of the state board that it will exceed its allowable growth rate as a result of a contested, but settled, contract dispute, claim, or breach or uninsured risk or as a result of any final judgment of any court of competent jurisdiction, requiring or obligating the district to pay such judgment. The department shall compute the amount by which the increased cost of the settlement or judgment exceeds the district's applicable allowable growth rate and shall allow the district to increase its general fund budget of expenditures by such amount.

Such attorney shall be empowered to make independent investigations and to cause witnesses to appear and testify on matters pertinent to the welfare of the children. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

(2) Following entry of any decree, the court having jurisdiction over the minor children of the parties may at any time appoint an attorney, as friend of the court, to initiate contempt proceedings for failure of any party to comply with an order of the court directing such party to pay temporary or permanent child support. The county attorney or authorized attorney may be appointed by the court for the purposes provided in this section.

~~(2)~~ (3) The clerk of each district court shall maintain child support orders and delinquency records by the sums due to the court-ordered payee, except as provided in section 43-512.07, in each case docketed in which child support is fixed by order of the court. For support orders in all cases issued before September 6, 1991, and for support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, in cases in which no party has applied for services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, each month the clerk shall certify all cases in which the court-ordered child support or spousal support is delinquent in an amount equal to the support due and payable for a one-month period of time to the judge presiding over domestic relations cases and to the county attorney or authorized attorney. A rebuttable presumption of contempt shall be established if a prima facie showing is made that the court-ordered child or spousal support is delinquent. In cases in which one of the parties receives services under Title IV-D of the Social Security Act, as amended, the clerk shall certify all support orders issued or modified on or after September 6, 1991, to the county attorney or authorized attorney.

In each case certified, income withholding shall be implemented pursuant to the Income Withholding for Child Support Act. If income withholding is not feasible and no other action is pending for the collection of support payments, the court shall appoint an attorney to commence contempt of court proceedings. If the county attorney or authorized attorney consents, he or she may be appointed for such purpose. The contempt proceeding shall be instituted within ten days following appointment, and the case shall be diligently prosecuted to completion. The court shall by order fix the fee, including disbursements, for such attorney, which amount shall be taxed as costs and paid by the parties as ordered. Any fees allowed for the services of any county attorney or authorized attorney shall be paid to the Department of Social Services when there is an assignment of support to the department pursuant to section 43-512.07 or when an application for child support services is on file with a county attorney or authorized attorney. If the court finds the party responsible is indigent, the court may order the county to pay the costs.

~~(3)~~ (4) If, at the hearing, the person owing child or spousal support is called for examination as an adverse party and such person refuses to answer upon the ground that his or her testimony may be incriminating, the court may, upon the motion of the county attorney or authorized attorney, require the person to answer and produce the evidence. In such a case the evidence produced shall not be admissible in any criminal case against such person nor shall any evidence obtained because of the knowledge gained by such evidence be so admissible.

~~(4)~~ (5) The court may order access to all revenue information maintained by the Department of Revenue or other agencies concerning the income of persons liable or who pursuant to this section and sections 42-358.08 and 42-821 may be found liable to pay child or spousal support payments.

MOTION - Overrule Agenda

Mr. Hall moved to overrule the Speaker's agenda so that Item 14, i.e. motion to reconsider the advancement of LB 72 be considered ahead of Item 10, i.e. LB 958.

Sec. 13. The Legislature finds and declares that the income generated by campaign committees often exceeds the income generated by many of Nebraska's small businesses. Yet campaign committees, unlike businesses, are exempt from federal and state income tax.

The Legislature further finds and declares that campaigning has become a full-fledged, profitable industry, that campaign committee income is a viable tax base, and that campaign committee income should be taxed at a rate approximately equal to the federal or state income tax burden shouldered by small businesses in the state, with an amount exempted from such income tax so as to allow sufficient funds to further the campaign committee's purposes.

Sec. 14. For purposes of the Campaign Committee Income Tax Act, the definitions found in sections 49-1404 to 49-1444 and sections 15 to 17 of this act shall be used.

Sec. 15.
